Bread Riots Prediction for Germans Soon

[BY CABLE—EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH.]

LONDON, Sept. 11.—Bread riots are the next great menace in Germany—an explosion that will be felt in America and the rest of the world.

That is the gloomy forecast made by Frank A. Vanderlip, famous American banker and student of economics. Vanderlip is on his way home after a five months' tour of Germany, France, Italy, Switzerland, Hungary, Austria, Roumania and Czecho-Slovakia, during which he traveled by an automobile in order to reach rural villages as well as the big cities.

"I fear serious trouble in Germany," Vanderlip said. "Before long you may see some recovery in the price of the German mark and people will say the trouble is all over, but don't be fooled by this false normalcy.

"Next winter, when coal is scarce and food is dear, there will be critical times in Germany. The danger will be from bread riots. Sixty-five millions of Germans will not take their troubles as quietly as the Austrians have done.

MONARCHICAL COUP

"However, I do not look for any attempt at a monarchical coup. The monarchists are too clever for that. They know if they seized power now they would be grabbing a falling market; they could not bring about cheaper food and greater production and they would be cursed for every ailment existing."

Vanderlip emphasized that his tour of Europe was not as an official or unofficial observer for the United States government, but merely a tour of personal study.

"People call me a pessimist about Europe," he said. "The plain truth is that it is very easy to be an optimist if one stays in America and very hard not to be a pessimist if one comes over and studies Europe.

"All over Europe I found the plain peasant farmers — sick of war, and yet fearing it; all hungry for peace and yet feeling that they haven't got it on any secure terms.

"Every time you turn around you find the situation full of vicious circles. Take the matter of the

[EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH.]

BEND (Ind.) Sept. 11.—Prof. J. F. Tiernan, husband of witness in the paternity case against Harry Poulin, from the case shortly after noon today. The announcement withdrawal of the Notre Dame professor was made by Mrs. Tiernan called the South Bend Tribune on the telephone and said:

"Mr. Tiernan requested me to tell you that he has withdrawn from the case entirely."

"What has happened to cause Prof. Tiernan to retire?" she was asked.

"I do not know," she replied. "He was suddenly called away from home and as he was leaving he made the request which I have transmitted to you. That is all I know."

Mrs. Tiernan in an interview at her home following the announcement of her husband's withdrawal from the case, made it emphatic that she was still in the fight to the end.

"I have no idea what induced my husband to change his plans," she said, "but you may rest assured that I am going through with this case even if I have to fight alone."

Floyd Jessup, Prosecuting Attorney, is out of the city and will not know of Prof. Tiernan's action until he returns tomorrow.

STATEMENT BY TIERNAN

Prof. Tiernan issued a statement that his withdrawal from the case was due to his feeling that the issue was now solely between Mrs. Tiernan and Poulin, and that with the recovery of his wife she was now able to go through with the prosecution unaided by him. Up to this time he had issued all statements in behalf of his wife, he said, because she was unable to look after her interests.

He was also influenced in his action, he said, because of his two little daughters and his other relatives whom he desired to protect from the morbid public at this trial. He will appear only as a spectator. He further declared that at the conclusion of the affair he and Mrs. Tiernan would separate, she going to her relatives and giving into his custody his two children, which would be placed in a Roman Catholic school for girls. Mrs. Tiernan will probably keep the repudiated child.

BULLET IN BRAIN MAY BE MURDER

Police Change Theory of Suicide on Finding Cartridges

A revolver containing three discharged cartridges found in Elysian Park near the body of a man who had been shot through the brain late last night started the Lincoln Heights police on an investigation of what may be a murder.

The dead man, discovered by two small boys, could not be identified by the police last night. The body was removed to the Cresse undertaking establishment where a search of the clothing failed to disclose any clew to assist in identification.

Police detectives working on the case at first believed the unidentified man had committed suicide, but when the revolver was examined they discovered that three shots had been fired. The mark of only one bullet was found in the body. It had pierced the brain through the right temple. The bullet hole, the police say, was powder-marked.

Nightwatchmen in the park notified the police after the body had been found that three shots were heard in the park about 8 p.m., two hours before the body was discovered. At the time an investigation was made but nothing could be found. When the body was discovered police surgeons who were called declared that the man had been dead for about two hours. Efforts will be made today to arce the revolver in the pawnshops and second hand stores.

Deputy Coroner McDonald, who examined the body, stated the man was about 35 years of age, five feet, ten inches in height, and weighed about 155 pounds. He was dressed in a neat dark suit and wore a straw hat.

Labor Trouble Grips Ireland; Mails Halted

[BY CABLE—EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH.]

Communication between twenty-six counties has been stopped by the walkout of the postoffice employees, and the building trades in the city of Dubin are seriously affected by the strike of about 2000 laborers with the likelihood of skilled workers following. Labor is generally restless and should the strikes spread the situation created might have grave political consequences.

All postal, telegraph and telephone services are closed to the public although a few employees who remain at their tasks are capable of caring for government business. An official statement announces that one office in the capital will continue to receive mail, but the people are urged to mail only urgent letters. The man in the street cannot buy stamps.

Mrs. Harding Holding Own, Doctors State

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE.]

WASHINGTON, Sept. 12.—At 4 o'clock this morning there had been no word from the White House to indicate any change in the improved condition of Mrs. Harding's illness noted in the last official bulletin issued at 7:30 last night.

WASHINGTON, Sept. 11.—Mrs. Harding was said to be getting along nicely by Dr. Carl Sawyer, son of Brig.-Gen. Sawyer, at 10:05 o'clock tonight. Her improvement is continuing, he said to newspaper men as he entered an automobile for a ride with Mrs. Sawyer, and Chairman Lasker of the Shipping Board.

It was learned that President Harding retired at 9:30 o'clock tonight. The President, he added, was noticeably relieved by the change in Mrs. Harding's condition last night and today.

Mrs. Harding's condition during the morning was such that the physicians in attendance were able one by one to get away for exercise in the form of a walk or automobile ride. Late in the day a score of photographers who had waited patiently near the entrance to the executive offices in the hopes they would be able to take group pictures of all the physicians, were rewarded. The entire staff came out and posed, while cameras clicked and motion-picture machines were set going.

Newspaper men took advantage of the opportunity to make inquiries as to Mrs. Harding's condition. Acting as spokesman, Dr. Sawyer said the greatest concern of the attending staff had been that they were faced with the condition of one kidney "completely tied up" and the other seriously affected by inflammation. Draining by surgical means had been contemplated he added, "if the natural channel had continued to remain blocked." Naturally, the physicians, Dr. Sawyer continued, were relieved to find that the kidneys today were beginning to function partially.

RELAPSE POSSIBLE

Dr. Sawyer, during his conversation with newspaper men, said that while conditions were decidedly favorable, there was no discounting the possibility of a reverse in Mrs. Harding's condition. The resistance of the patient, he added, was slightly overbalancing the toxic condition at present, resulting in noticeable improvement in her condition. This relation, it was said, might be disturbed, with a relapse resulting, although the physicians were hopeful they would be successful without resorting to surgery, in promoting complete recovery.

Several official callers at the White House today remarked on the marked effect on President Harding of the continued optimistic reports from the physicians attending his wife. The double strain of governmental responsibility and the condition of Mrs. Harding had begun to show in his physical appearance yesterday, but today the President was alert and smiling once more.

Since last Friday Mr. Harding has spent the majority of his waking hours sitting in a chair at the door of his wife's bedroom.

The President's vigil was often shared by Laddie Boy, his pet Airedale, several intimate friends reporting that they had come upon the two daily, the Airedale with his head on his master's knee or half sitting at his feet as they both watched the closed door behind which the fight for life was in progress.

MAY RETURN HOME

Dr. Charles Mayo, Rochester (Minn.) specialist, who was called into consultation, particularly on the surgical phases of the case, made no comment to newspaper men aside from the statement that he hoped to be able to start for home "any time now." He indicated, however, that he would remain at the White House tomorrow and longer if it was deemed advisable.

Dr. John Finney of Baltimore, who has participated in the consultations, was not at the White House today. It was regarded as a favorable sign by those watching the case that he did not consider it necessary to remain here.

During a brief talk with newspaper men, Dr. George T. Harding, Jr., of Columbus, O., a brother of the President, declared Mrs. Harding not only was able to take nourishment, but for the first time since her illness reached the critical stage she had asked for it—an encouraging sign, he said, adding that the patient was cheerful and her voice considerably stronger.

DYNAMITE BLASTS WAY TO ENTOMBED MINERS

Rescuers Work Feverishly to Save Comrades; Jackson Refuses to Believe Men Are Dead

BY BURTON L. SMITH,
"Times" Staff Representative

JACKSON, Sept. 11.—Rescue workers at the Argonaut mine have ceased digging in and are now blasting through. Dynamite has been substituted for pick and shovel. Thirty-nine hundred feet below the surface of the earth great blasts of explosives are wrecking the 137 feet of solid rock that stand between forty-seven entombed miners and their freedom.

Early this morning Jackson was electrified with the report that more signals had been heard from the deep levels of the Argonaut. The news put new life into the men who went down on the 7 o'clock shift and made them work with feverish haste to reach the spot where their comrades are held prisoners.

Before the next shift went on at 1 o'clock, it was said by officials at the mine that the noises heard were not signals, but falling timbers crashing to the ground in the lower drifts of the mine.

Dr. L. H. Duschak, expert of the State Industrial Accident Commission, is sure that fire is still burning in some of the lower levels and that the blaze has caused the timbers to fall. He said that the air reaching the 2500-foot level bears signs of being heavily laden with carbon monoxide.

If other air shafts have not carried off this poison gas, the men entombed have been dead since a few hours after the fire started.

Jackson refused to be discouraged by all these rumors and deductions, and since Saturday has continued to prepare for the rescue of most of the men. It is the general belief that most of them are still alive and even if the most pessimistic theories prove to be facts and the rescue workers do not reach the lower shafts of the Argonaut until Friday, it is believed the men will be found alive.

On the 3600-foot level, twenty feet of mud and muck has been removed since yesterday. There still remains ninety-nine feet of earth to be removed and then the men will start to blast their way through ninety-nine feet of rock. Both crews of men are exerting almost superhuman efforts and it is

BRITON DEFENDS AMERICA

Utterances of Kipling Impugning False Motives to America Challenged by Visitor

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE.]

NEW YORK, Sept. 11.—Harold Spender, British journalist, formerly connected with the Westminster Gazette, speaking at a luncheon given today at the Lawyers' Club to eight delegates of the Sulgrave Institution, who have come to this country to present statues of Pitt, Burke and Bryce, challenged the arraignment of America made by Rudyard Kipling in articles printed in the New York World and other newspapers.

Kipling, in an interview, charged that the United States had come into the war more than two years too late, that the United States came in because of gold; that the real America died in 1860; and that although, "America has our gold, England has saved her soul."

"Contrary to Mr. Kipling's charges, you saved us in the war," said Mr. Spender. "We saved France, we saved Belgium, then you saved us.

"I am sorry to see that Mr. Kipling has exploded a thunderbolt. But in England we all know Kipling; we hope you know him over here. I note that Senator Borah has answered him, so it is thunder against thunder and lightning against lightning.

"America did not come into the war for gold, regardless of Kipling's statement, although your Ambassador told us you did. We have learned not to believe ambassadors.

The delegates from the Sulgrave institution are to unveil in Pittsburgh on the 14th inst., a statue of William Pitt, for whom the city is named.

On October 1 they will present statues of Edmund Burke, the great orator, and late Viscount James Bryce, to Washington. The purpose of the institution, the delegates say, is the promotion of good will between England and America through "imaginative methods" and to this end they have restored the ancestral home of Washington

FOURTEEN NEGROES DROWNED

Motor Truck Filled With Baseball Fans Plunges Through Bridge

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE.]

HOMERVILLE (Ga.) Sept. 11. Eighteen negroes are believed to have been drowned today when a motor truck filled with fans en route to a baseball game plunged through a bridge. Fourteen bodies had been recovered tonight.

When the truck crashed through the bridge the driver was thrown backward with such force his neck was broken. The other occupants were crowded in so closely only a few were able to extricate themselves and swim to the banks.

Only four of the twenty-two passengers said to have been crowded into the truck are believed to have escaped. Few details of the accident were available tonight because of the difficulty of communication. Reports agreed, however, that a wooden bridge over the Satilla River gave way under the heavily loaded truck, throwing the occupants into the water.

EFFORT TO HAVE WRIT DISMISSED IS UNAVAILING

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE.]

CHICAGO, Sept. 11.—The temporary restraining order granted the government September 1 against the striking railroad shop crafts and their leaders tonight was continued in effect for not to exceed ten days. The original order would have expired at midnight.

Federal Judge Wilkerson ordered the continuance of the government's motion at the close of the first day's hearing on the petition of the Attorney-General for a temporary injunction to replace. The continuance, the court stipulated, will terminate upon the decision in the injunction hearing.

Federal Judge Wilkerson ordered the continuance of the government's motion at the close of the first day's hearing on the petition of the Attorney-General for a temporary injunction to replace. The continuance, the court stipulated, will terminate upon the decision in the injunction hearing.

As a result of the continuance the injunction hearing will be delayed tomorrow morning, while attorneys for B. M. Jewell, president, and John Scott, secretary-treasurer of the Federated Shop-crafts, argue for a modification of its drastic restrictions. Don R. Richberg, representing the strike leaders, served notice for counsel-general that he would move for some modifications when court convenes tomorrow.

LOSE FIRST BATTLE

Jewell and Scott were the only two of the more than 240 strike leaders and 300,000 strikers affected by the restraining order, who were represented in court by counsel today.

They lost the first battle when the court denied their motion that the government's petition be dismissed.

"I am not prepared at this time to decide that the bill fails to set up any grounds for relief," said Judge Wilkerson, and ordered Blackburn Esterline, assistant to the Solicitor-General, to proceed with the presentation of the government's case.

In the argument over the continuance of the restraining order, however, the court pointed out the difference between the charges of "unlawful combination" and "lawful combination" to do "unlawful acts" and indicated that if the defense can show only the latter is charged in the bill, some modification of the present order might be made.

The government today read into the record a list of nearly twenty-five murders growing out of the rail strike and literally hundreds of acts of sabotage, assault, dynamiting, whipping, derailment of trains, burning of bridges, rioting, destruction of property and interference with trains in interstate traffic.

HOLDS LIST IMPROPER

The defense protested that the list, compiled by the Department of Justice and sworn to by C. J. McGuire, attorney for the department, was improper as evidence, but it was admitted for the time being, on the understanding that the government would produce other facts in its support. Judge Wilkerson admitted a certificate from Postmaster Gen. Work showing that 953 mail trains traveling over tracks aggregating 88,913 miles have been withdrawn on account of the strike and that regularity of the mails has been seriously hampered. Likewise he admitted a report from the director of agriculture of California showing the falling off in fruit shipments during the month of July because of the railroad tieup, the need of cars to move the crops and a petition of California fruit growers to the Interstate Commerce Commission setting forth their need for cars.

Atty.-Gen. Daughetry, who obtained the original order and is in charge of the government's fight for an injunction to replace it, was supported today by one of the heaviest batteries of legal talent the government has ever assembled in a Chicago court.

Besides Mr. Esterline, he is assisted by J. W. H. Crims, Assistant

GLOATS OVER COAL STRIKE

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE.]

ATLANTIC CITY (N. J.) Sept. 11.—After reviewing the major strikes in which union members of the American Federation of Labor have engaged during the last year, President Samuel Gompers and the executive council of the federation, in annual conference here today, sent a message to John L. Lewis, president of the United Mine Workers of America, declaring that the advantageous settlement of the miners' strike marks the turning of the tide that will usher in the fulfillment of labor's hope and aspirations.

The message telegraphed to Mr. Lewis at Indianapolis and Wilkes-barre said:

"The executive council of the American Federation of Labor extends to you and to all officers and members of the United Mine Workers of America sincere congratulations upon the successful resistance against the vicious attempt that has been made to deprive the mine workers of the gains and rewards of years of collective struggle.

POWER OF UNITED ACTION

"The victory of the miners in both the bituminous and anthracite coal fields is a splendid achievement and unquestionably will demonstrate the power and beneficent influence of united action against the concerted movement of high finance whose aim is the suppression and depression of the workers, the wealth producers of our republic.

"The achievement of the United Mine Workers will be an inspiration to all wage earners for greater activity, unity and solidarity to protect and promote the rights and interests and make for progress, welfare and freedom of all the workers and the people of America."

Asserting that "the meetings of the executive council promise to be of great significance to the general labor movement and to all elements in our industrial, financial, educational and political life," the delegates today deferred until a future session consideration of the shopmen's strike.

"While this strike is considered of the greatest importance, further consideration was postponed to await the outcome of the legal contest progressing in Judge Wilkerson's court in Chicago," said the statement of the day's proceedings.

The council then sets forth that it is the "firm belief of organized labor that irresponsible persons and hirelings of interests hostile to organized labor are, and have been, setting influences at work that would enable the financial and industrial interests to blacken the

FOUR SWIM IN BLAZING OIL; SAVED

[EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH.]

NEW YORK, Sept. 11.—Prof. Edward Kemmerer of Princeton University, arriving here today on the Grace liner Santa Teresa, related his experiences and those of his wife and their two children, Ruth, aged 12 years, and Donald, aged 15 years, which included survival of an explosion of thousands of gallons of gasoline which tore a vessel to pieces in the Parana River, scattering blazing oil on the water for many yards about the burning ship; a fight with passengers and crew to gain the fire-swept deck, and then a daring plunge overboard and a swim under water to escape the fire zone.

Prof. Kemmerer, who has a chair in economics and finance at Princeton, was on a vacation trip to South America with his family. One part of their traveling was undertaken on the small Argentinian Villa Franca, an old vessel built in 1876, which was carrying 5000 gallons of gasoline up the Alta Parana River, between Argentine and Paraguay, when the explosion occurred at 2 o'clock on the morning of July 4.

Had it not been that all four were good swimmers, Prof. Kemmerer said today, all would have been lost. As it was, he said, they were the only ones of the thirty-eight first-cabin passengers who got out of the experience alive. Ninety of the passengers and crew were lost. The Villa Franca at the time of the explosion was fortunately but 300 yards off the little German settlement of Hohenau, and there survivors were cared for, most of them being treated for burns.

ARIZONA FACES LIVELY FIGHTS

Primaries on Tuesday Offer Brisk Competition

[EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH.]

PHOENIX, Sept. 11.—Tomorrow will be held the Arizona primary election with about 1200 men and forty-eight women contesting for office. The main interest centers in the fight between the conservative and radical wings of the Democratic party represented by Charles B. Ward and George W. P. Hunt, candidates for the gubernatorial nomination. Both sides claim the nomination. Hunt is expected to take all mining counties and to lose in Phoenix, and in the agricultural sections. Hunt is speaking tonight in Globe and Ward in Phoenix.

A notable attack on Hunt was made today in a circular addressed to the farmers by President F. A. Reid of the Salt River Valley Water Users' Association, himself a Democrat. He charges that Hunt's election would mean withdrawal of millions that have been offered by the State mining companies for construction of the Salt River dams for Development of hydro-electric power and a consequent loss to the local farmers of $1,000,000 a year.

Unexpectedly the mining districts are showing about as many registrations as were known two years ago.

KU KLUX BLAMED

The feminine element is to be considered, as this year 2000 more women are registered than two years ago.

The total registration is 80,791, or 600 more than at the last primary. Maricopa county has 26,500. The State has 450 precincts, some of which are expected to take two days for counting.

On the Democratic side, five of the nominations made at the Tucson convention are being contested, while the Republicans have only one contest, for Secretary of State.

The Republican State Committee today issued a request that Republican voters write in on the ticket the names of James P. Boyle of Douglas for United States Senator, Mrs. H. A. Guild of Phoenix for Representative in Congress and Ed Stephens of Prescott as Tax Commissioner, leaving a vacancy still on the Supreme Court list. Mr. Boyle is an attorney, who has had much to do with placing the constitutional amendments before the primary election. Mrs. Guild now is director of State Child Welfare Work and Mr. Stephens is secretary of the Live-Stock Commission.

The Maricopa county grand jury that investigated the Ku Klux Klan in the early summer again went into session today. There is a report that it is looking into the circumstances attending the failure of several Arizona banks.

Allied debts to us. I am not one of those who have advocated cancellation of those obligations.

"Here begins the vicious circle that makes one almost fear the problem is unsolvable—the Allied nations can only pay us in gold or in goods; they haven't the goods and can't get it; and if they seek to pay us with goods we at once put up a protective tariff wall to shut out these products; if we don't there is danger that our own factories would be closed and our own workmen thrown out of jobs.

"I do not agree with those Americans who say we have no interest in Europe. And I put the economic interest the lowest in the scale. A restored Europe would, of course, buy our surplus cotton and wheat and raw materials and manufactured goods.

"But America has more than a dollar and cent interest in Europe. The greatest loss to us and the world would be of Europe crashed and ceased to be a great intellectual, artistic and scientific center of activity.

"Regardless of this belief," the statement continues, "it is our firm conviction that the commission of crime and wrongdoing should be punished through our criminal process and criminal code and not by the high-handed and unconstitutional injunction method which deprives the citizen of all safeguards that a democratic government has guaranteed its people against unjust charges, unconstitutional trial and excessive punishment."

Plans for labor's educational program for the next year and reports of the disruption by alleged radicals of the American Federation of Labor unions among stenographers and book-keepers, particularly in New York City, are scheduled for tomorrow, according to Matthew Woll, vice-president of the federation.

BOURBON HOPES HIGH IN KANSAS

Democrats of State Waging Strong Fight

Seek to Reduce Republican Congress Majority

Candidate Blames Klan for His Defeat

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE.]

TOPEKA, Sept. 11.—Democrats of Kansas are going into the fall campaign with hopes more firmly founded, they say, than at any time in the past six years. They are putting particular stress on the Congressional campaigns in all the eight Kansas districts in the anticipation that the Kansas Representatives in the lower house of Congress next year no longer will be a solid Republican delegation. There is no election of a United States Senator in Kansas this year. Both Senators—Charles Curtis and Arthur Capper — however, also are Republicans. The last Democratic Governor in Kansas was George H. Hodges, 1913-1915.

In seven of the eight Kansas Congressional districts, the Republican nominees are the incumbents, the one exception being in the Third, where the veteran Congressman, Phil P. Campbell of Pittsburg, was defeated in the primary election, after serving nearly twenty years in Congress. The defeat of Campbell by W. H. Sproul was the outstanding sensation of the Kansas primary election and came as a special blow to Campbell and his friends in view of the eminent position he occupies in the National House as chairman of the powerful Rules Committee and the further fact that Campbell has been prominently mentioned as Republican choice for the speakership at the next session.

TABLES TURNED

This also adds to the irony of the defeat; Sproul, a Sedan lawyer, was the opponent Campbell defeated twenty years ago this summer in a bitter contest for his first nomination, in the Republican district convention — four years before the present direct primary law went into effect.

In view of the bitterness engendered in the primary fight, Democrats of the third are counting a lot of Republican noses among their prospective supporters in the Congressional race, they assert. Authentic reports that the Ku Klux Klan in Southeastern Kansas counties was very largely responsible for Congressman Campbell's defeat, are passed upon gently by Attorney Sproul. "It was the votes of the farmers and laboring men that put me across," is his version.

Intense interest also centers in the Eighth district. Two years ago W. A. Ayers, then the only Democratic Congressman from Kansas, was defeated by Richard E. Bird, by a narrow margin. They again are opponents, each having been nominated without opposition.

The Second District also promises a spectacular combat. William H. Thompson of Kansas City, Kan., former United States Senator from Kansas, has stepped again into the political harness as Democratic nominee against Congressman Edward C. Little. For the nomination, Thompson defeated Barton Needham of Lane, State master of the Kansas Grange, a strong farmer organization.

First District: Congressman Dan R. Anthony, Jr., Leavenworth, Frank Gragg, Republican;e Valley Falls, Democrat.

Sixth District: Congressman Hays B. White, Mankato, Republican; F. W. Boyd, Phillipsburg, Democrat; B. B. Bretthauer, St. Francis, Socialist.

Seventh District: Congressman J. N. Tincher, Medicine Lodge, Republican; A. S. Allphin, Kinsley, Democrat; E. E. Colglazier, Rush Center or H. S. Burscough, Hutchinson, Socialist.

Centenarian, Civil War Veteran, Believes Battlefield Safer

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE.]

OAKLAND, Sept. 11.—Although bruised and disheveled, Raphael Gilardo, who says he is 100 years old, came up smiling last night after being run down by an automobile here.

"First time I've been hurt since the Civil War," said Gilardo, a Union Army veteran. "Battlefields, to my mind, are safer than street crossings. In a battle, you have a chance to get back at a fellow that does something to you, but you can't fight an automobile.

"I can dodge one of them if they give me half a chance, but when two of them get after me I must admit I am not as spry as I used to be."

DYNAMITE AIDS RESCUE WORK

Up until yesterday it was generally conceded that the men working on the 3600-foot level had the best of it, but now odds favor the men working at the lower depth. Since the crew working at 3900 feet have struck the rock face, it is comparatively easy to estimate how far they can advance. Each blast tears away about five feet of rock and the crews can take care of about five blasts in twenty-four hours. This means that approximately five days will be consumed by the men working at the lower level. The hundred feet of earth to be removed by the men at the 3600-foot level still makes their progress a matter of conjecture. If they are fortunate, they have a chance of breaking through before the other gang. If the muck continues to retard their work the men blasting through the rock will make faster progress.

Elaborate preparations are being made by newspapers and press associations to flash the news of the rescue as soon as it is accomplished. Up at the Kennedy Mine, from whose shafts the rescue parties are working, special telephone and telegraph lines have been installed and night and day watches have been established. Every hour until one of the rescue parties breaks through the wall of stone newspaper men, operators and photographers will be on duty so that no time will be lost in getting the news to the outside world.

The Argonaut is a mile from the business district of Jackson, the road leading to it is hard to travel, so that extra precautions are necessary to handle the news if the big story breaks.

Clarence E. Jarvis, member of the State Board of Control, who came here yesterday, was said to have come as a personal representative of Gov. Stephens. He returned to Sacramento this morning and was said to have gone into a conference with the Governor as to conditions at the mine prior to the catastrophe. A report from the Capitol this afternoon is to the effect that the Governor had made no request for an investigation at this time.

The arrival of Mr. Jarvis in Jackson was the signal for a great deal of political comment. He is a citizen of the town, having been County Assessor, and was the center of a storm some time ago because it was thought the assessment of the Argonaut mining property was too low. He was defeated for re-election and after his retirement from office was employed by the mine to prepare data for an attempt to have the mine's assessment reduced.

It was while working at this task that the Governor gave him the State appointment. Residents of Jackson class Mr. Jarvis as a friend of the mining company and say that in the event he makes an investigation his report may be colored because of his close association with officials of the corporation.

Red Cross workers had an opportunity early this morning to apply their first-aid treatments to Vininzo Gabrini, superintendent of the mine, who went down to the 3600-foot level with the early shift of rescue workers. He was overcome with gas and had to be taken to the top of the shaft. He rallied quickly after the first-aid treatment and shows no bad effects from the experience.

SHOT AS SPEEDER, PHOENIX LAD DIES

[EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH.]

PHOENIX, Sept. 11.—Roy Kelvin, aged 18, of Laveen, died today in a hospital from a bullet wound received last night when he failed to stop a speeding auto at the command of Policeman George Harding. The officer states that he fired at a tire but that the bullet glanced and thus was turned into the body of the driver. A lad who was with Kelvin stated they had had a drink of liquor.

EMBARGO ON FREIGHT TO MOVE COAL TO EAST

[BY A. P. DAY WIRE.]

NEW YORK, Sept. 11.—A sweeping embargo on freight was declared today by most of the eastern railroads that all available engines and cars could be thrown into service to bring anthracite coal into New York. The Erie, Lackawanna, Lehigh Valley and New York Central have ordered practically all freight except foodstuffs from connecting lines from the West held at connection points.

Attorney-General; James A. Fowler, Oliver E. Pagen, government indictment expert, and A. A. McLaughlin, all three special assistants to the Attorney-General; Charles H. Clyne, District Attorney, and C. J. McGuire, attorney. Mr. McLaughlin also represents the Railroad Administration.

SAT AT TABLE

Mr. Richberg, local attorney for Messrs. Jewell and Scott, was assisted by Frank L. Mulholland of Toledo. Two attorneys for the Brotherhood of Locomotive Engineers, Tom Stevenson and Oscar Horne of Cleveland, sat at the defense table, but only as observers.

Elaborate precautions were taken to guard against any untoward incident. Special guards of Department of Justice agents have been detailed to protect the Attorney-General and Judge Wilkerson. Long before court opened, picked agents were stationed at every entrance to the Federal Building, while the rest of the available force was scattered through the courtroom.

Mr. Richberg, in a three-hour argument, attacked the government's bill, declared the acts involved in the calling and prosecution of the strike were entirely lawful; that the injunction was one the court had no power to grant, because it is unconstitutional and violates the Clayton Act; and declared that if the bill is stripped of its conspiracy charges, all that is left to enjoin criminal acts by unknown persons who may or may not be members of the unions.

The bill is based on an assumption that the defendants are under a legal duty to obey the decisions of the United States Railroad Labor Board, he said, and he cited decisions and the law creating the board, as well as statements of the law's authors, Representatives Esch and Senator Cummins, in support of his assertions that no such legal duty exists.

CITES OTHER RULINGS

The Attorney-General, Mr. Richberg declared, has no right to use the power of the government to prevent labor from doing any lawful thing to fight the "open-shop" movement. He cited the decision of the Federal Circuit Court of Appeals here in modifying the drastic provisions of the injunction against the coal miners, issued a few months ago by Judge A. B. Anderson at Indianapolis. From that decision he read the Appellate Court's declaration that either employers or union men have the right of free access and appeal to unemployed men to win employees on the one hand or union adherents on the other, and that employers have the right to appeal to union men to become nonunion, while the unions have an equal right to urge unorganized workers to join their cause.

The government's bill, the defense counsel maintained, seeks to invoke jurisdiction which has been denied the Federal courts and seeks to evade the Clayton Act by maintaining that the purposes of the alleged conspiracy to interfere with interstate traffic are illegitimate and unlawful.

The government itself, he said, comes into court as an employer within the meaning of the Clayton law because the Federal courts are operating railroads under receiverships.

If a conspiracy actually exists, he continued, the government should seek relief through the proper channels in the criminal courts, and he denied the right of government by injunction, to deprive the defendants of the constitutional safeguards they would have under such criminal proceedings.

The government's exhibit on the crimes which it charges are due to the strike and which covers twenty-six printed pages, indicates the nation-wide scope of the outbreaks on which the petition for an injunction is based.

Of murders alone it listed during July and August: In Alabama, one; Arkansas, one; Georgia, one; Illinois, three; Kentucky, one; Missouri, one; Ohio, five; Tennessee, five; Texas, two, and Virginia, two.

SITUATION IN DESERT

A special section was devoted to the California-Arizona desert situation and the marooning of many trains with hundreds of passengers.

Mr. Esterline declined to estimate how long it will take to complete the presentation of the government's case, but indications are that the hearing may last two or three days longer.

I.W.W. RUN STRIKE IN MONTANA MINES

[BY A. P. DAY WIRE.]

BUTTE (Mont.) Sept. 11.—A check-up at the various mines of the district today, showed that about 100 men out of a day shift of 4500 had quit work, presumably as a result of the strike called yesterday by the Butte branch Metal Mine Workers Industrial Union No. 210, I. W. W. Forty men were engaged in picketing on the main avenues to the mines.

No violence of any kind has been reported. The pickets are stationed principally on Anaconda Road, where in 1921 in a clash between mine guards and strike pickets, seventeen pickets were shot, two fatally.

The strike is under the leadership of Ed Hayes, secretary-treasurer of the I. W. W. local, which at a meeting Sunday, passed resolutions demanding wages of $6 a day, a six-hour working day, "better working conditions" and the release of political prisoners.

Hayes, Butte police authorities stated, has participated in labor controversies in Bisbee, Ariz., New Mexico, Los Angeles and Centralia, Wash., and recently was in the coal strike in Wyoming.

Two arrests have been made on disturbance charges, one a picket and the other a miner accosted on his way to work by the picket, a fight resulting.

SOVIETS INSIST ON RECOGNITION

Conference With Japan Held Up for Home Decisions

Russia and Chita Refuse to Act Independently

Mikado Anxious to Deal Only With Chita

[BY CABLE AND ASSOCIATED PRESS.]

CHANGCHUN (Manchuria) Sept. 11.—Delegates representing Japan, the far eastern republic of Chita and the soviet government of Moscow, awaited today word from Tokio after resuming yesterday their conference, interrupted on the 6th inst. by a deadlock over whether the negotiations regarding Siberia should be predicated on a more complete recognition of the Russian soviet.

It is expected here that the conference will continue, with the possibility that Japan may yield to the extent of permitting Moscow to join Chita in dealing with Siberia. Japan, however, is considered likely to exclude European Russia from the topics of discussion.

Adolph Joffe, representing Moscow, announced that he had received yesterday a communication from the soviet government, instructing him to refuse to enter into any agreement in which Moscow and Chita were treated separately.

Jacoby Jansen, delegate of Chita, added that his government wanted full harmony with Moscow and that if Japan persisted in her attitude, the negotiations would be terminated.

CRITICISES JAPAN

"Japan clearly indicated," said Jansen, "that she wants this conference to be a continuation of the Dairen conference, which would give Japan preferential rights throughout Southern Siberia. The reason for the failure of the Dairen conference was that Japan wanted to take all and give nothing.

"Chita is too weak to conclude agreements without the support of Moscow. Hence the decision of Moscow and Chita to stand firmly against separate negotiations. Unless Japan yields, we will withdraw and return home."

Japan's position is said to be that she has no intention of entering into an agreement which might be construed as recognizing sovietism in advance of other powers.

RUSSIA IGNORED

Matsudaira, head of the Japanese delegation, informed the Russians that Tokio's preliminary instructions had been to deal only with Chita. He explained that Japan desired to conclude the agreements proposed at the Dairen conference, which ended in failure last April. He said Japan later would consider the question of negotiating with Moscow.

The Moscow and Chita emissaries replied that they had been instructed to act jointly, as it was impossible to segregate Chita from the rest of Russia, but promised to refer Japan's proposals to the government.

Before the conference adjourned temporarily in a split over the scope of the discussions, Japan was requested by the Russians to enter a trade agreement with European Russia, as well as with Siberia.

Matsudaira said the withdrawal of Japanese troops from Siberia necessitated some arrangement with Chita for the protection of Japanese nationals remaining in the evacuated territory.

WEEKS REPLIES

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE.]

WASHINGTON, Sept. 11.—Exception was taken by Secretary Weeks in a formal statement today in criticisms of America's war record made recently by Rudyard Kipling in an interview given to a correspondent of the New York World.

Mr. Kipling was quoted in his interview as declaring America went into the war two years, seven months and four days too late, forced a premature peace and quit the day of the armistice without waiting to see the thing through. The British author also declared:

"They (the Americans) have got the gold of the world, but we (the Allies) have saved our souls," and added, "America—the real America—died in 1860."

Mr. Weeks in his statement said:

"No good purpose can be served by the recent statement of Mr. Rudyard Kipling if he has been correctly quoted, even if it were justified by facts. I have no disposition to enter into a controversy about what the United States did or did not do in the World War, but I cannot understand how a man of Mr. Kipling's learning would permit himself to make a public statement on any subject without first ascertaining the facts or put himself in the position of publicly asserting as a fact something so conclusively refuted by matters of record. WORLD POLICE MEET IN EAST

Chiefs Gather in New York for Conference

Criminal Class, Outgrowth of War, Puzzles

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE.]

NEW YORK, Sept. 11.—Police chiefs from all over the United States, most of the great centers of Europe, and from many countries in South America, met here today with the hope of forming some sort of an international police system.

The idea came from Police Commissioner Enright of New York, and his deputy, Dr. John A. Harriss. This spring they traveled through Europe, met the police leaders there, discussed conditions, studied universal problems, and came to the conclusion that a conference, on a large scale, would go far toward solving the difficulties which have leaped into police work since the war.

Commissioner Enright brought back promises that heads of departments in London, Liverpool, Paris, Brussels, Vienna, Rome and, perhaps, Berlin, would attend.

OUTGROWTH OF WAR

It is the belief of New York's department, according to Deputy Commissioner McKay, in charge of arrangements, that a criminal class, growing directly from the war, has confronted the police in every country. Mr. McKay said it was a sort of "overlapping class" in that the criminals, most of whom begin on a petty scale, travel a great deal, and so are beginning to leave their trails all over the world.

An important feature of the convention will be a discussion of this class. It is hoped that the chiefs will be able to evolve some method which will permit of a universal check in all countries of the activities of the class.

Automobile stealing, a problem which is particularly bothersome to Canadian and American officials, also will be discussed. American chiefs make no secret of their desire, as far as possible, to copy the European idea of national registration for automobiles.

FACTS EXCHANGED

It has been suggested, according to Commissioner Enright, that it might be possible for the chiefs, working together in the larger cities, to produce an international rogue's gallery, which will be invaluable. Fingerprints would be taken and classified, and copies would be exchanged by the heads of departments under the proposed system.

Because of enabling legislation that would be required by different governments, it was pointed out that it would be practically impossible to evolve an official international police, out of the conference. But the plan is to talk over all the situations involved, and then to co-operate in perfecting any plan which is accepted by the men in session.

The conference, held in the Waldorf-Astoria, will continue for a week. Mayor Hylan called the convention to order and Commissioner Enright made the keynote speech.

STATE RECEIVES BIDS FOR PRINTING OFFICE

[BY A. P. DAY WIRE.]

SACRAMENTO, Sept. 11.—A flat bid of $94,800, submitted by Davidson and Nicolsen, contractors of Stockton, Cal., was the lowest of fourteen proposals opened today by the division of architecture, State Department of Public Works, for the building of a new State printing office in this city.

Out of an appropriation of $175,000 to cover the cost of a building and site, $138,000 remains in the fund for the purpose of constructing the building.

Bids will be received and the award of contract will be made within a week, according to State Architect George B. McDougal.

PLAN WAR DIET FOR ALL ITALY

Radical Measures Are Urged by Fascisti to Save Country from Collapse

[BY CABLE—EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH.]

ROME, Sept. 11.—The Fascisti are planning to bring Italy back to wartime rations within four months, the Times correspondent learned at the Fascisti general secretariat in Rome today.

"Earn more, spend less," is the slogan. To do this, besides working harder and increasing production in the mills and factories, the Italians will be called upon to save every cent possible. They will be asked to eat black bread daily and meat only thrice weekly, return to sugar cards, and prohibit the importation of luxuries.

A proviso is being contemplated whereby foreigners will not be affected by the new regulations, leaving them free to get all they desire. The Fascisti declare they freed the Italians from the Socialists and all they desire is to become again intensely patriotic and are now ready to make a sacrifice for the nation's economic reconstruction. The return to war rations will be only the first step in a program to rehabilitate Italian finances. The program includes many other radical reforms, among which is selling out to private interests the railroads, telegraph, telephone and postoffice systems, which are now run by the government with heavy losses.

Thousands of laborers, as well as the bourgeoise and capitalists, continue flocking to the Fascisti colors and are daily fraternizing in the great cause to save the country from economic and political catastrophe.

HEAVY LOSS BY FIRE

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE.]

FRESNO, Sept. 11.—Endangering the lives of nearly a thousand persons, fire of an unknown origin Saturday night and Sunday swept the camp of the Sugar Pine Lumber Company, sixty-five miles from Madera.

The flames were brought under control yesterday morning after raging nineteen hours. Total damage, according to reports received here this morning, will approximate $2,125,000.

Nearly 100 homes were burned in addition to the company's offices, mill, store, schoolhouse and between fifty and sixty acres of timber.

The flames were discovered at 7:30 Saturday night. Rangers and woodsmen from all parts of the district were pressed into service.

Approximately 300 persons have been left homeless by the fire, according to reports. Tents and lean-tos have been erected temporarily to provide shelter for the refugees. The company store has been reopened with stock brought in Sunday afternoon by train.

Superintendent J. P. Hemphill left early this morning for San Francisco where he will immediately confer with the directors of the company regarding rehabilitation of the camp.

When the flames were discovered the majority of the populace of the lumber camp were attending a motion-picture show in the camp. Women and children were forced to flee while their men folks attempted to prevent the flames from devastating the town.

Work at the camp will not be stopped, it was announced today by Thomas Kennedy, personal representative of B. H. Cox, vice-president and general manager. Rebuilding of the camp, it is said, will start at once.

SEATTLE CROWDS WAIT FOR ACCUSED WOMAN

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE.]

SEATTLE, Sept. 11.—Clara Skarin Winborn, charged with the murder of Ferdinand Hochbrun, wealthy Seattle real estate dealer last October 13, arrived here today on the steamship H. F. Alexander from Oakland, Cal., where she was arrested last week.

A huge crowd gathered at the pier as the steamer came in. Mrs. Winborn, composed and smiling, was taken to an automobile and whisked to the office of Prosecuting Attorney Malcolm Douglas, where Mr. Douglas and Sheriff Matt Starwich expected to go over with the prisoner the confession which she was alleged to have signed in Oakland last week admitting that she killed Hochbrun when he attempted to attack her.

Prosecutor Douglas said that he would move immediately for an early trial of the case.

TO RACE LIGHT IN STEEL TUBE

Mt. Wilson Experiments Are to be Continued

Prof. Michelson is Testing Einstein Theory

Work Will be Proved Up by Next Summer

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE.]

CHICAGO, Sept. 11.—Two shafts of light racing through a steel tube one mile in length and a foot in diameter are the latest test devised for the Einstein theory of relativity by Prof. Albert A. Michelson, noted physicist of the University of Chicago. He has just returned from California, where he conducted extensive experiments at Mt. Wilson Observatory.

Prof. Michelson went to California last spring on the invitation of the Carnegie Institute of Pittsburg, with the object of applying further tests to the Einstein theory, and also to establish the actual velocity of light.

PERFECTS EQUIPMENT

While there he advised and perfected equipment for both classes of experiments. The phase of the Einstein theory challenged by Prof. Michelson pertains to the effect of the rotation of the earth on a beam of light.

Einstein has contended that the rays of light from a distant star undergo a noticeable deflation as they pass near the sun. To test his theory Prof. Michelson, who startled the scientific world in 1920 by his announcement that he had obtained the actual dimensions of Betelgeuse and found its volume to be twenty-seven times greater than the sun today, told of his more recent experiments with the Einstein doctrine.

At each of the four corners of a square, he said, measuring a quarter of a mile on each side, a mirror was placed. From one corner a beam of light was dispatched around one way—in the direction of the rotation of the earth. Simultaneously another beam was dispatched around the other way—opposite to the direction of the earth's rotation.

RETURNING BEAMS

By use of a delicate instrument Prof. Michelson was able to identify the beams upon their return. If they returned at exactly the same instant, the Einstein theory would have been repudiated. If they returned simultaneously, he said, it would have established that the rotation of the earth exercises no control over the beam of light.

"We must succeed this summer in our experiments," he said. Atmospheric interference was all that prevented the complete success of our work. Temperature variations in the mountains and valleys out there militated against us.

"We proved our principle was right, and now we plan to eliminate atmospheric interference by construction of a steel tube, one foot in diameter, around the entire one-mile course. By making this a vacuum all such action is eliminated. We expect to quickly complete our experiment next summer."

KING FOR REVISION OF INCOME TAXES

PERSONAL AND CORPORATION REVISION DESIRED BY UTAH SENATOR

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE.]

WASHINGTON, Sept. 11.—Revision of both the personal and corporation income taxes is proposed in bills introduced today by Senator King, Democrat, Utah. In lieu of the present flat tax of 12½ per cent, corporations would pay 10 per cent of their net income up to $10,000,000 and 1 per cent additional on each additional $1,000,000 up to $20,000,000, and 20 per cent on all over that amount.

The maximum personal income tax would be 40 per cent of all over $70,000 instead of the present 50 per cent. The tax would begin at 2 per cent of the first $2000, and increase gradually up to 40 per cent.

Another bill offered by Senator King would require government publication of an annual income tax directory, containing the names and addresses of taxpayers and the amounts paid.

CAPTAINS IN ARMY MAY LOSE PLACES

FAILURE OF REORGANIZATION ACT TO HANDLE MATTER SEEN

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE.]

WASHINGTON, Sept. 11.—Failure of the Army Reorganization Act of 1910 to stipulate that the names of officers on the "single list" be arranged according to grade, as well as to length of service, may cause more than 700 officers to lose their commissions, according to letters from some of them made public yesterday by Acting Chairman McKenzie of the House Military Committee.

The officers affected are nearly all captains. They were among those picked from the emergency ranks by the Pershing board to remain in the Regular Army. The result of the law as it stands, the letters state, was that mixed in with the names of captains in the single list appear those of lieutenants, and the forced reduction does not affect the latter.

Captains further down must be discharged, under provision of the last Army Appropriation Bill. Some members of both House and Senate Military Committees believe that remedial legislation is necessary, but doubt was expressed as to the possibility of getting action on bills at the present session.

POTASH IMPORT TO BE TAXED

Farm Bureau Representative Voices Protest

Corn Belt Farmer Burdened, He Asserts

[EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH.]

WASHINGTON, Sept. 11.—Duties of 1⅛ cents per pound or the equivalent of $30 per ton on potash are contained in the conference committee traiff bill, it was learned today.

The duty is to remain in effect for a period of three years.

While the action of the conferees was a compromise it is highly distasteful to the agricultural interests which objects to duty on this fertilizer material.

The Senate bill put potash on the free list and the farm leaders had supposed that the conferees would not undertake to restore a duty. Potash is now on the free list, but the House bill proposed graduated duties for a period of five years, commencing with 2½ cents per pound for the first two years, 2 cents per pound for the third year, 1½ cents per pound for the fourht year, 1 cent per pound for the fifth year.

Gray Silver, Washington representative of the American Farm Bureau Federation, said the proposed duty would mean higher price of potash imported from Germany and France and would be a direct burden on the farmers of the country. He said he did not anticipate, however, that it would be possible to make a further fight against the duty.

The duty, it is asserted, will enable the potash producers of Nebraska, Utah and California, whose plants are now shut down entirely, to realize something on their investment.

In commenting on the bill from the standpoint of agriculture, Mr. Silver said that while the wool growers, cattle raisers and growers of fruits and nuts in the Far West are highly pleased over the protection accorded them, the ordinary small farmer is not so well satisfied.

Mr. Silver expressed the opinion that duties on many of the farm products, such as corn, will be of no particular advantage and that advantages occurding to the small farmer would be outweighed by additional costs of manufactured articles.

"The corn belt farmer does not feel especially happy over the bill," said Mr. Silver. "A duty on such things as corn is merely a blind. Of course, the wool growers have obtained more out of the bill than any other class of farmers. The duty on potash will be tax on the consumers wherever potatoes are grown."

Portland cement has been made dutiable in the conference bill. The House bill imposed a duty of 5 cents per 100 pounds. The Senate bill transferred cement to the free list with a retaliatory provision for the imposition of such a duty as might be imposed by the foreign country.

CHINESE GUARD RAILWAY

[BY CABLE—EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH.]

PEKING, Sept. 11.—In further preparations to defend Peking against a Manchurian invasion, Gen. Wu Pei Fu has ordered three divisions and a mixed brigade to assume positions from Tien-tsin to Peking, thus providing 35,000 troops to guard the rail approaches to the capital.

Also Chang Fu Lai, lately commander of operations in Honan, assumes charge of the rapidly increasing force before Shanhaikwan. Wu Pei Fu is preparing to enlarge the present army by ordering one battalion from each of the Chihli divisions, and two companies from each division or brigade of the other provinces under his control, to Loyang. It is understood these will be the nucleus for the formation of additional regiments.

Chang Tso Lin is preparing for a winter campaign, so aptly, Wu Pei Fu is endeavoring to force the hand of the Fengtien militarists. There is possibility of fighting, therefore, before October or November, unless Chang Tso Lin remains outside the wall. Wu Pei Fu is buying surplus United States Army tents and his agents in Peking are offering cash in advance for fifty tanks, either French or Italian, conditional on two months' delivery.

SAFE IS BLOWN OPEN

[EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH.]

FRESNO, Sept. 11.—The safe of the Valley Transit Company in the Union Auto Stage depot at J and Mono streets was blown open this morning and more than $2000 in cash and currency taken by safe crackers who left a similar amount in checks. A number of blanket rolls taken from the check room were used to muffle the explosion, which shattered the interior mechanism of the safe, the explosive having been inserted through the hole left when the combination was hammered off. The doors of the safe swung open when the handles were turned.

New Fashions for Women Ordain Long Skirts and Hair in Coiffure

[EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH.]

CHICAGO, Sept. 11.—Lovely woman has finally broken away from slavish obedience to the dictates of fashion and this season. At least, she will choose her own waist line, her own skirt length and her own sleeves. She may locate the waist line at any point between her neck and her knees and it will be strictly all right, according to the experts attending the autumn convention of the Fashion Art League of America, which opened here today.

Furthermore, knees are to be covered and ears are to be exposed in the forthcoming styles. The reign of the flapper is at an end—that is, the reign of the skirt that was little more than a girdle. In the place of the bobbed hair, skirts to and above the knees and all that, will come a graceful, long-skirts creature, with hair piled high on her head and her ears right out there where everybody may see them.

The woman of fashion this season will bear a striking resemblance to the ostrich, which after hiding its head in the sand, cherishes the illusion that it is hidden from the entire world. The back of her gown, which she cannot see, apparently does not matter. The movement of drapery and adornment is all toward the front, where it disappears into a bow or ornament or folds. Skirts, flat and carelessly drawn smooth, in the back, flare at sides and front.

One gown that attracted much attention, boasted two waist lines—one at the hips and the other two inches higher. Full, flowing sleeves remain in style, but the newest thing is a modified mutton leg, the pattern so dear to the hearts of ladies two generations ago. They are loose under the arms, but wrinkle all the way down to a tight fit at the wrists. Skirts will be longer, but still six to ten inches from the ground.

Brown is the prevailing color and some shade of brown appears in almost all the new things, but beige and sand, spice and leather shades and greens and red are freely used.

WORMS TAKE TO AIR WHEN THIS WORKS

Inventor Produces Live Chicken Feed or Fish Bait by New Contrivance

[EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH.]

GREENWICH (Ct.) Sept. 11.—Peter J. O'Keefe, son of William O'Keefe and chief storekeeper at the naval prison at Portsmouth, N. H., has invented a machine to make angle worms come out of the earth to be eaten by the chickens and has won an automobile for writing a story about his invention.

The device is an electric one and literally shocks the worms out of the ground, making them easy prey for the chickens.

Mr. O'Keefe said today he had tried out his invention. It has two brass rods that are pushed into the earth several feet apart. A wire is attached to each rod which is connected to an ordinary magneto. Then by twisting the handle of the mageto the earth between the rods is shaken and loosened, and the angle worms begin to take to the air in preference to the tingling earth. Chickens are in waiting and the troubles of the worms are over. The device should be of benefit to fisherman who like to fish, but hate to dig bait.

THREE WOUNDED BY BULLETS FROM AUTO

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE.]

SAN FRANCISCO, Sept. 11.—Three men were wounded, one of them perhaps fatally, early today by shots which pedestrians said were fired from a wildly driven automobile containing two men and a woman.

The automobile party first fired on Joseph Kidd when he refused them admittance to his soft-drink parlor, which he was closing up when they approached, according to the police report. He fell to the sidewalk with a flesh wound and the car circled the block, its occupants shooting down Otto Schulz and wounding him in the abdomen as they returned. A few yards farther on Charles Kelly was fired on, receiving the most serious injuries.

The attackers disappeared and the police were unable to find further trace of them.

AGREE TO PLAN ON BONUS BILL

Conferees Report Measure to House Today

Simmons Amendment and Land Features Gone

Seek to Overcome Objection of President

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE.]

WASHINGTON, Sept. 11.—Conferees on the soldiers' bonus bill reached an agreement late today, and it was announced that the measure would be reported tomorrow to the House. It will not be called up there until after the conference report on the tariff bill has been disposed of, which may be on Wednesday or Thursday. After the House acts, the bonus bill will go to the Senate, where also it is to be put behind the tariff.

Four major changes were made in the bill in conference. They were: Elimination of the Simmons amendment authorizing the financing of the bonus out of interest from the foreign debt.

Elimination of the land reclamation feature, which, under the Senate plan, embodied in the Smith-McNary reclamation bill, would have involved an expenditure of $350,000,000.

TIME IS LIMITED

The limiting of the time in which veterans might file applications for a bonus to Jan. 1, 1923.

Acceptance of the House provision fixing the amount to be advanced for farm or home aid to the amount of the adjusted service credit, increased by 25 per cent, in place of the Senate plan of amounts ranging from 100 per cent of the adjusted service credit, if the applications were made in 1923, to 140 per cent if applications were made in 1928 or thereafter.

No important change was made in the adjusted service certificate option with its provisions for loans to veterans by banks in the next three years and for government loans thereafter. The vocational training aid option and the provision for cash payments to veterans whose adjusted service credit would not exceed $50 also were unchanged.

MEET OBJECTIONS

Much of the three hours' session of the conferees was understood to have been devoted to a discussion of whipping the bill into such a shape as would meet the publicly expressed objection of President Harding. It was reported by some of the Republican managers that the measure probably would have a better chance of Presidential approval without the Simmons amendment and the reclamation option and, accordingly, those were voted out.

There still was no official information as to whether Mr. Harding would approve the measure in its present form. Owing to a promised fight on the tariff bill conference report in the Senate it may be ten days or two weeks before the bonus measure reaches the White House.

Two of the ten conferees—Senator Smoot, (Republican) Utah, and Representative Garner, (Democrat) Texas, voted against the bonus as finally perfected, while one manager, Representative Coler, (Democrat, Mississippi, was absent. Those supporting the measure were: Senators McCumber, North Dakota and McLean, Connecticut, (Republicans) and Simmons, North Carolina, and Walsh, Massachusetts, (Democrats) and Representatives Fordney, Michigan, Green, Iowa and Longworth, Ohio, (Repblicans.)

Los Trabajos de Desenterramiento

JACKSON (Cal.) septiembre 11. Unos cuantos días más, y las brigadas perforadoras estarán trabajando en ambos caídos de la mina Kennedy, volando la roca que los tiene separados de los 47 compañeros aprisionados hace quince días en la mina Argonaut. Se avanzó más hoy en el piso de 3600 pies que lo que se había hecho en los demás días, desde que los Hunkies empezaron a trabajar con pico, pala y carretillas para escombrar el lodo.

El pueble que salió hoy en la tarde informó que había avanzado cincuenta pies. En las veinticuatro horas anteriores al momento en que dicho pueble entró a trabajar, se había andado una distancia de 55 pies. Unas cuantas sesiones más de trabajo en el lodo, y empezará el barreno en roca dura y los explosivos; unas cuantas horas más de despejar lodo, y unos cuantos días más de perforación, y aparecerán los hombres—vivos o muertos. Las cuadrillas de cuele en el piso de 3900 pies, que comenzaron a trabajar anoche, no habían avanzado sino cinco de los 141.5 pies de roca, hasta hoy temprano, y se espera colar diez pies o más para esta noche.

RENEW SEARCH FOR SHELL-SHOCKED MAN

[EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH.]

NEW YORK, Sept. 11.—The first clew in six months to Wallace McCutcheon, actor and dancer, later major in the American Army, who was shell-shocked and severely wounded in the fighting in France and disappeared, heavily armed, from the Lambs Club here September, 1921, today reached his brother, Ross McCutcheon. The latter immediately called upon Capt. Ayres, in charge of the police police bureau of missing persons, to report that a friend had telephoned him saying Wallace was in a sanatorium in Washington D. C. Capt. Ayres requested the police of the capital to search all sanatorium there for him.

The last previous news of Maj. McCutcheon's wanderings came from Buffalo on March 5. Then someone telephoned his brother here that Wallace had been seen trying to cross a street in that city, but had turned back and for a time leaned against a building in evident bewilderment. A search was instituted but no further trace was found.

Pearl White, the moving-picture actress divorced Maj. McCutcheon on July 5, 1921, or about two months before he disappeared. It was thought for a time that his disappearance was in some way connected with this event. But it now is believed to be due to the injuries he received in the World War.

DAHLIA SHOW TO OPEN

Third Annual Display at the Ambassador Hotel

Botanists and artists will rub elbows with amateur dahlia growers and the plain "garden variety" of flower lovers when the third annual dahlia show opens Thursday at the Ambassador Hotel, judging from inquiries that have been directed at Dr. G. S. Archer of Alhambra, president of the Dahlia Society of Southern California, under whose auspices the show is being given.

Opening Thursday the show will continue through Friday and Saturday. State-wide interest is being manifested in the event because of the fact that San Francisco and several other northern cities are sending exhibits to compete with the dahlias grown in the Southland.

We Prophesy Great Things For Sept. 24th

THUG SLEW SCHWARZ, IS NEW THEORY

Police Unable to Find Any Motive for Murder of Piano Maker

Failing to find a motive for murder, Detective Sergeants Craig and Schofield yesterday announced that they believed that a footpad was the most likely assailant of Reinhold Schwarz, aged 49 years, of 1033 Santee street, who was mysteriously shot and killed late Sunday night.

Though believing this theory probable, the detectives continued their investigation of the past life of Schwarz in an effort to learn if the man had any enemies.

From Carl Kohl of 425 West Commonwealth street, Fullerton who, observing the accounts of the tragedy in The Times, visited Central Police Station, the detectives learned that Schwarz was a native of Germany and has a sister and other relatives living there. Kohl, who declared he knew Schwarz in Germany, stated that to his knowledge the dead man leaves no relatives living here.

"I saw Schwarz about a week ago," he told Detective Craig. "We were good friends. I don't believe he had any enemies here who would want to kill him."

In arriving at the theory that Schwarz was shot by a footpad who had attempted to hold him up the detectives first established the fact that Schwarz was shot in front of a dark doorway at 925 Santee street. The doorway was deep enough and dark enough, they said, for a man to conceal himself.

Schwarz, it is believed by the police, lately arrived here from El Paso, Tex., where he is said to have been a piano maker. He had a large amount of money in a local bank, according to the police.

The body of Schwarz was removed to the Boothe & Boylson undertaking establishment. The time for the inquest has not yet been fixed.

POLICY FIGHTS MARK PRIMARY

Arizona Election More Than Candidates' Race

Hunt and Ward Gubernatorial Office Seekers

Both Democratic Contenders Claiming Victory

[EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH.]

PHOENIX (Ariz.) Sept. 11.—Tuesday's primaries to the Democrats have far more importance than a mere struggle between candidates. It is to decide the policy of the party in Arizona and upon it will depend the fate of the direct primary and "isms" that were accepted ten years ago as essential planks of the permanent Democratic platform.

Hunt's greatest strength in the race for the gubernatorial nomination lies in his campaign against any amendment. Ward followed suit after several weeks of hesitancy and now proclaims himself against amendment of the constitution's popular features. Hunt had been accepted as the champion of the constitution and of the common people as against the capitalist. On this basis alone strong claims are made for his success.

The best argument of the Ward forces is that of his "regularity" due to the fact that he was nominated at the Tucson convention, in which it is claimed that Hunt participated. Therefore, there are charges that Hunt must be considered a bolter, unwilling to abide by the decision of a majority of his party. The late raking-up by a Phoenix daily of material showing Hunt's friendliness with members of the I.W.W. is deprecated by Ward headquarters and Ward himself is said to have been angered by the manner of the attack.

Ward newspapers are calling for a rally against socialism and are attacking Hunt as an enemy to forces upon which dependence must be placed in the upbuilding of the State. There also is claim that the radical mining element no longer can be depended upon by Hunt. It left the State when copper slumped and that part of the radical strength that has returned may not have been here long enough to vote. Then there is pointing to Yuma county, a former Hunt stronghold, where Mulford Winsor, Hunt's former right bower and now unopposed in either party for election as State Senator, is said to be strongly against his former chief, as well as Secretary Edwards of the State Democratic committee, formerly a Hunt lieutenant.

On the eve of election both sides are claiming victory in every county. There is belief that Ward will carry Maricopa, a county that has about a third of the state's vote, but that his majority here is not likely to exceed 1000. Maricopa has given Tom Campbell, Republican, 3500 plurality over Hunt in former elections. Gila is epected to give Hunt over 700 majority on Tuesday. Cochise from 500 to 700, Yavapai about 500 and Mohave at least 300. Yuma is credited to Ward by several hundred, with Pima and Santa Cruz also in his column. But the balance appears on the Hunt side, when there is added the total of the smaller counties.

BOYCE IN RACE

Another "irregular" is expected to be in the winning. He is Jesse Boyce, who was auditor for several terms and who now is running for tax commissioner against the incumbent "regular," Charles R. Howe. Boyce is making a strong single-handed campaign. There is a prospect for the nomination of Tom Foster of Bisbee, a Hunt Democrat, over Ed O'Hagen, the convention nominee for mine inspector. This office is an important one, as affecting the administration policies concerning the large mining corporations and their underground operations.

There is belief that Miss C. Louise Boehringer of Yuma, the regular nominee, will win over C. O. Case in the fight for nomination as State Superintendent of Public Instruction. Miss Boehringer was a member of the last Arizona House of Representatives. Case was superintendent for several terms, but was defeated two years ago for renomination.

A hot fight is being waged over the place of coporation commissioner between A. A. Betts, regular incumbent, and Charles de Sales Wheeler, while W. J. Murphy of Globe, regular nominee for Attorney-General, is expected to win over D. P. Boyle, independent nominee. Murphy has been indorsed by the Gila county bar.

Cochise county Democrats will be called upon to indorse or repudiate the Bisbee deportation, for Harry Wheeler, who was Sheriff at the time of the deporation and leader of the deporters, again is a candidate for Democratic nomination to the same office. About the only Republican who has announced himself in Greenlee county is Dell M. Potter, the well-known good-roads advocate, who will contest the Senatorial place with H. A. Elliott, the Democratic incumbent.

PRIMARY CHANGE

There is an interesting situation in Cochise county in the Senatorial race, the two places being contested by Charles M. Roberts, John P. Cull, Billy Delbridge, Tom A. Hughes and Dr. W. P. Sims, all with prior legislative experience. In Maricopa county, M. L. Burkhead is running for Senatorial Democratic nomination solely on a ticket that would invite the parimutuel system of betting to the State fair grounds as a measure that would bring wealth to Phoenix and would lower taxation.

Just to indicate the embracing scope of the primary, Cochise county this year has no less than 320 names on the ballot; Maricopa, 244, and Yavapai, 187.

A late political interpolation was a resolution of the Globe Jefferson Club in favor of the California primary law, through which a candidate who received a majority of all votes at a primary election should be considered elected. This would be hard on the Republicans of Arizona, who have been heard from little in the past till after the primary and who usually do not bother themselves in going to the polls in September. This year they have only one State contest, that between Ernest Hall, incumbent, and Wesley A. Hill for nomination as Secretary of State.

LOYAL TO HUSBAND IN SPITE OF CHARGES

WIFE OF ATLANTA BANKER TO STAND BY HIM IN SUIT

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE.]

CHICAGO, Sept. 11.—Walter T. Candler, wealthy banker of Atlanta, Ga., who recently was sued for $100,000 by Mrs. Sarah Byfield of Atlanta, today met his wife in Chicago when she arrived from Honolulu. Mrs. Candler later declared she did not believe the charges made against her husband by Mrs. Byfield and the latter's husband by Mrs. Byfield and the latter's husband, C. K. Byfield, who charged Mr. Candler had attacked Mrs. Byfield on the steamship Berengaria en route to France on July 16, last.

"I do not believe these charges against him," Mrs. Candler said. "My presence here at this time is the result of a hope that I might be of some help to him."

Mrs. Byfield in her suit charged that she and her husband accompanied Mr. Candler and the latter's two daughters on a trip to France and that Candler invaded her stateroom after a dinner party and attacked her.

DISINHERITED SCREEN STAR QUITE PLACID

PAULINE FREDERICK SAYS SHE CARES NOTHING FOR FATHER'S MONEY

[BY A. P. DAY WIRE.]

CHICAGO, Sept. 11.—Informed that she had been disinherited in the will of her late father, Richard C. Libby of Norwich, Ct., Pauline Frederick, stage and screen star, let the world know today that she wasn't bothered by the provisions of the will.

"I didn't know he had anything to leave to anybody," she said, "but I wouldn't take a penny of his money if he had a billion dollars."

Miss Frederick characterized her late father as a "happy-go-lucky spendthrift," who didn't know the value of a dollar, adding: "I guess I'm like him in that respect."

The actress said she had seen her father only three or four times since her mother divorced him twenty-five years ago. The last meeting, she said, was in California several years ago when she declined to meet his second wife.

"My mother has always been both mother and all the father I ever had to me," she said. "I owe my mother everything."

WASHINGTON STATE NOMINATES TODAY

SENATOR POINDEXTER MEETING BITTER OPPOSITION AT PRIMARY ELECTION

[BY A. P. DAY WIRE.]

SEATTLE, Sept. 11.—Candidates today were winding up their campaigns prior to the State-wide primary election tomorrow at which candidates for the United States Senate, five Congressional seats, four Supreme Court vacancies, State legislative seats and county offices will be nominated. Three parties, Republican, Democratic and Farmer-Labor, have tickets in the field.

The campaign for the Republican nomination for United States Senator was one of the most bitter of the State's history. Senator Miles Poindexter, first elected in 1910, is opposed for the nomination by Mrs. Frances C. Axtell of Bellingham; George B. Lamping, member of the Seattle Port Commission; Austen E. Griffiths, judge of the Superior Court of King county; George H. Stevenson of Seattle and Lee Tittle of Yakima. Mrs. Axtell was indorsed by a conference of representatives of so-called liberal groups, including the Railway Men's Political Club, the Washington State Federation of Labor and a number of women's and farmers' organizations. Griffith and Lamping also have been indorsed by so-called liberal organizations. Stevenson is generally regarded as representing the "old guard" in the Republican party.

Attacks on Senator Poindexter's record in Congress, especially with regard to his vote in favor of seating Senator Truman Newberry of Michigan, featured the campaign.

In the Democratic primary C. C. Lill of Spokane, former Congressman, is opposed by Lyman Seelye of Bellingham and James Cleveland Longstreet of Port Townsend, who conducted his campaign from a bed in a veterans' hospital in Colorado.

The representatives in Congress from five districts of the State are all candidates for the Republican nomination in their respective districts.

EUREKA, Sept. 11.—The worst forest fire in years is burning in cut-over timber land and cattle ranges near here today. Officials of the Pacific Lumber Company expressed the belief that the situation was well in hand, although a high wind was likely to cause heavy loss. The loss is nominal.

DEATHBED STATEMENT HOLDS THREE PEOPLE

Three persons, including a woman, are held at the City Jail pending the outcome of the police probe.

William Walters, age 59, one of the persons held, told the police that he found Mrs. Aldridge in flames in the kitchen of the home of Mrs. Ray Buckley, at 2213 Lawrence street. Walters, Mrs. Buckley and Dan Welch said they were in the parlor when they heard a shriek from Mrs. Aldridge.

SIGHT OF GOLD EXCITES TOWN

Mexican Prospector Brings in Rich Discovery

Days of Argonauts Revived at Mexicali

Townspeople Prepare for Search of Hills

[EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH.]

MEXICALI, Sept. 11.—The days of the Spanish Argonauts were revived in this historic old settlement of the Northern District of Lower California today and the maddest gold rush in a decade is on. All Mexicali is excited about it and scores of old-timers are getting ready for the hills.

Free gold has been discovered within a few hours of Mexicali in quantities that makes the veriest peon dream of untold wealth.

The rush was started with the arrival in town late yesterday of Tomas Rosas, an old-time Mexican mining man and prospector, who for years has gouged the hills to the south and west of Mexicali for the yellow that is the standard of all values.

Rosas came into town mounted on the back of an ancient jenny leading a trio of pack animals of the same breed, loaded down with his camp equipment and sacks of ore. He announced briefly that he had struck it at last.

He unpacked a sack of ore and showed samples that, in the language of the prospector, were "lousy with flake and wire gold in the free state." In other words it was stuff that could be pounded out with a pestle and mortar. He dumped out from a small buckskin sack on the bar of a cafe into which he had drifted a small pile of thick flakes and small nuggets of pure gold, which would average $100 to the handful. The display of gold samples by Rosas created the greatest of excitement.

He was literally mobbed by Mexicans and Americans alike to learn where he had made the strike and all the details of his discovery. Rosas had no objection to telling all about his discovery. He had already taken the precaution to file on a group of claims in the Mexican Mining Bureau offices and he regaled his auditors with a tale of his search and final victory in uncovering a gold ledge of vast wealth.

The mine discovered by Rosas is said to be located fifty-two miles south and west of Mexicali in the mountain district on the road to the southern gulf ports. His located claims are one mile from the national highway and the ground between is easy of access for trail parties, and a roadway is easy of building. He uncovered a week ago a fourteen-foot ledge of free milling quartz which runs, according to the assays he has received, $1441 to the ton. There is some copper, silver and lead with the gold. The location is ideal and there is plenty of water, lots of timber, easy grades for automobile and truck travel, according to Rosas. A score of parties are organizing this morning for the rush to the new field.

EMPLOYMENT SHOWS GAIN

Official Reports Say Work Increased Generally Despite Strikes

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE.]

WASHINGTON, Sept. 11. Of sixty-five leading cities in the United States, thirty-nine reported increased employment during August as compared with July, while only twenty-six recorded decreases, according to the industrial analysis for last month issued today by the Department of Labor. The soundness of business, it was said, was reflected in the employment increase in many industries, surmounting the reaction of the rail and fuel situation.

TWO GAS COMPANIES MAY INCREASE RATES

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE.]

SAN FRANCISCO, Sept. 11.—Permission was granted the Valley Natural Gas and the Midway Gas companies by the Railroad Commission today to increase natural gas rates from 1 to 2 cents per 1000 cubic feet for distribution in the Kern River, Elk Hills and Midway oil fields, it was announced.

The increase was allowed, the commission stated, because of like increases imposed upon the distributing companies by the Standard Oil and Pacific Oil companies. It was also announced that the increase would only affect industrial and wholesale users.

FLYING MINISTER IS LAID TO REST

[BY A. P. DAY WIRE.]

WILLIAMS (N. C.) Sept. 11.—The funeral of Lieut. Melvin N. Maynard, known throughout the country as "the flying parson," who was killed in an airplane accident at Rutledge, Vt., Thursday of last week, was held at the home of Dr. and Mrs. A. A. Maynard, his parents, in Sampson county, yesterday afternoon at 3 o'clock.

A crowd of more than 3000 persons attended the service, which was participated in by four ministers, all of whom were close personal friends of the flier.

WILL STUDY CONTROL OF ALL CROPS

Plan Aims to Prevent Loss to Ranchers of Imperial Valley

[EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH.]

EL CENTRO, Sept. 11.—Imperial Valley will take steps to see that her ranchers and growers never again lose money on account of overproduction of any one crop as occurred last season when growers lost thousands of dollars because of overproduction of cantaloupes.

A movement now on foot in El Centro is aimed to establish a bureau of markets with power to regulate crop control in the valley, according to James T. Coyle, secretary of the El Centro Chamber of Commerce. The new bureau will be virtually a czar in its dictates in regard to agricultural production in Imperial Valley, laying down the law as to acreage in any and all crops planted.

The principal thought of the movement is to regulate crops and protect ranchers and growers from the monetary greed of many who jump in each season and plant huge acreages of crops on the strength of the success of the previous season in this crop, thereby causing a monster production and flooding the markets and causing a slump in prices. No better example of this can be given than in the 1922 cantaloupe crop. A success the previous year, growers and ranchers increased the acreage this year to more than 32,000 acres. The result was flooded markets and prices that prohibited the picking of the melons and the loss of thousands of dollars to growers and shippers.

Working for the mutual welfare of all ranchers, growers and business men of the valley will be called on by the Chamber of Commerce to support the establishment of a bureau of crop control. A committee consisting of two bankers and three ranchers will be appointed at once to make a thorough investigation of the situation in the valley in regard to crop regulation and marketing conditions. Full details of the plan have not been worked out, but are under way. Mr. Coyle states that this matter has been foreseen for some time and is the result of an emergency requiring action of a stringent character.

MILWAUKEE

MILWAUKEE, Sept. 11.—A severe electrical storm, accompanied in many sections by heavy winds, swept over a large part of the State and city last night. The heavy downpour of rain put at least a temporary end to the high temperatures which have baked people in Wisconsin for five days, and brought relief to farm crops.

An effort is being made throughout the northern part of the State to induce farmers to engage in co-operative marketing of produce rather than to continue sales through commission merchants.

Outside of a lack of hard coal, Wisconsin will not suffer from a coal famine this winter, in the opinion of P. H. Pressentin, secretary of the State Fuel Committee.

KELLER SHOWS SPLEEN

BY GRAFTON WILCOX

[EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH.]

WASHINGTON, Sept. 11.—Impeachment of Atty.-Gen. Daugherty was demanded in the House today by Representative Keller, Minnesota, Republican, upon charges of malfeasance in office based largely upon his conduct in securing the temporary injunction against the railroad strikers in Federal Judge Wilkerson's court in Chicago.

The introduction of the impeachment proceedings created a lively hubbub in the House. In the course of it Mr. Keller was denied the privilege of making a speech or of extending his remarks in the Record. He was forced to content himself with making the declaration of impeachment and the introduction of the formal resolution, both of which were promptly referred to the House Judiciary Committee.

ACTION UNLIKELY

Unless sentiment against the Attorney-General grows stronger, there is little likelihood of the Judiciary Committee making a favorable report on the impeachment resolution to the House. A meeting of the committee to consider the impeachment probably will be called at an early date and arrangements probably will be made then to give Mr. Keller and his supporters a hearing.

Rising to a question of the highest privilege immediately after the House convened today, Mr. Keller voiced his impeachment, charging that "Harry M. Daugherty, Attorney-General of the United States, has used his high office to violate the Constitution." He declared that Mr. Daugherty was guilty of the following particulars:

"First, by abridging freedom of speech; by abridging the freedom of the press; by abridging the right of the people peaceably to assemble.

"Second, that unmindful of the duties of his office and his oath to defend the Constitution of the United States and unmindful of his obligations to discharge those duties faithfully and impartially, the said Harry M. Daugherty has, in his capacity of Attorney-General of the United States, conducted himself in a manner arbitrary, oppressive, unjust and illegal.

"Third, he has without warrant threatened with punishment citizens of the United States who have opposed his attempts to override the Constitution and the laws of this nation.

"Fourth, he has used the funds of his office illegally and without warrant in the prosecution of individuals and organizations for certain lawful acts which, under the law, he was specifically forbidden to prosecute.

OTHER CHARGES

"Fifth, he has failed to prosecute individuals and organizations violating the law after those violations have become public scandal.

"Sixth, he has defeated the ends of justice by recommending the release from prison of wealthy offenders against the Sherman anti-trust act.

"Seventh, he has failed to prosecute defendants legally indicted for crimes against the people."

Administration leaders said tonight that there is no justification for the charges against the Attorney-General. Majority Leader Mondell was given general support when he insisted on the Keller resolution going to the Judiciary Committee without discussion.

THORNE TO MARRY AGAIN

Wealthy Chicago Heart-Breaker Who Won First Wife on $2000 Bet, Goes to Altar Tonight

[EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH.]

CHICAGO, Sept. 11.—Gordon C. Thorne, wealthy clubman and son of one of the founders of Montgomery Ward & Co., will embark on his second matrimonial adventure tomorrow night when his marriage to Helen Maginnis will be celebrated at the Thorne mansion.

The nuptials will be quietly solemnized at 9 o'clock in the presence of only a few intimate friends. Rev. James S. Ainslie will perform the ceremony. Immediately afterward Mr. and Mrs. Thorne will leave for a month's honeymoon at Larchmont, N. Y., Newport and Atlantic City.

Thorne's first wife, Virginia Milner, daughter of James T. Milner, vice-president of the National Car Truck Company, was won on a bet.

Thorne wagered Townsend Netcher $2000 that he would marry Miss Milner, and six months later Netcher paid the bet at the altar. Less than three years after their marriage the Thornes were separated, following an affair between Thorne and Mary Lygo, a Follies actress, who four times attempted suicide on her wealthy admirer's account. Mrs. Thorne obtained a divorce June 25, 1921.

Hardly had Thorne been divorced than he found himself compelled to fight a $100,000 breach of promise suit brought by Miss Lygo, who at the same time instituted proceedings against his mother, then the wife of William C. Camp, for a similar amount, on charges of slander. This was on February 5 of this year.

Shortly before Miss Lygo had again sought death as surcease from the alleged unrequited affection for Thorne. She charged that Thorne had promised to marry her and had later refused to keep his word.

MARRIED CAMP

Mrs. Camp also had an unfortunate love history. Left a widow by William C. Thorne, she later married "Billy" Camp, Chicago's "million-dollar spender." In November, 1917, she divorced Camp on a charge of a love affair with a pretty California cinema actress.

In July of this year, Mrs. Camp No. 3 brought a petition in Chancery Court, asking for an accounting of a $250,000 trust fund she had given Camp during their marriage. The case was settled out of court.

STATUS OF SUFFRAGANS BOTHERS EPISCOPALIANS

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE.]

PORTLAND (Or.) Sept. 11.—Suffragans, or assistant bishops, who are now entitled to a seat in the House of Bishops, but not a vote, were the subject of debates in the House of Bishops and the House of Deputies of the Protestant Episcopal Church in the United States in general convention here this afternoon. The bishops, after voting to reconsider the amendment granting suffrage to the suffragans, which had been rejected last week, reversed their former action and by sixty-eight affirmative votes adopted it.

The House of Deputies, after a spirited debate, decided to indefinitely postpone action on the suffragan amendment. An effort, however, is expected to be made to reconsider the matter by the deputies.

Bishop Herman Page of Spokane, in the debate in the House of Bishops, said many bishops last week had voted against the amendment because they wished to kill the office of suffragan.

COLOR LINE IN VOTE

Bishop C. H. Brent of Western New York, said that if suffragans were not given the vote the church would have to face the alternative of giving jurisdiction to the racial episcopate or abandon its work among the colored people.

Bishop Arthur S. Lloyd, suffragan bishop of New York, said it was not generous to make distinctions among the bishops. He declared it was necessary either to set up the church of a race or give the negro suffragans the dignity of a bishop.

Rev. F. W. Beeman, of Holy Trinity Church, Paris, reported on the work of his church and said that memorials to the American war dead would be dedicated next Memorial Day. He suggested that a gold-starred memorial flag from each of the forty-eight States, and an endowed memorial pew from each State be placed in the church as part of the memorial plan.

Prof. S. S. Joshi, professor of literature of the University of Bombay, who addressed the House of Deputies this afternoon, argued that to counteract the movement of Hindu religions throughout the United States, the church should establish missionary work in India and spread Christianity in that country.

The House of Bishops today concurred with the House of Deputies in approving the request of the diocese of South Carolina to divide and also granted the request of the missionary district of Asheville to be erected as a diocese under the name of Western North Carolina.

NEW DEACONESS RULING

Married women will be eligible as deaconesses and they will have a place in the permanent diocesanate of the Protestant Episcopal Church, with a special ordination service, if a proposed new canon recommended in the report of a joint commission which was presented today is adopted by the convention here. The proposed canon makes a distinct departure from the established custom of the church.

Other changes recommended to elevate the office of deaconness and give it permanence, provide for special courses of training and for an examination before a board of examiners which is created. Approval of the applicant by the standing committee of the diocese is required by her appointment and ordination. Under the present canon, selection rests in the hands of the bishops alone. Providing such elaboration in the office of deaconness, the report specifically notes that there is no purpose to suggest the elevation of deaconnesses to the priesthood of the church. Bishop Philip M. Rhynelander of Pennsylvania, is chairman of the joint commission making the report.

PUBLICITY URGED

That the primary duty of the church is publicity was declared by John Stewart Bryan, secretary of the American Newspaper Publishers' Association, and a delegate to the general convention, at a mass meeting of the publicity department of the church in the auditorium here tonight.

"The orders of the church from Christ, its head, were, 'go preach,'" continued Mr. Bryan. "Business has been quick to seize and utilize the immeasurable power of suggestion, and the church cannot afford to overlook any means as universal as printing for spreading its message. St. Paul knew the value of publicity and his knowledge of that fact combined with incomparable gift of stating the Christian revelation, revolutionized the civilization of the Roman Empire.

"St. Paul's message is as much needed in the pagan world today as nineteen centuries ago and the church must use every man and every method at its disposal if thereby the gospel may be preached to all. In furtherance of this plan the Episcopal church has built up a department of publicity developing every form of church news for those within, as well as those without the church."

W. H. Crocker of San Franaisco will be the host tonight at a dinner at which the Right Rev. William Ford Nichols, bishop of California, will be the guest of honor, to the bishops and clerical and lay delegates from all of the diocese and the missionary districts in the eighth province of the church.

RECONSTRUCTED CEREMONY

Announcement of the attitude of the bishops of the Protestant Episcopa church in the United States on the proposed changes in the Book of Common Prayer, including the indorsement of the elimination of the word "obey" from the bride's vow on the marriage ceremony and a change in the title of the communion service, was a feature of today's sessions of the triennial convention here. This was made in a report on the pre-convention deliberations, which was issued today as a guide.

PROTESTS ON REVISION

The prayer revision in which protests against revision were made by Bishop Irving P. Johnson of Colorado and John McKim, a missionary from Japan, occurred in both houses of the convention, but the objecting voices did not interfere with the program of the convention leaders, who have already put into motion the work of revision.

Denunciation of France's policy of conscription among the natives of colonies in Africa as carrying the menace of another war was made by Bishop Walter H. Overs of Liberia, at a joint meeting of both houses devoted to missions.

CHRISTIANS IN NEAR EAST

An appeal in behalf of the unprotected Christian people of Asia Minor was contained in a telegram from Constant Pantes, special Greek representative, which was received by the Most Rev. Daniel T. Tuttle, presiding bishop. This message, which was referred to the committee on memorials, said:

"Most respectfully and earnestly do we ask the American Episcopal Church to raise its voice in behalf of the unprotected Christians, Greeks and Armenians in Asia Minor. The Greek army having given aid, retires with heavy losses. Again the terrible Turk massacres freely. In the name of God and Christianity, will you urge the Allies to use influence with that Christian patriot, Lloyd George. If any resolution is adopted, will you send copies to President Harding, Secretary Hughes and to me?"

Bishop Thomas F. Davies of Western Massachusetts today presented the report of the committee on the work of deaconesses.

BOOK CAUSES FLURRIES

Prayer book revision caused flurries in the house of bishops and the house of deputies.

Bishop Irving P. Johnston of Colorado made a plea that the convention shelve the entire matter. He declared that the results obtained did not justify the time spent in discussing the matter and that more important things should be considered. The program of revision, however, was stressed in the report of the committee on dispatch of business, which recommended that prayer book revision be given right of way. This report was adopted.

Rev. John C. McKim, a missionary of Wakamatzu, Japan, created an uproar in the house of deputies this morning by presenting a resolution by proposing that the report of the commission on revision of the prayer book be referred back to the commission. He declared there was a strong sentiment throughout the church, out of all proportion to the feeling among delegates at the convention, against any change in the prayer book. Chairman Mann reminded him that debate on the matter was not in order, as it had been placed on the calendar. He continued his statement, however, concluding with the declaration that one reason for opposing a change in the prayer book was that many poor parishes would find it a hardship if required to buy large supplies of new prayer books.

URGE SIMPLER LANGUAGE

In the decision in the house of bishops on prayer book revision, Bishop William Lawrence of Massachusetts, and Bishop Charles H. Brent of Western New York, put in a plea for the simplification of the language of the prayer book.

The house of bishops adopted the first rubric in the service of holy baptism which provides for the substitution of a single service of baptism instead of the three services now standing. They also adopted the new exhortation which leaves out the phrase "conceived and born in sin." The bishops amended the report by leaving in the baptismal service the opening question "hath this child already been baptised or no."

WORD "OBEY" ELIMINATED

The proposal to omit the word "obey" said by the bride in the marriage ceremony, was approved by the bishops of the Protestant Episcopal Church in their informal conferences preceding the opening of the convention, according to announcement today. Announcement of the bishops' action had been keenly awaited by the convention.

The bishops, however, did not approve the proposal for the omission from the ring ceremony of the words, "and with all my worldly goods I thee endow."

A new prayer in the marriage service, that the union be fruitful and that children be trained for health of body and soul, was approved.

UP TO SPECIAL COMMITTEE

No action was taken by the bishops in their preliminary discussions on the amendments which prescribed a prayer for the recovery of sick and the laying on of hands or annointing the patient, action being deferred pending the report of a special committee.

The change of title of the communion office, introducing the words, "the divine liturgy and the holy eucharist," was approved. This was one of the debatable points. The bishops adopted the resolution to shorten the ten commandments at the discretion of the priest.

The bishops did not approve of the addition to the prayer for the whole church thanksgiving for the saints and a prayer for the departed. The house of bishops today formally began action on details of the report of the informal conference.

NEXT CONVENTION

The house of bishops appointed Bishop G. H. Kinsolving of Texas and Bishop J. G. Murray of Maryland to the committee which will recommend the next meeting place.

Bishop R. H. Weller of Fond Du Lac today gave out a minority report of the joint commission on concord.

Through the policy of militarism and conscription which France enforces in its great African colonies, the peace and welfare of Africa are seriously endangered, said Rt. Rev. Walter H. Overs, bishop of Liberia.

"It is one of the greatest crimes of the age," said Bishop Overs, "for the French thus to conscript the natives and build up an army which will bring another war. The French, who own much of Africa, seem to have gone 'military crazy.'"

ORIENTAL REPORTS

Right Rev. Frederick R. Graves, bishop of Shanghai, first presented a report and plea for the work he directs among the millions of Chinese of his diocese. He said it is imperative that a better foundation for the work, particularly in the matter of educating the girls, be laid now.

The present status of Christianity in Japan was outlined by Right Rev. John McKim, bishop of Tokio. He spoke of the prestige won through operation of the great St. Luke's Hospital in Tokio, to which even the Emperor accorded support, having given 50,000 yen.

Right Rev. Hiram R. Hulse, bishop of Cuba, third speaker at the meeting, gave facts about the church's work among Latin Americans. The crumbling of the governmental powers which had held the Latin American to Christianity as a state religion left these peoples in a sad state of disbelief, idolatry and illiteracy, he said.

ASKS FREEST RELATIONSHIP

With the presentation today in the House of Bishops of the report of the commission on the concordat, in which recommendation is made that relations be established between the Protestant Episcopal Church in the United States and the Congregational Church by the ordination under certain conditions of Congregational clergymen by Episcopal bishops' and a minority report of Bishop Reginald H. Weller of Fond du Lac, the matter was formaly before both houses of the general convention. The reports had been presented the House of Deputies last week. In each house the report and minority report has been referred to the committee on canons.

"Our agrarian policy—the sequestration of large estates and the creation of small holdings—was harshly criticized, and has no doubt done much to give us a bad character. The western nations did not understand the situation. Our people were supremely dissatisfied, and rightly so. They had been ground down; they had nothing. It was a critical moment. The Bolsheviki were ready to promise anything. We considered it essential to create without delay a contented community, hard-working, thrifty and deaf to political agitators. We therefore gave the people the land, and they at once settled down to work upon it.

"Trade is improving, but not rapidly. Hundreds of our factories are still closed, for we haven't the money to re-equip them. Agriculture is reviving. The League of Baltic States is making steady progress. The four small nations bordering on Russia—Latvia, Esthonia, Finland and Lithuania—all realize that a military defensive union would be their best security against the Bolsheviki. Perhaps later on Denmark and Sweden may join us for commercial purposes.

"We are establishing free ports, cutting away transit duties, revising and reducing our tariffs. We have Russian as a common language, but we need also a common currency and a network of light railways to connect us with Esthonia and Lithuania. We are gradually restoring the devastation of the Germans, but for all these undertakings we require capital. As yet we cannot borrow this, so we are working to create it. That is why we have no unemployment and no labor question in Latvia.".

WIFE TOO FULL OF GINGER

Consumed Thirty Bottles of Jamaica Variety in Ten Days, Husband Says

Mrs. Katheleen Swanson may not have had too much pep but, according to the charges of her husband, she had a lot of ginger in her make-up. In a divorce complaint filed yesterday by Albert P. Swanson, he charges that his wife hurled dishes at him and attacked him with scissors and knives while under the influence of Jamaica ginger.

The wife was strong for the Jamaica concoction, the complaint states. She drank thirty bottles in ten days and then threw the family china at her husband.

Occasionally she would stage a drinking tournament with two gentlemen; one a man from Old Mexico, the complaint charges. The couple have been married a year and three days.

UNION FALLS DOWN ON JOB

Promised Carpenters' Strike Proved Real Fizzle; Men Are Waiting to Take Posts

Threats by labor-union officials to call a general strike of carpenters yesterday failed to materialize, although numbers of union carpenters refused to work on jobs where nonunion men were employed.

Labor union delegates, headed by E. J. Newton, secretary and general representative of the local carpenters' union, yesterday continued to visit building jobs where nonunion and union men were employed, and ordered union me to discontinue work. In most cases the union men packed their tools and left.

The general strike planned by the union for yesterday was called off, according to the building contractors, when the union officials learned that numbers of nonunion carpenters were ready and waiting to take the union men's places.

WORKMEN READY

Roy H. Brown, secretary of the Builders' Exchange, declared that his organization was ready to supply carpenters to contractors, even if the strike is called. He stated that while his organization is not fighting the union, it is organized for the protection of the building contractors, and will attempt to keep workmen on the job in the face of a union-called strike.

"We have not heard directly from the unions today," said Mr. Brown yesterday. "Members of this organization had been warned by Mr. Newton that a strike would be put into effect today if any nonunion men remained in the employ of the building contractors. The men are still working and the strike has not been called."

Numbers of contractors yesterday reported that union carpenters had refused to longer work beside nonunion men. The refusal of the union men to continue work came after walking delegates had visited the buildings under construction.

From organizations where lists of carpenters are kept, it was learned yesterday that there are enough nonunion carpenters in the city to replace all the union men who may leave their employment.

FOREST FIRES REPORTED

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE.]

FRESNO, Sept. 11.—Following the disastrous fire Saturday night which laid waste the mill and camp of the Madera Sugar Pine Company and spread to adjacent forests causing damages estimated at over $2,000,000, eight other blazes have occurred, according to reports reaching Fresno tonight. Estimates of the total loss have been placed by lumbermen at over $4,000,000.

The forest fires reported today are in Madera and Mariposa counties and five are within the Sierra National Forest. Reports reaching Fresno tonight said that over 1000 acres had been burned over and that 100 men were now fighting the flames, some of them recruited from Camp 3 of the Southern California Edison Company.

Kaiser Ridge, thirty miles east of Big Creek, is said to be the center of a raging forest fire, which started Saturday night. Six hundred acres had been burned over, according to reports received tonight.

Another fire started at Camp 10 of the Edison Company today. This blaze was small and was reported to be under control. Three other fires were reported by the ranger lookout in the Mariposa section, outside the national forest area. One of these was reported at Mt. Bullion, a second in Happy Valley and a third on Bear Creek.

Armstrong's Linoleum
for Every Floor in the House

How a bit of dried paint led to a new invention and gave to you and others a better kind of floor.

NEARLY everybody has seen a can of paint that has stood too long exposed to air and light. A thick coating appears on top of the paint and it becomes useless for painting.

In 1863 a man named Frederick Walton stood looking at the thick film that had formed on a can of exposed paint. He saw what many others had seen, but he did a little thinking as he looked.

What Walton Discovered

He pried off this film and examined it. He found it was tough, elastic, and smooth. It had an even color. Further experiment proved that it would withstand wear. It was durable.

Mr. Walton knew what this film was. It was linseed oil that had oxidized and turned from a liquid to a semi-solid, elastic material.

He took some of this oxidized linseed oil that had been exposed to the air and mixed it with cork "flour," or powdered cork. Then he took a strip of strong tough burlap and pressed the composition into the mesh of the burlap.

He Named It Linoleum

Here was made for the first time a new substance which was named Linoleum—after linseed oil.

Mr. Walton has lived to see his invention become famous through its value as a floor. Great mills in Europe, the British Isles, and America annually produce millions of yards of linoleum for the floors of homes, offices, business places, public and semi-public buildings.

Linoleum is a strong, sturdy material that can be printed with colors and designs, or the color may be put in during the manufacture, in which case the colors run all the way through to the burlap back. This, as your wife knows, is called "inlaid linoleum."

Linoleum makes such a good floor that scores of shiploads of cork and thousands of barrels of linseed oil are used every year in its manufacture. It makes a good floor because it is firm, resilient, quiet, smooth, and permanent. No other floor is so easy to clean. There are so many different colors and designs in linoleum that women who have good taste in interior decoration make linoleum floors a part of the color harmony of their rooms.

How to Identify Linoleum

When you buy linoleum, remember what linoleum is. It has a burlap back that you can see. It does not tear easily. Some floor coverings are mistaken for linoleum that are not linoleum at all. They contain no cork and are not pressed on burlap. To be sure you are getting genuine linoleum, look for the Circle "A" trade-mark on the burlap back. This identifies the genuine Armstrong's Linoleum, a high quality product made in colors and designs suitable for any room in any house.

MRS. LULA VANN FULTON, ARK,

Suggests to Suffering Women the Road to Health

Fulton, Arkansas.—"I used Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound for a soreness in my side. I would suffer so badly every month from my waist down that I could not be on my feet half the time. I was not able to do my work without help. I saw your Vegetable Compound advertised in a newspaper and gave it a fair trial. Now I am able to do my work and don't even have a backache every month. I cannot praise your Vegetable Compound enough and highly recommend it to those who have troubles like mine. I am willing for these facts to be used as a testimonial to lead all who suffer with female troubles, as I did, to the right road to health."—Mrs. LULA VANN, Box 43, Fulton, Arkansas.

It's this sort of praise of Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound, given by word of mouth and by letter, one woman to another, that should cause you to consider taking this well-known medicine, if you are troubled with such symptoms as painful periods, weak, nervous feelings, miserable pains in your back, and cannot work at certain times.

Got Rid of Her Burning Feet

Thanks to Husband's Kindness

Callouses Also Peeled Right Off, and Soft Corns Faded Away!

"For many years the burning callouses on my feet and soft corns between my toes, nearly drove me crazy," says Mrs. Anna Beckman. "My housework was endless torture and I was compelled to wear shoes much too large to get around at all. The terrible aches and pains almost ruined my nerves. In fact, I believe I aged ten years in the past year or two. Plasters, powders and medicated foot-baths did no good. But one day, thanks to my husband's kindness, he brought home a box of Gypsy Foot Relief, a secret from the desert. The very first time I used it, the burning stopped. Three days later the callouses peeled right off, leaving the skin soft and smooth, while the corns between my toes just seemed to fade away. The swelling went down and I can now wear shoes two sizes smaller than the ones I had to wear when my feet were in such awful shape. I really feel as if I had a pair of new feet, and I am telling all my friends and neighbors who have any foot troubles to use Gypsy Foot Relief."

NOTE:—Gypsy Foot Relief, referred to by Mrs. Beckman, can be applied in a minute, without fuss or bother. Sure, quick relief comes three minutes later, or the makers give back the little it costs. It is sold in this city by all good druggists including OWL DRUG COMPANY.

PLAN TO PUNISH LAWBREAKERS

See Hand of I.W.W. Behind Strike Outrages

Government Officials Meet in Conference Here

Swift Justice to be Meted Trouble Makers

The conference yesterday at the Federal Building between Hiram C. Todd, Special Assistant Attorney-General, who has been detailed here from Washington to investigate acts of lawlessness in connection with the railroad strike, United States Dist.-Atty. Burke of this city, United States Dist.-Atty. George Springmier of Reno, Nev.; United States Dist.-Atty. Fred W. Bernard of Tucson, Ariz., and Francis D. Crabill, Assistant United States Attorney, Phoenix, disclosed many important features of the efforts of the rebellious spirits among the strikers to avoid and subvert the processes of the courts.

Among other important developments of the day was the fact that the unruly element among the strikers is receiving the active cooperation and assistance of the I.W.W., and that at every point where there have been disturbances, the footprints of the I.W.W. were in evidence.

They are not only trying to instill defiance of the law in the minds of the strikers, but are sending inflammatory literature in all directions, to the end that the most radical strikers may be induced to commit open infractions of the law.

SEE HAND OF I.W.W.

This situation is not only in evidence in various parts of California, but in Nevada and Arizona as well. Wherever there has been any outbreak, the marks of the I.W.W. have been noted by the officers investigating the situation. Some of the strikers have long been members of the order, and others have recently allied themselves with it. Meetings have been held and a program of resistance arranged for. It will be the duty of the government agents, headed by Mr. Todd, to push the inquiry to the end that not only the strikers, but those who induced them to break the law by violating the restraining order are brought to book.

The source of the unrest and bad feeling apparent at a number of railway points has long been the subject of uncertainty on the part of the government, but the conference yesterday uncovered the plans of the conspirators.

Mr. Todd says that the swiftest punishment will be meted out to the trouble-makers. The District Attorneys in the three States of California, Nevada and Arizona will be in daily communication with him, and action will be taken as circumstances warrant. The campaign of the government against radicals will be pushed to the limit.

OPENING GUN FIRED

The opening gun in the fight was fired in Judge Sawtelle's court yesterday when Mr. Todd appeared as counsel for the government in the case of the three alleged violators of the court's injunction at Needles, who have been cited for contempt.

His appearance was a surprise to Hugh L. Dickson, who represented the strikers, and he did not hesitate to say so.

"I though this was a contest between the Santa Fe Railway and the strikers," said Mr. Dickson, "but here a special representative of Atty.-Gen. Daugherty is in court to push the case. This seems to be another instance where the Federal court is cluttered up with cases that ought to be tried in the State courts."

Mr. Todd said he was here to care for the interest of the government in the strike cases, and he thought he was acting well within his authority as the direct representative of the government at Washington.

An agreement was reached that the three defendants—Albert Trautman, Thomas Brunner and Joseph Strecklein—appear in Judge Bledsoe's court Thursday morning for the hearing.

Pleads Guilty to White Slave Act Violation

Euphemil Sahdala, a New York merchant engaged in foreign trade, and a native of Santo Domingo, pleaded guilty to a violation of the Mann white slave law in Judge Sawtelle's department, yesterday, and was fined $1000, which he paid.

The girl in the case, Miss Genevieve Sahdala, aged 19, years, a half-sister of the defendant, was brought to Los Angeles from New York, in June, and they registered as man and wife at the Lankershim Hotel. Later on they took an apartment on Alvarado street.

In a statement made by the girl, she said her relative had told her that it was not unlawful for relatives to marry, although no ceremony between them had ever been performed. Coming across the continent they occupied a drawing-room together. Miss Sahdala is a Syrian. She will be sent back to her home in Santo Domingo by the immigration authorities.

OBJECT TO DEEP RUTS

Council Frowns on Digging Up of Streets for Mains

The City Council took steps yesterday to bring to an end the practice of the public utility corporations, as well as city departments, in digging up newly paved and improved streets in order to lay sewer pipes and gas mains. President Criswell yesterday cited to the Council the case of Coringa Drive in the Garvanza section, which was recently graded and oiled, and is now being torn up in order that a sewer may be laid.

The Council, on motion of Councilman Wheeler, called the City Engineer for an explanation as to why the sewer work was not done before the street was improved. The Councilmen are determined to have a system installed that will prevent the destruction of expensive street pavements for which property owners have paid.

CIRCUS .. TO .. VISIT .. HOSPITAL

Big Show Making Trip to Crippled Kiddies

A Study in Contrasts
Babylon, the giant elephant, and Princess Teeny.

THIS wil lbe the day of days for the crippled children and the shut-ins at the Children's Orthopaedic Hospital School on South Hope street. They can't go to the circus, so the circus is coming to them.

At 10 o'clock this morning, one of the rings from the great Ringling Brothers and Barnum and Bailey Circus will be set up on the lawn in front of the hospital building. The clowns and acrobats, performing monkeys and dogs, tumblers and gymnasts all will be on hand. The circus band will blare joyful tunes so that the youngsters will forget their pains and aches in watching the wonders from spangleland. As this will be the first visit a circus has ever made to the Orthopaedic Hospital School, many of the little patients will see the clowns and acts for the first time.

At the great Bellevue Hospital in New York City the Ringling Brothers annually send a miniature circus. To the thousands of young crippled patients the event is regarded as important as Christmas Day. In Boston, Philadelphia and Chicago, the children's crippled homes are likewise visited each year. So the Los Angeles youngsters who are to be likewise favored, have a treat in store.

DECISION IN OIL AND GAS CASE FILED

Court Finds Infringement in Action Over Separator; Accounting Ordered

A decision of importance to gas and oil interests of California was received yesterday at the office of the clerk of the United States District Court from U. S. District Judge Wolverton, giving his opinion in a case presented to the court in this city some months ago. The style of the litigation was Francis M. Townsend, M. G. Trumble and Alfred J. Gutzler, operating as the Trumble Gas Trap Company, against David G. Lorraine.

The action was for alleged violation of a patent having to do with taking off gasses from oil. Frederic Lyon and Leonard Lyon, and Frank L. A. Graham, represented the complainants, and Charles Bagg the defendant.

The court found that the plaintiffs were the rightful owners of a patent on a crude oil and natural gas separator. It was said that the same was infringed by the defendant's reissue patent of Nov. 8, 1921. The original patent had been issued the plaintiffs June 16, 1918.

The patent provides a more efficient way of separating the gas from the oil, whereby a greater proportion of oil value was secured than had previously been derived by the use of a gas trap. The utility of the complainant's patent was abundantly proven, in the opinion of the court. An accounting is ordered.

Return of Dog Causes Search for Its Owner

What tragedy of the hills was enacted in the San Gabriel River section, was a question raised yesterday at the Sheriff's office when a report was received regarding the mysterious disappearance of John B. Kirts, a business man of Lankershim.

The disappearance of Kirts, who left his home in Lankershim on August 23 for a fishing trip in the San Gabriel River district, was reported after the man's faithful Alaskan husky dog crawled, weak and tired back to the Kirts's home. Mrs. Kirts reported that the dog came home, thin and emaciated, with its feet worn and bleeding and its neck chafed from a small rope about its neck. She said it appeared that the dog had been dragging some heavy object.

It was feared that Kirts had met with an accident and had tried to avail himself of the aid of the dog to get where help could be given him. The rope had been fitted about the dog's neck as is a harness.

Superintendent of Criminal Investigator Manning stated that forest rangers had searched the river fishing district, but were not only unable to find Kirts, but saw no rtaces of his automobile, in which he left home. Further search will be made in the hope of being able to aid the man, if he has met with an accident.

Carnival and Exposition to Open Tomorrow

Many thousand persons are expected to attend the four-day Trade Exposition and Carnival which opens tomorrow at Huntington Park under the auspices of the Chamber of Commerce of that community. It will be the second annual event of its kind, and will run through the week.

Seventy-five local exhibitors will have their displays in the big tent which will be the center of the exposition. The carnival will spill over onto the Pacific Boulevard, which skirts the exposition ground.

A feature of the display will be the automobile exhibit in the center of the exposition tent. The Parent-Teachers Association exhibit will be another big drawing card.

The affair will open tomorrow afternoon when children will be admitted free, but the formal opening will not occur until in the evening, when the opening address will be made by Dr. Rufus Von KleinSmid. J. N. Scouler, president of the Huntington Park Merchants' Association, will preside at the opening ceremonies.

Music will be played throughout the four days of the fete by Hubbell's Singing Band, and in addition, in the line of entertainment there will be a variety of vaudeville acts.

NEW RULING ON CAPITAL STOCK TAX

Federal Supreme Court in Advices to Local Agent Supplies Details

Collector Goodcell yesterday received from Washington the syllabus of a decision of the United States Supreme Court, involving the construction of the capital stock section of the Revenue Act. It holds that the capital stock tax is not a property tax, but an excise tax imposed upon the privilege of doing business in corporate form, as a going concern, and the value of the privilege is the obvious way to measure the tax.

The term "capital stock" is construed to indicate an appraisal of the value of the capital stock arrived at by considering various factors of value, by the exercise of judgment, rather than an auditor's exact determination of the value of the net worth of tangible assets.

Regarding consideration of surplus and undivided profits, the court holds that in estimating capital stock value, the computation must not be restricted to the par value of the capital stock, plus surplus and undivided profits, but while these two factors must be considered, others must not be eliminated.

In laying down rules for the computation of value of capital stock, the court says there should be considered in addition to the net worth of the corporate assets as shown by the books, the franchises, outstanding contracts, good will, earning capacity of the corporation and the market value of its stock over the preceding year.

It is contended that if these intangibles were eliminated as factors of value, the appraisal would indicate an exact value rather than a fair value of the capital stock as of the end of the fiscal year, and not the "fair average value for the preceding year" as provided by the Revenue Act.

MOVE MUCH FREIGHT

Southern Pacific Reports Record for Carloading Broken

Freight traffic on the Southern Pacific lines at present is especially heavy, according to figures obtained yesterday from T. H. Williams, assistant general manager of the company.

The reports received at Williams's office show that for the twenty-four-hour period, ending at midnight September 5, a total of 4053 cars were loaded on the Pacific system of the Southern Pacific. This was the heaviest day's loading on the records of the system.

This exceeded by 281 cars the number of cars loaded on the record day of last year, which came in the month of October.

AUTO VICTIM DEAD; YOUNG DRIVER HELD

David R. Lee of 324 North Vendome avenue, who was struck down at the intersection of Spring and Temple streets Saturday morning by an automobile driven by Pedro C. Perez, aged 17 years, of 3671 Rolle street, died early yesterday morning at the California Hospital, according to a report at the Coroner's office. Perez is being held by the police pending a Coroner's inquest.

The Pay Envelope Goes Home Now

Not one of all this country's millions of pay envelopes goes over the bar of the corner saloon today. Money that men spent for liquor a few years ago now buys comforts and conveniences for their homes, the little luxuries of life for their wives, education for their children.

And because sober men earn more plentifully and spend more wisely, there is often a surplus left over, for the savings bank, some good bonds, or a piece of real estate.

Prohibition, which took the pay envelopes away from the saloon, is now being attacked by a strongly-organized and heavily-financed group of men who want to resume the manufacture and sale of liquor under the protection of the law. As an opening wedge, the sale of "Beer and Light Wines" is to be legalized, if these interests can have their way.

The "wets" have forty organizations at work, in a nation-wide campaign, the object of which is to elect to Congress and to state and city offices men opposed to the Eighteenth Amendment and the Volstead Act.

You can learn how the forces opposed to Prohibition are operating, in all parts of the country, by reading the articles now appearing daily in The Christian Science Monitor.

Mutual Water Companies to Yield Property

[EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH.]

EL CENTRO, Sept. 11.—November 1 has been fixed as the date for the final absorption of the mutual water companies by the irrigation district, and Secretary F. H. McIver has today sent out notices to all companies to be prepared at that time or as soon thereafter as possible to turn over their properties to the district. The notice is also going to the No. 3 Company of Calipatria. That company has filed with the board a petition seeking to withdraw from the district and the representatives of the company and the district are endeavoring to draw up a contract to that effect which will be legal. In the event it is found that a legal contract cannot be drawn, it is presumed that No. 3 will go ahead and join the others in turning over its property to the district.

The hotel will be four stories high and will contain 167 rooms. The army has long felt the need for such a building.

New Submarines Start on Trip to East Coast

Unconvoyed and manned by only skeleton crews, the giant submarines S-34 and S-35 left the Los Angeles Harbor Submarine Base at 7 o'clock last night on their run to New London, Ct. Fresh from the yards of their builders at San Francisco, the huge submersibles are being sent to the east coast for the installation of heavier crankshafts.

Both are carrying fuel supplies for 4000-mile trip and their only scheduled stop en route is Balboa, Canal Zone. The two vessels are in command of Lieut. E. L. Vanderkloott.

DENY SUBMARINE TOWED BY VESSEL

From Groton, Ct., where the United States submarine S-30 is undergoing repairs, comes a strenuous denial of the published statement that that vessel was towed by the U.S.S. Nevada from Acapulco, Mex., to New London, Ct.

Lieut.-Commander H. B. Beery, commanding the vessel, declares that the personnel of the submarine bitterly resent the implication that their vessel had to be towed, considering it a reflection on their ability. The U.S.S. S-30, the officer declared, broke her starboard crank shaft while en route to New London, but continued on her way using her port engine, and without the escort of any surface vessel.

News of Ships and Sailings at Pacific Ports

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE.]

SAN DIEGO, Sept. 14.—Notice that the Munson Line, one of the largest of American steamship companies, will soon become a competitor in the intercoastal trade, with ports of call from San Diego to Vancouver, was received here today. Vessels soon to be sent to the Pacific Coast by the Munson Line include the Munaires, Mundelta, Murio and Mundindies, loading at Baltimore, Philadelphia, New York and Galveston.

Increased service between Pacific Coast and Gulf ports by vessels of the American-Hawaiian fleet was made here today. The steamer Ipswich, latest addition to the company's fleet plying between the Atlantic and Pacific, is now en route to this coast from Charleston and Savannah.

The destroyers Rathburn, Talbott, Waters, Dent, Dorsey, Lea, Chandler, Southard, Hovey, Long, Broome and Alden steamed from Midway Island for Honolulu yesterday, according to word received here today.

The transport Argonne, bound for Hampton Roads, sailed today from this port, carrying a large number of naval officers and members of their families.

TACOMA, Sept. 11.—Sunday and Monday showed a lively day in shipping lines at Tacoma. Cargo movement in general was heavy both in coasting and foreign business.

The Toyooka Maru of the N. Y. K. Line was an arrival Sunday afternoon and will take the largest cargo out of the vessels shifting here Sunday. The Japanese steamship went to Puget Sound flour mill and will go from this mill to the Balfour dock to complete with about 2000 tons of wheat. The Toyooka Maru will sail Thursday, it is expected.

The Amazon, which sailed Sunday will return within a few days to complete taking outbound freight. The vessel is at present in Seattle loading. The work of loading the Hamburg Maru is being carried out at the local flour mills. The vessel will complete loading at the Puget Sound Lumber Company mill.

The F. S. Loop was an arrival Sunday morning at the Defiance mill.

After loading a part cargo of lumber at this mill the Loop was to shift this evening to Vancouver to complete loading.

The Latin American Line steamer Regulus arrived at the Puget Sound Lumber Company mill Saturday evening to load lumber for west coast ports. The Regulus is due to sail Monday night.

From San Francisco the Admiral Dewey was an arrival Monday morning and sailed in the afternoon for California. The vessel loaded at the Commercial dock. The President Grant, after loading at the local mills sailed for Manila last night.

Deep-sea ship arrivals for the month of August as compiled by Harbormaster W. G. Rowland, show a nice gain over the corresponding month of last year. August just passed had 105 deep-sea vessels credited to the port with an aggregate tonnage of 272,119. The departures for a similar time numbered 105, with tonnage of 255,625 tons.

August, 1921, had 87 deep-sea vessels arriving of 195,871 tons, and departures of 91 with 199,087 tons. All Tacoma docks for the month report an active business. Indications are that September will show as great a gain as August in the amount of marine business, Harbormaster Rowland states.

PORT NOTES

Four 11,000-ton freighters of the Isthmian Line alone were in port at Los Angeles Harbor yesterday, handling an aggregate of nearly 13,000 tons of cargo. They were the Steel Navigator and Steel Seafarer, from New York, and the Birmingham City and Steel Worker from San Francisco for the Atlantic Coast.

The largest fresh fruit shipment ever leaving a Pacific Coast port for the United Kingdom or Europe is being loaded on the British motorship Loch Katrine of the Royal Mail Steam Packet Line at the port today. It consists of 4300 cases of fresh pears, 500 cases of fresh apples and 20,000 cases of Southern California canned fruit. Shipment of the big fruit cargo to Liverpool and London follows the successful transportation on the last trip to Europe of the Loch Katrine of a consignment of fresh cherries. The 13,000-ton motorship has one of the largest refrigerator spaces of any cargo carrier afloat.

Frank W. Relyea, district director for the United States Shipping Board, and Capt. Leo Curtis, one of the country's foremost marine authorities, were among the San Franciscans who sailed for Honolulu yesterday on the maiden voyage of the City of Los Angeles.

Construction of another passenger liner similar to the Avalon is being considered by the Wilmington Transportation Company for its Los Angeles-Catalina service, according to an announcement made last night. The new vessel would be in service with the opening of next year's summer season.

WEALTHY MERCHANT KILLED

[EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH.]

SANTA BARBARA, Sept. 11.—News of the death of J. U. Northman, Santa Barbara and Santa Maria merchant, who was killed Sunday night just south of Templeton while motoring to Paso Robles Hot Springs, reached Santa Barbara this morning and shocked the city. Northman had been regarded as one of the foremost business men of this county. He was alone at the time of the accident. His car turned over on him while making a curve. He was 47 years old. The body is expected here early tomorrow morning.

HEAVY SALES ON EXCHANGE

Many Shares Change Hands; September Record

Strike Settlements Stimulate Market Activity

[EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH.]

NEW YORK, Sept. 11.—Sales on the stock exchange ran beyond a million shares for the third time in September; no million share market having occurred either in August or July. Railway shares were uniformly strong; a good many industrial shares also went higher, offset, however, by irregular declines in some stocks of that group. As a whole, and especially in the Liberty loan department, the bond market was strengthened by the Treasury's announcement of a 3 3-4 per cent rate for a $200,000,000 one-year loan. This rate does not differ from the rate at which a loan for a similar term was placed last June. But a twelve-months loan placed in September is a much better measure of autumn money market probabilities than is a similar transaction at the beginning of the summer season.

In today's rather general decline of foreign exchange rates, both the franc and the mark went to the lowest values reached this month, although not to the August figures. This reaction may or may not have been connected with the disagreement between Belgium and Germany over minor points in the moratorium compromise. There was never any reason to expect that Germany would not propose some unacceptable conditions, nor was there any reason to imagine that the arrangement for a moratorium would be upset as a consequence.

Nothing happened over the Sunday holiday from the financial viewpoint except the return to work by the hard coal miners, the preparations of labor to contest the Daugherty injunction and a good deal of high-flown oratory by the conspicuous labor leaders.

The injunction matter did not interest the financial markets, except as opening very ill advisedly, an opportunity for the striking unions to score a point. The formal ending of the hard coal strike was chiefly interesting because it terminated the formidable labor demonstrations of the period and because, with the movement of both kinds of coal resumed in maximum quantity, the vital question of motive power to haul and distribute all the freight applying for transportation will soon be fairly tested. At present the probabilities of the matter are perhaps best indicated by the composure with which the fuel situation is discussed, compared with the high pitch of hysteria which was beginning to prevail in the third week of August.

WHAT'S BEHIND ACTIVE STOCKS

Royal Dutch, 57 1-8

NEW YORK, Sept. 11.—The Royal Dutch Company for the working of petroleum wells in Netherlands, Indies, was first launched on May 29, 1890, in the Hague, Kingdom of the Netherlands. Originally a local enterprise of the Dutch East Indies, the company developed into international importance when in 1902 it became affiliated with the Shell Transport and Trading Company of London and the De Rothschild petroleum interests of Paris. A merger of the Royal Dutch and the Shell interests was effected in 1907.

The combine, in addition to its extensive East Indies possessions, owns exclusive or controlling interests in important oil fields in Rumania, Russia, Egypt, Panama, Persia and the United States. The Royal Dutch Shell combine owned the entire capital stock of the Shell Company of California, Roxana Petroleum Company, Ozark Pipeline Corporation and Matador Petroleum Company. These interests have been consolidated with those of the Union Oil Company of Delaware.

Royal Dutch Company's outstanding capitalization in florins and the equivalent in dollars is divided as follows: Priority shares, 4½ per cent cumulative, 28,500,000 florins ($11,457,000;) preference shares, 4 per cent, 1,500,000 florins ($603,000;) ordinary shares 321,457,000 florins ($129,190,063.) The shares traded in on the New York Stock Exchange are known as New York shares, and they represent an exchange basis of three for one subshare of 100 florins par value.

On Dec. 31, 1921, the company had current assets of 133,593,423 florins, against current liabilities of 4,128,110 florins. Surplus account at the end of 1921 stood at 83,468,258 florins. Net assets applicable to the 570,000 shares (par 100 florins) of ordinary stock and 1500 shares of preference stock amounted to 104,098,178 florins after allowing par for all classes of stock, or the equivalent of 182.15 florins per share.

For the year ended Dec. 31, 1921, the company had balance for dividends of 104,096,178 florins, compared with 129,450,364 the preceding year. Range of New York shares: High, 145 in 1918; low, 47¼ in 1922; last sale, 57⅛.

Grain Prices Hold Within Narrow Range

[EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH.]

CHICAGO, Sept. 11.—While grain prices held within relatively narrow limits the undertone of the markets was easy. This was due more to lack of speculative interest than any material increase in selling pressure. Wheat had a range of 1⅛ to 1¼ cents and closed ⅝ to ¾ cent lower. Corn was off ⅛ to ½ cent and rye a like amount. Oats finished unchanged to ⅛ cent higher with September [illegible] over December at the last.

DAILY TRADE TALK

Investment Market Looks Better; Business is Sound; School Bonds Sale; News Melange

BY CHAPIN HALL

Securities, both utility and municipal, are gradually being assimilated, and with better digestive conditions, prices are likely to move slowly forward. With the passing of income-tax day on Friday there will be greater liquidity of funds, and the several impending large issues of especial interest to Southern California investors are sure to find satisfactory absorption. A cruise among the bond men yesterday showed a healthy optimism over business for the remainder of the year.

Following a very short period of inactivity, explained by the presence of the holiday season, the municipal bond business improved noticeably during the last week in August. Dealers are looking forward to a period of rising prices and an active demand for bonds during the next few months, according to the Daily Bond Buyer of New York. A marked falling off in the output of new bonds issues by States and municipalities in August was a favorable factor in the market for such issues and if, as is indicated, the new issues during coming months are put on in reduced volume there may develop an actual scarcity of the higher grade municipal issues.

The following table shows total issuance of American State and municipal bonds in August and the eight months ending August 31, for the last ten years:

	August	Eight Months Ending August 31.

SCHOOL BOND SALE

The sale of $1,000,000 Los Angeles City School District and $1,000,000 Los Angeles High School 4 3-4 per cent bonds yesterday, was attended with more than usual interest, ten syndicate bids, representing nearly all of the large local and eastern firms, being entered. The issues, both of which are due from 1923 to 1962, were awarded to a syndicate composed of the William R. Compton Company and Drake, Riley & Thomas, for a premium of $43,280 per issue. This price is equivalent to a yield basis of 4.40 per cent and is one of the highest paid for a California municipal issue this year.

The other nine bids for the issues ranged to as low as $29,050 premium for each issue. The higher offers were as follows: William R. Staats Company, E. H. Rollins & Sons, Cyrus, Peirce & Co., Bank of Italy and the Anglo California Trust Company, $41,120; First Securities Company, Anglo London, Paris National Bank, Eldredge & Co., Stacy, Brown & Co., Kissel Kinnicutt & Co., $39,400; Guaranty Trust Company, Blyth, Witter & Co., Estabrook & Co., Halsey, Stuart & Co., $37,700; Security Trust and Savings Bank, National City Company, Bond & Goodwin & Tucker, California Company, R. H. Moulton & Co., Mercantile Trust Company, $37,156.

BUSINESS IS SOUND

No clearer demonstration could be asked, according to a report from the United States Department of Commerce, to indicate the soundness of the fundamental conditions underlying the present business revival than the persistence with which commerce and industry have progressed in the face of recent serious obstacles. The labor difficulties through which we are now passing would, under many conditions, have completely demoralized business; instead, real progress continues to be made. There is reason to suppose that the economic losses occasioned by the coal and railroad strike will make themselves felt for some months to come. Disturbances of this character, affecting basic industries, cannot take place without having to be paid for in the long run, and it is possible that the full force of those losses will be felt more severely in future months.

LOS ANGELES LEADS

The fact that Los Angeles now ranks with New York, Illinois and Pennsylvania, the nation's centers of population and finance, as a producer of Federal taxes, is an amazing commentary upon the way in which this city has forged to the front in the past few years. The Los Angeles district leads the whole United States in per capita income tax and percentage of collections for 1922.

In number of personal returns filed California ranks fourth and in cabaret admission taxes second, with New York first. California is fourth in jewelry tax, third in tax on paintings third in tax on silk stockings, etc., fourth in tax on club memberships and dues, third in number of brokers and fourth in soft drink tax. Only New York, Pennsylvania and Illinois pass California in the collection of these taxes.

Personal net incomes returned in California for 1922 showed an increase of more than $1,000,000,000 over the incomes reported for 1916.

FURTHER EVIDENCE

The automobile turnover (economic not physical) is one of the most important financial activities in Los Angeles, and constantly involves a daily balance of many millions. This city has 327 cars to every 1000 of population, and a death rate of eighty-nine per 100,000 cars. While Los Angeles leads all other cities in the percentage of population killed by automobiles, with 391.0 per million population, Chicago, with but sixty cars to every 1000 citizens, leads the list with a death rate of 321.5 per 100,000 autos.

LOOKING WESTWARD

Will Chicago or New York send the largest delegation to the Del Monte convention of the Investment Bankers' Association of America next month. At this time Chicago has a lead for first honors with forty-eight members signed up; New York following with thirty-nine. In addition to officially appointed delegates many eastern bond houses will send alternates. Six special trains will leave Chicago September 30, bound for Los Angeles, where entertainment will be afforded before moving on to the convention location.

EXCEPTION NOTED

E. A. Adey, who signs himself a "Citizen of Houston," takes issue with deductions made by Prof. Clayton D. Carus of the University of Southern California in an interview printed in this column, wherein Prof. Carus makes some comparisons to the disadvantage of Houston as a seaport. In the interests of fair play the high spots in Mr. Adey's statement are given:

"The channel and harbor has not cost $60,000,000. There is no reloading to barges, and there is twenty-eight feet of water at the wharves in Houston, and this is the depth of the channel to the Gulf of Mexico. Vessels unload and load at the wharves for all part of the world. Exports so far loaded this year exceed $70,000,000. There are eight or ten large refineries on the channel which are constantly loading and shipping to foreign and other ports. It would be just as absurd to say there are two ships a week entering this harbor as it would be to say four ships a week enter Los Angeles Harbor. Houston is the largest cotton market in the South and it costs less to handle cotton in that port than elsewhere, owing to improved warehouse and other facilities."

BUSINESS NEWS

A syndicate composed of the Continental and Commercial Trust and Savings Bank, Blyth, Witter & Co., Guaranty Company of New York, Halsey, Stuart & Co. and Spencer Trask & Co. offered yesterday an issue of $21,000,000 Kansas City Power and Light Company first mortgage thirty-year 5 per cent gold bonds, series "A," due 1952, at 93, to yield 5.47 per cent.

Bonds are dated Sept. 1, 1922, and are callable at 105 to September, 1946; thereafter to Sept. 1, 1950 at 102½ and thereafter at 100.

The Kansas City Power and Light Company which operates without competition in Kansas City, Mo, and also wholesales and retails electric current in fourteen neighboring counties of Kansas and Missouri, shows net earnings for the twelve months ended July 3, 1922, of approximately two and three-fourth times interest requirements at this issue.

With this issue of bonds, the company has contracted to sell 25,000 shares of its first preferred stock and 50,000 shares of its common stock, the proceeds of which, with the sale of these first mortgage bonds, will be sufficient to retire all present outstanding funded indebtedness, leaving a substantial sum to be expended on additional property.

These bonds are secured by a direct first mortgage on all fixed property of the company, which is valued at approximately $34,500,000.

FALL BUYING

Retailers from all over the country are now in the eastern wholesale markets buying their fall requirements and while recent reports say that this demand is very heavy, indications in most lines are devoid of anything in the nature of a boom. It seems firmly established at this time that the retailers, while optimistic concerning the nex tfew months, are not sufficiently encouraged by the status of trade at present to make large commitments for merchandise. The hand-to-mouth policy of buying evidently is to continue for several months, judging by the caution that buyers still show in the wholesale markets.

NEW ARIZONA ISSUE

E. L. McCormick & Co. will offer today at par a new issue of $450,000 Arizona Packing Company first mortgage ten-year 7½ per cent sinking fund gold bonds. The issue is callable at 107 to 1927 and at 103 thereafter. The Arizona Packing Company controls the meat packing business in the State of Arizona, operating sixteen retail markets, as well as its packing plants. "Earnings during the past two years have equaled two and a half times interest charges. The company and its predecessors have been in business twenty-five years.

RETIRE SWIFT BONDS?

A rumor was current yesterday in Chicago to the effect that Swift & Co. would shortly retire all its outstanding funded indebtedness, with the exception of its first mortgage bonds. However, no official confirmation of this report was obtainable.

DURANT OFFERING

Durant Motors stockholders are to be offered an opportunity to subscribe for the stock of Durant's new promotion, Star Motors. Shares in the subsidiary company will be marketed at $15 and will be sold on a partial payment plan. Shares not taken by the stockholders will be offered to the general public. The Star car will be the world's lowest priced automobile of standard units, being priced at $348 f.o.b. Detroit, compared to $443 for the Ford.

FOOD IN STORAGE

Butter supplies began to accumulate in Los Angeles last week after a long period of decline. Total supplies on hand now are 1,268,494 pounds, compared to 1,263,896 last week and 652,819 pounds a year ago. Cheese, apple and onion holdings also increased last week, but eggs and potatoes declined. Following are the totals of the various commodities now held in local warehouses: Eggs, 178,659 cases; cheese, 2,238,312 pounds; apples, 16,725 boxes; potatoes, 63,899 sacks, and onions 2190 sacks.

TICKER TICKS

Mellon offer $200,000,000 3¾ per cent one-year new treasury certificates today. This is the lowest rate offered since the war.

Textile mills in Northern New England offer increased wages of about 25 per cent to end the strike.

Railroads of the country in the first seven months of 1922, ordered 95,199 freight cars, an increase of 95,763 over the same period of 1921.

CONTINENTAL AND COMMERCIAL TRUST AND SAVINGS BANK, CHICAGO, CORPORATE TRUSTEE

Mr. Joseph F. Porter, President of the Kansas City Power & Light Company, has summarized his letter regarding these bonds as follows:

BUSINESS: The Kansas City Power & Light Company controls the electric light and power business in Kansas City, Missouri, and also sells, either at wholesale or retail, electric current used in portions of fourteen nearby counties in Missouri and Kansas. The total population of the territory served is approximately 575,000.

PROPERTY: The physical property includes three electric generating stations with an aggregate installed normal capacity of 84,150 K.W.; 36 sub-stations with transformer capacity of over 95,000 K.W.; 207 miles of high tension transmission lines; 316 miles of underground cable; 1,252 miles of low tension distributing lines, and coal rights in about 7,494 acres of valuable coal lands. Of the installed capacity, 60,000 K.W. (now being increased to 90,000 K.W.) is located at the new Northeast Power Plant, which is one of the most modern and efficient steam generating stations in the country, and is so designed that its present installed capacity may be further increased to an ultimate capacity of 240,000 K.W.

PURPOSE OF ISSUE: In addition to the sale of this issue of $21,000,000 First Mortgage Thirty-Year 5% Gold Bonds, the Company has contracted to sell 25,000 shares of its First Preferred Stock and 50,000 shares of its Common Stock for a total of approximately $5,000,000 cash. The proceeds of the above mentioned bonds and stock will be sufficient to retire all present outstanding funded indebtedness (including purchase money obligations), and after deducting a sum equivalent to present floating indebtedness (incurred entirely for new construction), will leave a substantial sum to be expended on additional property. This financing will result in a reduction of approximately $220,000 per annum in interest on funded debt; and, including interest on floating indebtedness, the total saving to the Company in interest charges will be over $350,000 annually.

SECURITY OF BONDS: Upon completion of the present financing these bonds will be secured by a direct first mortgage on all fixed property of the Company, and will constitute its only funded debt. The total value of the property of the Company, as recognized by the Public Service Commission of Missouri for rate making purposes, is approximately $28,500,000. Adding to this the value of 7,494 acres of coal rights, the addition to the power house and other new property under construction, all amounting to over $6,000,000, total property value is approximately $34,500,000.

EARNINGS: For the twelve months ended July 31, 1922, gross earnings of the properties were $7,306,654. Net earnings before depreciation were $3,506,308 and after depreciation in accordance with mortgage requirements, were $2,943,025. Annual interest requirements on this issue of First Mortgage Bonds will be $1,050,000.

MAINTENANCE AND DEPRECIATION FUND: The Mortgage will provide for an annual maintenance and depreciation fund, amounting to 12½% of gross earnings, as outlined in the President's letter.

FRANCHISES: The franchise situation is eminently satisfactory. The Company is advised by counsel that the electric light and power franchises, both in Missouri and Kansas, are, with minor exceptions, perpetual.

PRICE 93 AND INTEREST, YIELDING 5.47%.

Issuance of these bonds is subject to the consent of stockholders, to the approval of counsel, and to authorization by the Public Service Commission of Missouri and the Kansas Public Utilities Commission. All legal matters will be passed upon by Messrs. Mayer, Meyer, Austrian & Platt, Chicago, and Messrs. Rushmore, Bisbee and Stern, New York City. Interim receipts, exchangeable for temporary or definitive bonds when, as and if issued and accepted by us, will probably be ready for delivery about September 28th, 1922.

The land mortgage is one of the oldest forms of investment, and since the security is in basic land values, is one of the safest forms of investment.

Real Estate Bonds

When the bonds cover residence properties which have been largely sold on time payments and the contracts of sale are deposited in trust to secure the issue, such bonds have an added security.

The first mortgage bonds of the Southern Extension Company possess this attractive feature. They may be purchased in maturities less than five years to yield 6.50%.

NEW YORK STOCK EXCHANGE

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE.]

NEW YORK, Sept. 11.—Extensive buying of steels and equipments, several of which were pushed up to new records, and pool operations in specialties, which resulted in a number of substantial gains, featured today's session of the stock market. Profit-taking in other parts of the list, combined with speculative selling in Studebaker, Chandler, and some of the foreign oils, gave the market a spotty appearance at times.

United States Steel common was one of the individual features, touching 106, its highest level since 1920. This was attributed in part to the monthly tonnage report issued Saturday afternoon which showed an increase of approximately 174,000 tons in unfilled orders, or nearly 125,000 more than conservative estimates had forecast. However, the increase was due in part to inability to make deliveries, owing to the rail congestion and coal shortage.

American Steel Foundries, which jumped up 3 5-8 points, was the outstanding stock in the equipment group, in which several new high records were made, American Locomotive, Baldwin, Railway Steel, and Pullman all held at the year's best prices, the net gains ranging from fractions to 3 1-4 points.

Food shares also were pushed up in spirited fashion. Austin Nichols was heavily traded in, closing at a net gain of 2 1-2 points. National Biscuit was up 1 and Beechnut, after an early display of strength, eased off a fraction below Saturday's close on realizing sales.

Railroad shares were a bit unsettled at the beginning of the session, but good buying support set in toward the close and some substantial gains were made, especially by the dividend-paying group. Union Pacific broke through to a new high, presumably in response to reports of a possible distribution of some of its treasury securities and Atchison duplicated its previous high, of 105. New York Central, Rock Island, Northern Pacific, Missouri Pacific Preferred, and "Soo" common and preferred, also made good progress. Independent steels followed the lead of United States Steel, common, Bethlehem "B," Republic and Gulf States, each advancing a point.

Mexican oils were inclined to heaviness most of the session, but they recovered well toward the close. Mexican Petroleum and the Mexican Seaboard issues each made small fractional gains. General Asphalt, common and preferred, were heavy throughout, declining approximately one-half and 2 points, respectively. Total sales were 1,010,000 shares.

Call money opened at 5 per cent but hardened to 4 1-2 in the final hour. The commercial paper market also was quiet. Foreign exchange rates were reactionary in sympathy with the London rates, which, in turn, were influenced by the military developments in the Near East. Demand sterling and the continental rates all showed recessions, the German mark falling below 7 cents per 100.

Barrington Says

Why is it that most men who are reputed to be wealthy are nearly always "broke" or "badly bent" so far as ready cash is concerned? Why do wealthy men frequently put a 7% mortgage on their home, "soak" the family jewels in a bank for 7% or 8% and otherwise borrow as much as they can on every kind of security?

The answer is that such procedure is good business. Men who know the best roads of good finance know that money can and will produce a return of from 25% to 50% per annum, and do it with absolute safety. Then why shouldn't they borrow money at 7% and turn it over for themselves at twice or three times that rate?

Our business is to put your money to work at the highest salaried safety job in the financial world. We are a financial institution, fostered by reputable business men, engaged in a business that is fair, open and doubly safe. We turn your money over and over in the purchase of first mortgages, trust deeds and other sound securities. It's the interest, compound interest, discounts, bonuses, etc., that increase the earning power of money. Our stockholders get all that the dollar can earn, and all that it does earn.

MEXICO TO GET VALLEY COTTON

First Shipment to Mills is Through Los Angeles

Export Duty Saved; Water Route Cheaper

Banker Sees Great Promise in New Business

J. Dabney Day, vice-president of the First National Bank of Los Angeles, yesterday announced the closing of a deal by which Claggett, Gooch & Northcross will ship 5000 bales of Imperial Valley cotton from the Mexican side to Cia Industrial Campanie de Orizaba, Orizaba, Mex. The sale was made through J. De la Torre y Hijo of the City of Mexico, which is the largest cotton selling agency in the Mexican capital.

This shipment, which will be made in December and January next, will be valued at approximately $625,000, is the first shipment of Pacific-Southwest cotton to Mexican mills and is the beginning of what probably will become very close business relations between the Imperial Valley growers and Mexican manufacturers. This shipment of 5000 bales is 1000 bales more than went through the harbor in 1920.

By selling this cotton within Mexico, the growers below the Mexican line save export duty of approximately $4 per bale. The shipment is to be made through Los Angeles Harbor, and the cotton comes from the largest cotton ranch in the world. This particular shipment was grown by A. N. Shenk of Calexico, who has 10,000 acres in cotton south of the line. Shipment by means of the Los Angeles Harbor means a saving of approximately $1.50 per bale, or a total of some $7500 over rail deliveries.

MARKS NEW ERA

Mr. Day said yesterday, "We have been financing cotton shipments to Liverpool and the Carolinas, to New England and to Japan, as well as to France, and other European countries. This is the first shipment made to Mexico—the first of what will be in the future one of our best potential markets for cotton raised south of the Mexican line. Very few people really realize the fact that the boll weevil, the pest which makes cotton growing in the South hazardous, is practically nonexistent in the Pacific-Southwest, because the boll weevil thrives best in hot, moist territory, while our cotton lands are hot and dry. The cotton areas in the Pacific-Southwest are greatly increasing their production and their markets are constantly extended.

"Claggett, Gooch & Northcross have been heavy shippers of our cotton to Liverpool. J. J. Boswell has been shipping to France, while the Southern Products Company, which is the American organization which supplies the Mitsui people in Japan, have sent a great deal of cotton through this point to the Orient. It is of particular interest at the present time that there is almost a world famine in cotton and in face of that fact our short-staple cotton is running a full 1 1-16 inches or better in length.

"The fact that the First National was able to finance this shipment to Mexico probably will be but the forerunner of increased business between Los Angeles Harbor and the eastern seaboard of Mexico via the Panama Canal."

METAL MARKETS

[EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH.]

CLEVELAND, Sept. 11.—The Daily Metal Trade today says: "Prices for southern pig iron continue to grow stronger. Sales in small lots are reported at price range of $27.50 to $[illegible], Birmingham.

"The St. Louis market also is strong with calls for iron coming from many points outside the St. Louis district. Active blast furnaces in Canada have been cut down to two out of a total of twenty because of coal shortage. Furnaces are shipping iron from stock piles. Many foundries in New England with a supply of melt improved are making urgent calls for coke. English coke is sold to New England consumers at $19 to $20 per ton.

"Zinc is rising under the influence of a broad inquiry, much of it coming from galvanizers and some from brass mills. Sheet zinc advanced ¼ cent a pound. Copper is firm and the tin market dull."

Folks, I'm getting mighty close to that 4000-barrel pay in both my Wells at Santa Fe Springs. Well No. 1 drilling today at 3500 feet and going nicely.

Well No. 2 out in front and rambling at 3610. They both look like a million dollars. You think that bank won't pay off on me? "I'll say she is."

Have you seen the rig on my six-acre lease down there? Have you seen the boys setting up the boilers? Do you know I'll soon be drilling on this one now? Do you know if I wasn't dead sure of this territory, I wouldn't take a chance on putting you in on it?

Do you know it's going mighty fast and that you could stall around until it's too late to get in?

Better shoot the old check today. You know I started off on this one with $75,000 that was oversubscribed on my last issue.

THE COUNTRY OVER

[EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH.]

KANSAS CITY (Mo.) Sept. 11.—Extreme heat which has prevailed in this district has placed a check on fall buying, which normally opens early in September.

Summer clothes still predominate, and even fall millinery has not appeared. Building activities seem not to have been interrupted by the rail strike and its attendant uncertainties. August broke all records in Kansas City, Kan., and in this city.

Milling demand for wheat is spasmodic. The trade is not accumulating stock as is normal at this time, but is buying from hand to mouth to meet immediate requirements. This is attributed to the downward trend in grain prices. Weakness likewise prevails in fodder and the coarse grains. The wool and hide markets, however, have developed an improved tone.

CLEVELAND (O.) Sept. 11.—There has been a vast improvement in coal shipments through this port to upper lake regions this week, although the tonnage moved is still far below normal and probably will remain below normal the remainder of the season. Ore shipments down the lakes to Cleveland and other ports in August broke all records for any month in the last two years. Nine million tons was transported and despite rail transportation difficulties much of this has gone forward to the furnaces.

A few furnaces in this district were forced to bank their fires because of fuel shortage and these have resumed operations. While cancellation of orders by the Ford company has caused a letting up in Cleveland parts plants, the effect has not caused any of them to turn off steam.

COTTON UNDERGOES MODERATE DECLINE

[EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH.]

NEW YORK, Sept. 11.—Price movements were irregularly lower in quiet trading in today's cotton market. An early bulge of about 20 points directly following the first call met increased long selling and southern hedge pressure, which caused a reaction of a little under Saturday's final bids. There was little in the general situation to arouse fresh interest but reports of heavier rainfall in Gulf States over Sunday apparently chilled buying interest. It was evident that the market had been weakened technically to some extent by the sharp comeback late last week and that a natural reaction had to occur. Around midday the market was quiet and fairly steady at about 5 to 13 points net loss, but a decided increase in selling developed in the last half-hour and the market yielded slowly, a few stop-loss orders being uncovered on the way down, closing sales were around the low, off 20 to 33 points net.

Spot cotton was quiet, 30 points decline, 21.70 cents for middling upland.

Southern markets were: Galveston, 21c, 35 points decline; New Orleans, 21.13c, 25 points decline; Savannah, 21.13c, 22 points decline; Augusta, 21.19c, 25 points decline; Memphis, 21.25c, unchanged; Houston, 20.95c, 30 points decline; Little Rock, 20.75c, unchanged.

BOND QUOTATIONS

Liberties Active

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE.]

NEW YORK, Sept. 9.—Renewed activity in Liberty bonds, virtually all of which showed a firmer tone was the outstanding development in today's bond market, prices in which were mainly higher.

Secretary Mellon's announcement that the government would soon borrow around $200,000,000 at 3¾ per cent interest, caused an active inquiry for the Liberty issues, the fourth 4¼s of which touched 101 but reacted later to 100.84, a net gain of 18 points.

In the railroad group, new high records were established by Canadian Pacific debentures, Frisco adjustment 6s, Hudson and Manhattan refunding 5s and "Katy" adjustment 5s and 6s. Gains of 1 to 2 points also were registered by Seaboard stamped 6s, Minneapolis and St. Louis refunding 4s and Consolidated 5s and San Antonio and Aransas Pass 4s.

Sharp reactions took place, however, in Chicago and Great Western 4s and Atchison adjustment 4s stamped. There was a fairly good inquiry for public utilities, advances of 1 to 1½ points being noted in Toledo Traction 6s, Brooklyn Rapid Transit 7s and Portland Railway, Light and Power 7½s. Brooklyn Union Gas 7s followed a contrary course dropping nearly 2 points. Chile Copper convertible 6s, which moved to a new high level, was the only noteworthy strong spot in the industrial list.

Foreign bonds were generally firm, gains of a point being scored by Brazil 8s and Prague 7½s with considerable activity in the Dutch East Indies issues. Lyons 6s fell back a point.

Total sales, par value, were $14,109,000.

WE ARE GLAD TO DRILL IN YOUR WONDER OIL FIELDS

We hope you are as glad to see us drilling here as we are to be drilling. We believe we can do your fields full justice, and you may rest assured that we will conduct our activities as oil men—drilling only highly proven leases—operating only as oil men operate.

Our success has been built on properties that very few of you have ever seen, for they lie half way across the continent. We are proud of the fact that we have won your confidence—made you money—on properties that you have seen only through our eyes.

And it is a pleasure now to step out into your own great fields that lie so close to home and to let you watch our every move—see our derricks go up—our wells go down—oil come forth and dividends be paid month after month.

We bought five great California properties—two in breath-taking, amazing Santa Fe Springs—two in Signal Hill, where the oil sands are of an estimated 800-foot thickness and wells increase, instead of diminish their flow after being completed—one lease in Athens-on-the-Hill, conceded by geologists to be the next great California oil field.

These five leases totaling 60 acres—embracing three fields—go into our first California offering.

This is CALIFORNIAN—five leases—three fields—60 acres—two wells immediately—more to follow—no officers' salaries—no office rents—dividends every thirty days—the Fosters at the helm—you sharing in 17-32nds of every drop of oil that ever comes from the five leases CALIFORNIAN now owns and the additional leases she will own.

All of that is divided into only 4000 units and those units are priced at $100 each.

That's the CALIFORNIAN we are proud to offer—that's our introduction to you so far as operating at home is concerned. And CALIFORNIAN'S properties—its leases—are a guarantee, we feel, that the Fosters' first Golden State opportunity will surpass in dividends and in oil production even our six big successes in the Lone Star State — six wealth-making syndicates, paying dividends at a combined average rate of almost 50%.

To you who believe in the riches that are in the greatest oil fields California has ever seen—to you who know our record—to you who want a part of the wealth of Santa Fe Springs and Signal Hill, we extend the invitation to buy either direct by mail or at our office—

THE FOSTERS

PERSONAL—

I'M GLAD I CAME TO SEE YOU. IT HAS PAID ME WELL. I SHALL CERTAINLY SEE YOU AGAIN. TELL MY FRIENDS ALSO TO COME. YOU HAVE BEEN A CONSOLATION TO ME. THUS SPEAK MANY WHO SEEK ADVICE FROM THE WORLD'S GREATEST SPIRITUALIST, ORDAINED NATIONAL INDEPENDENT SPIRITUALIST ASSOCIATION. ADVISER. REV. CHARLES NEWMAN, 705 W. SIXTH ST. ISN'T THERE SOMETHING YOU WOULD LIKE TO KNOW? THERE IS NO DEATH. THERE ARE NO DEAD.

Those gone before us are trying to reach us. Would you like to receive a message? The news may be good or bad, like a letter from home. But you will get it straight, honest, as received. You may like it or not. The world's greatest men have believed in Spiritualism. Moses, Daniel, Elijah, The Talmud, Sefa Tora. The Bible speaks of the living dead. Justice Brewer, Judge Brandeis, Wm. McKinley, Abraham Lincoln, Thomas Edison, Wm. T. Stead, Conan Doyle.

The World War was predicted 5 years before it came by a Spiritualist. Rev. Charles Newman's prediction of Judge Hiram Dannal's son's death, during the World War, given at Judge Dannal's home, Goldsborough, N. C., 5 years before death on the battlefield.

The end of the World War was predicted before the grand jury of Santa Cruz, California. Newman told the grand jury the war would end in the middle part of November, one year before it ended, and it came to pass as he told the grand jury. George Smith, District Attorney, Santa Cruz, called Newman before the grand jury to ascertain when the war would end. Rev. Charles Newman is a true Spiritualist, who gives you the plain, honest facts as they come to him.

DOZEN BANK CLERKS GET WALKING PAPERS

"DISCHARGED IN INTERESTS OF ECONOMY" IS STATEMENT OF PRESIDENT

"A number of employees of the Citizens' Trust and Savings Bank have been discharged. These employees were discharged as an economy measure, and nothing else entered into the matter."

This statement was made last night by A. J. Waters, president of the Citizens' Trust and Savings Bank, after it had become known that something close to a general shake-up of office help had taken place. He declined to make any further statement regarding the discharge of about a dozen bookkeepers, stenographers and clerks.

Some of those discharged yesterday are said to have stated that they were released because of sympathy for Orra E. Monnette, former president of the bank, who was ousted by the board of directors in favor of Mr. Waters while he was away on a vacation.

Medical Society Action Called Un-American

Condemning as "un-American and unwise" the movement by one medical society to influence the California hospitals to adopt a charter that will provide for the exclusion from the hospitals of all osteopathic and many other reputable physicians and surgeons who are duly licensed to practice in California, but who are not members of this particular medical society," the Los Angeles Osteopathic Society, at its meeting at the Union League Club last night, adopted a resolution denouncing attacks on its work and members.

Dr. Forbes, president of the State Osteopathic Association, discussed the osteopathic initiative, which will appear on the ballot in November, declaring that many important organizations have indorsed it. He also attacked the practice by "partisan administration" of nullifying good laws.

Other events on the evening's program were the reading of a report by Dr. Light, a reading by Dorothy Bartosh, and a discussion on "Vagus Technique" by Dr. W. R. Bowling.

ENDS LIFE WITH KNIFE

[EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH.]

REDONDO, Sept. 11.—W. B. McNaught, 45 years of age, ended his life here today by slashing his throat with a pocket knife. McNaught had been despondent or some time, but fellow workmen at the shop of the Redondo Planing Mill, where he was employed, had no inkling of his deed. His 12-year-old son was in the room with him at the time, but was powerless to prevent his act.

McNaught was formerly employed by the Pacific Electric as carpenter here and leaves a widow and two sons. The remains are at the Case undertaking establishment, where funeral arrangements are being made.

CONTRACT LET AT SAN PEDRO

Reed to Erect Addition to School Building

High Premium is Paid for Bond Issue

Attendance Gains Faster Than Construction

The contract for erecting a $70,000 addition to the Fifteenth-street school at San Pedro was awarded by the Board of Education yesterday to William G. Reed. The old building was destroyed by fire several months ago and the first unit of the new one was occupied for the first time yesterday.

The highest premium paid for school bonds since pre-war days was received by the County Treasurer yesterday for the first $2,000,000 worth of the new school bond issue, Elliot Craig, chairman of the finance committee, announced. A syndicate consisting of Drake, Riley & Thomas of Los Angeles, and William R. Compton and Company of New York, purchased $1,000,000 each of high school and elementary bonds at a premium of $43,280 a million, the total, $86,560, being sufficient to meet the first year's interest payments, Mr. Craig stated.

PIONEERS HONORED

The policy of naming new school buildings after famous California figures is being followed by the school district, Mrs. Susan M. Dorsey, Superintendent of Schools, announced yesterday to a delegation representing the Native Sons of the Golden West, headed by E. J. Reilly, chairman. Mr. Reilly asked, in behalf of the Native Sons, that the new schools now being erected be named for Californians. One of the new high schools, the John C. Fremont, and two new junior high schools, the Le Conte and the John Muir, were named in accordance with the new policy, Mrs. Dorsey stated.

ATTENDANCE GAINS

Despite the many new school buildings being erected the increase in the school facilities has not kept up with the increase attendance. In the past three years the average daily attendance has increased approximately 51 per cent, according to J. B. Monlux, deputy superintendent of schools, while the facilities have only increased approximately 33 1-3 per cent. There are fairly well-populated committees on the outskirts of the city, he said, where there are no schools closer than two miles and even these were well filled, the result being that a number of children living in these communities were not attending school, while they undoubtedly would be if the proper facilities were at hand.

GETS PRISON TERM FOR SHOOTING MAN

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE.]

STOCKTON, Sept. 11.—Margaret Martinez, arrested here on August 10 on a charge of shooting Louis Sanguinetti at his home in Stockton, pleaded guilty to manslaughter today and was sentenced to an indeterminate term in San Quentin prison. The charge was reduced from murder. Emma McCowan, jointly charged with Mrs. Martinez, was dismissed on grounds of insufficient evidence to convict. Jealousy was the motive for the crime, according to the police.

Scenes During Presentation of Grand Prizes

"TIMES" CAMPAIGN NOW BUT SPLENDID MEMORY

Homes, Automobiles and Gold Are Distributed to Happy Winners at Wilshire Crest

Eleven weeks of intensive campaign work fraught with frequent discouragements faded into the past yesterday afternoon, and on the horizon, at the $16,500 super-home of The Times in Wilshire Crest, glowed the "rainbow's end," spelling happiness and realization of ambitions.

For the culmination of friendly rivalry that has been existent since the inception of The Times' $70,000 prize campaign then blended into a harmonious whole with the distribution of the beautiful and lavish prizes to the successful contestants who with their friends thronged the grounds of the new home won by M. L. Hazzard of Monrovia.

Twenty-two previous contests have been written upon the pages of The Times' history, but the scrolls of the present campaign and the eagerness and fight of its workers and the firm friendships acquired are painted in colors which only the future can fade. Never a financial success for The Times, it nevertheless has become an integral plan of their organization to promote such campaigns in the realization that the friendships made more than surpass any discrepancy in financial reckonings. So yesterday's event and the past campaign stand as a criterion for future goals to The Times and its contestants.

Flanked by The Times' super-home on one side and a brilliant array of machines on the other and with the envious eyes of hundreds of visitors upon them, the smiling prize winners marched proudly up to the judges' stand to receive the congratulations of the campaign committee and to receive the deeds to their prizes.

PUBLISHER SPEAKS

A brief address by Harry Chandler, publisher of The Times, was preceded by a parade of the twenty new prize machines, accompanied by their new owners, from the office of The Times out Wilshire Boulevard to the super-home in the exclusive Wilshire Crest district. Expressing appreciation to the contestants for their efforts in making the campaign a success, Mr. Chandler emphasized that the real benefits were derived from the indirect friendships formed and, compensation, in the form of successful achievement.

"Of the twenty-two contests which The Times has sponsored in the last thirty-five years," Mr. Chandler said, "the present campaign has been the hardest and most bitterly fought and also the most successful. The Times is profoundly grateful for the sincere efforts of all its workers and believes that the feeling of friendship and loyalty that has been generated throughout this campaign will be perpetuated into the future."

As master of ceremonies Frank Hamilton of The Times was assisted by H. H. Hollister and Earl Hollister. Promptly at 4 o'clock, with every chair occupied on the grounds, the awarding of prizes was begun.

Featuring the program was the signing of the deeds to the two beautiful homes, first and second prizes in the campaign. To Mr. and Mrs. Hazzard went the Wilshire home with its garage and flower gardens, ultra modern in every detail. To E. T. Anderson of 685 East Forty-first street went the Spanish bungalow, valued at $8000, in the West Hollywood Tract.

CASH PRIZES AWARDED

Mr. Hazzard and Mr. Anderson, in addition to their super-prizes, won cash prizes of $200 and $150 respectively. These extra gold prizes totaling $735 during the second period and a single prize of $500 during the third period were offered to contestants who turned

PUBLIC DEFENDER CALLED

Mrs. Phillips Has Long Interview With Attorney Aggeler, Indicating Preference of Defense

Mrs. Clara Phillips, so-called "tiger woman" because of the charge that she murdered Mrs. Alberta Meadows by beating her on the head with a hammer because of jealousy, has apparently made her choice of defense attorneys.

From developments yesterday it was understood that Public Defender Aggeler would be asked to take the case. This was taken to mean that Armour L. Phillips, who has been working hard to secure counsel for his wife, has been unable to obtain the large sum it was said is asked by prominent attorneys to conduct the defense at the trial, which is set for next Monday in Judge Houser's court.

Although no word as to her intention has been forthcoming from Mrs. Phillips since MacDonald and Thompson, her original attorneys, withdrew, it is known that yesterday Mr. Phillips held a long conference with Public Defender Aggeler and his chief deputy regarding the defense.

The visit of Mr. Phillips to the office of the Public Defender followed several conferences with his wife in the County Jail yesterday. At one of the conferences, the two were asked if they had made a choice of counsel. Mrs. Phillips, who is pallid under her prison confinement, replied that nothing could be said regarding her case. Shortly afterward Mr. Phillips called upon Mr. Aggeler and made arrangements for the conference today.

ORDINANCE AIMS AT CHEATING VENDORS

Fruit and vegetable vendors who "top" their cargoes with large, choice products, underneath which are products not large and choice, will come under the ban of the city government of Los Angeles and lay themselves liable to fine and imprisonment if City Council adopts an ordinance recommended yesterday by Assistant City Prosecutor Friedlander.

The City Prosecutor's office has had a large number of complaints against this practice. The present law is not sufficient to reach the offenders. Council is expected to enact the measure soon.

TRIAL FOR MURDER IS SOON OVER

But Five Hours of Court's Time Taken Up Convicting Man of Manslaughter

Establishing a record in the local courts at a murder trial, Judge Reeve yesterday gave his instructions to the jury in the case of Tom Estrada after the taking of testimony and argument had only occupied five hours of time.

After deliberating for several hours the jury returned a verdict of manslaughter. The court set Thursday as the time for pronouncing sentence.

Estrada was accused of the murder of Eduardo Murillo during a quarrel. The defendant asserted that he stabbed Murillo with the latter's knife, and that he struck in self-defense.

The jury was obtained last Thursday in about an hour, neither defense nor prosecution counsel challenging a talesman. The testimony was taken on Friday and arguments heard. The jury retired to deliberate at 10:30 a.m. yesterday.

Police Puzzled by Hotel Man's Disappearance

Police were requested yesterday to aid in the search for C. W. Hottenstein, proprietor of a hotel at 117 West Seventh street, who disappeared last Tuesday under mysterious circumstances.

Detective Sergeants Dryden and Wilde, who investigated, were told by a roomer of the hotel, Raymond Orsini, that Hottenstein arrived in this city from San Francisco three weeks ago and purchased the lease on the West Seventh-street hotel. Since last Tuesday the hotel man has not been seen about the hotel, and no one has appeared to conduct the affairs of the hostelry or collect room rent from guests, according to Orsini. Believing that something was wrong Orsini stated he went to Hottenstein's room, and failing to get a response to knock, entered. He immediately notified the police and Detective Dryden and Wilde investigated. They found, they reported, that Hottenstein had gone out leaving his glasses on a small table, his clothes, several hundred dollars in checks, and a meal prepared on the table.

HAWAIIAN SERVICE BEGINS

Great Liner With Party of Angelenos Aboard Forging New Chain of Friendship With Pacific Neighbor

The S.S. City of Los Angeles, with 264 Los Angeles Chamber of Commerce excursionists in her cabins and 5000 tons of Los Angeles freight in her hold, put off at 12:30 p.m. yesterday from the Los Angeles Steamship Company pier at Los Angeles Harbor. Honolulu and Los Angeles are now only six days apart. Los Angeles has a new trade territory. And Los Angeles is now Hawaii's nearest neighbor.

The inauguration of the fortnightly Southern California-Hawaii service, in which the S.S. City of Los Angeles will alternate with the S.S. City of Honolulu of the same line, was made a gala event. The passengers, among whom were Mayor Cryer and President Fredericks of the Chamber of Commerce, waved American flags and threw serpentine confetti at the hundreds of friends bidding them "good voyage" from the pier. Steamships lying in the harbor saluted with their whistles, private yachts fired their cannon and the U.S.S. Connecticut, flagship of the base force, gave three blasts of her siren. The Los Angeles Police Band on a tug was a musical escort into the harbor.

Then an airplane swept down and a man was seen dangling from it. It was merely a sugges-

BROKER ADMITS GUILT ON FORGERY CHARGE

Admitting the forgery of the name of H. A. Jackson to a note for $5000, Gustav W. Hemple, a broker, pleaded guilty yesterday in Judge Reeve's court.

It was charged that Hemple indorsed the check with the name of Mr. Jackson on July 13 and deposited it with a local bank. When he was arraigned yesterday, he waived time and pleaded guilty at once.

Hemple's attorney filed an application for probation and the defendant will be given a hearing on the 28th inst.

Convicted Wife-Killer Sued by Own Attorney

James P. Watson, the "modern Bluebeard," who confessed to the murder of nine of his wives and now is serving a life term in San Quentin penitentiary, may again appear in court.

Following the dismissal of O. C. Laizure, chaplain at San Quentin prison, charged with having smuggled Watson's memoirs outside the prison walls a few days ago, comes the announcement that Attorney Sidney T. Robertson will file suit in the Superior Court at San Francisco today against Watson for the collection of $6000.

Watson's attorney, J. Morgan Marmaduke, who defended him here while being tried for the murder of Nina Lee Delaney, wrote Attorney Robertson, asking the latter to start suit at San Francisco to collect that amount from Watson.

BOY BADLY HURT BY MILK WAGON

While playing in the street at the intersection of Raymond avenue and Thirty-seventh street yesterday morning, Vincent Ellsworth, aged 11 years, of 1333 West Thirty-sixth Place, was run over by a milk wagon and possibly fatally injured.

He was taken by his father to the Receiving Hospital, where it was stated he was suffering from possible internal injuries and two fractured ribs. After being given emergency treatment the lad was taken home.

OLD-FASHIONED PADDLE URGED

"Don'ts" and "Do's" for Mothers Told by Judge

Gives Woman Child's Custody, but Warns Her

Husband in Divorce Action Tells His Story

A married woman should not be known as "Miss;" she should not permit her 12-year-old daughter to call her by her first name; she should not let the child use rouge; she should spank her when she needs it; she should not receive notes addressed "Dearest Babe" from men; she should not associate with men other than her husband.

This is the code for an old-fashioned mother, as laid down in an old-fashioned way yesterday by Judge Monroe. And in laying down the code, Judge Monroe announced that if the mother did not abide by his old-fashioned formula, he woul take her child away.

The edict came at the end of a bitter fight between Mrs. Winnifred H. Foote, known as "the prettiest girl at the Venice concessions," and LeRoy J. Foote, her husband, over the custody of the child. Each sued the other for divorce. Yesterday, after telling Mrs. Foote how she should act in the future, the court awarded her the child. The divorce action is still pending.

According to the allegations of the husband, Mrs. Foote is known about Venice as "Miss." She also told her child to call her by her first name, the husband charged. Then, he states, she let the girl use rouge. After hearing these things, Judge Monroe said to Mrs. Foote:

"How would you like the child placed in the hands of a third person?"

"Oh, no. I don't want her spanked."

"Young woman, if you spare the rod, you spoil the child."

After hearing all the allegations of the husband, Judge Monroe stated that "no married woman has any business doing any of these things."

He then warned Mrs. Foote that she must discontinue the practices. The wife was represented by Attorney William T. Kendrick.

Cryer Leaves; Criswell Now Acting Mayor

President Criswell of the City Council yesterday noon became acting Mayor for the twenty days that Mayor Cryer will be absent on the Chamber of Commerce trip to Honolulu. Although the City Attorney has ruled that a president of the City Council could legally perform both his own duties and those of acting Mayor, President Criswell said that he would not preside at the sessions of the Council unless an emergency arose which required his vote.

Mayor Cryer, before leaving for the harbor yesterday to board the liner Los Angeles for the trip to Hawaii, officially notified the Council of his trip. The Mayor only recently decided to go, as he had previously turned down the suggestion of the Chamber of Commerce that the Council be asked for an appropriation to enable him to represent the city on a trip which will mark the opening of direct, close relations between Los Angeles and the Hawaiian Islands. The presence of the Mayor was so urgently desired that he was finally persuaded to take the trip with Mrs. Cryer and his 10-year-old son, Edward, as guests of the Los Angeles Steamship Company. This will be the Mayor's first vacation since he took office more than one year ago.

THEY COOLED TOGETHER

Mrs. Jennie A. Gibson tossed her husband's clothes into the yard and then ordered him to follow them, a complaint for divorce filed yesterday by Marion E. Gibson relates. She first used harsh language toward him, the complaint states, and then ordered him from the house. During her outbursts, the complaint recites, he was frequently forced to seek refuge on the porch until his wife's temper cooled.

PIED PIPER FOR FELINES NEEDED

City Council Urged to Halt Plague of Cats

Under House They Practice Voice Culture

Numbers Legion, Dauntless, Dogs Dismayed

Oh, pity poor Thomas F. MacPherson. He's troubled with a plague of cats, and his wail of woe was received yesterday by the City Council. Tears were shed when Mr. MacPherson's pathetic letter was read, particularly by Councilman Sanborn, who is a neighbor of Mr. MacPherson, but there was apparently nothing that the Council could do to bring peace to the mind of Citizen MacPherson, except unofficially suggest to him that he equip himself with a shotgun and turn loose on the cats.

Mr. MacPherson said that he lived on Judson street, and that about a year ago some forty cats took refuge under his house. Now, he said, he did not particularly object to forty cats, but when the prolific felines increased their families through the year to hundreds of cats, he objected.

AS SANDS OF SEA

"This is too much," wrote Mr. MacPherson. "I see cats, hear cats and have nightmares about cats. Their numbers have increased until the cats are as the sands of the sea."

And bold! "Why," said Mr. MacPherson, "I sent two bulldogs under the house after those cats, and at once I heard a yowling and screeching, and I saw the dogs being chased down the street by the cats."

CRUSADE SUGGESTED

Mr. MacPherson suggested that the Council start a "Boyle Heights Anti-Stray Cat Campaign," but no authority for this kind of a crusade could be found in the city charter, the Magna Charta, the State Constitution or Roberts Rules of Order, so despite Mr. MacPherson's concluding appeal in the letter in which he said, "Have a heart and help me," the Council reluctantly ordered the letter entombed in the files.

Councilman Sparks, the friend of all dogs and the opponent of the dog-muzzling ordinance, did make an informal suggestion to Mr. MacPherson, to wit, as follows: "Why not put muzzles on those cats?" but the Council did not take Mr. Sparks's suggestion seriously.

City Chambers Want Santa Fe Line Extension

The city trustees of Torrance and the Inglewood Chamber of Commerce yesterday forwarded to the Los Angeles City Council copies of resolutions strongly urging that the Santa Fe's application for a franchise to permit the railroad to extend its line to serve Los Angeles Harbor be granted. The application has been pending at the Los Angeles City Hall since last May, although the railroad company has been prepared to start construction work on the twelve-mile extention the moment the franchise was granted.

The resolutions from Torrance and Inglewood, which were read to Council yesterday, were attached to the file in the matter, which already contains resolutions from more than a score of the leading civic organizations of Greater Los Angeles, including the Los Angeles Chamber of Commerce, the Associated Jobbers, the Chambers of Commerce of the Fourth Supervisional District.

Council has asked for a report on the proposed route from a committee of engineers consisting of Harbor Engineer Ludlow, Chief Engineer Sachse, of the State Railroad Commission, and Chief Engineer Osborne of the Board of Public Utilities. This report is expected to recommend to Council that the franchise be granted. The report of the engineers will be filed within the next ten days.

Clinton A. Horsfall, a salesman of this city, filed a petition in bankruptcy in the United States District Court yesterday, giving his liabilities as $3505.27, and his assets as nothing.

SEWER COST DISCUSSED

Board of Public Works Will Undertake Task if Bids of Private Contractors Are Too High

President Treat of the Board of Public Works was yesterday instructed by the board to reply to the letter of Mayor Cryer recommending that the sewer improvements to be built under the $12,000,000 bond issue recently approved be constructed by the city instead of by private contractors. President Treat said yesterday:

"Mayor Cryer and the people may be assured that the sewer improvements will be built under the plan that will give the taxpayers the utmost value for the money expended. The board has instructed the City Engineer to prepare plans for the sewer facilities in sections, so that estimates can be made as to the probable cost of each section. Bids can be advertised for section by section, and the board will reserve the right to reject all bids. The board has done so in a number of cases where it was convinced that the bids were excessive.

ASK BIDS IN GOOD FAITH

"These bids may show, as the Mayor suggests, that it will be less expensive and produce better results if the work is done by the city under the direction of the board, and if this is the case, the board will not hesitate to put the job through. I believe, however, that the taxpayers would not be satisfied at the city's proceeding with the work without first asking, in good faith, for bids from private contractors. If it does develop that the city should do the work, then the board will ask the Civil Service Commission to exempt the sewer workers from the usual requirements in order to enable the board to save time and money in completing the job at the earliest possible date."

Mayor Cryer in his letter to the board says:

"I am strongly of the opinion that the construction should be by force account, and under the direction of your honorable board, rather than by private contract.

"You are doubtless aware that the city let a contract for the construction of the present outfall sewer, and that the contractor abandoned the work in an unfinished condition.

"The Board of Public Works was compelled to step in and complete the most difficult part of the work. This it did in a very satisfactory manner by force account, under the direction of City Engineer Homer Hamilton.

"Practically all of the work of building the Los Angeles aqueduct was done by the city itself, and in an eminently satisfactory manner. Not only was the cost of the work kept within the original estimate, but the task was completed well within the allotted time. Many of the men who had an important part in this great and successful enterprise are still in the employ of the city, and are doubtless available to assist in your stupendous task; at least you may have the benefit of their advice and experience.

"I would suggest that all materials—brick, cement, lumber, etc., be purchased from the lowest responsible bidder, after the usual advertising and competitive bidding."

AN ADMISSION

They call it Admission Day on account of the admission fee to the Pageant of Progress.

DEAR TO THE HEART

It is not at all certain that the Bill Hart baby will be an effective peacemaker. The two Harts fail to beat as one and there may yet be a petition that the law "take back the Hart that thou gavest."

PAYING THE PIPER

After much effort a woman teased a $100 check out of her husband and then took the money to start a divorce suit. It was the first money she had been able to extract from him for some time and she decided to make the best possible use of it.

BEAUTY AND TAXES

Six girls were discharged from the tax collector's office in Detroit because they were too beautiful. It took impressionable men too long to pay their taxes and the windows got all cluttered up with waiting lines. But one might imagine that this thing could work two ways. Taxpaying is a painful operation at best, and if it can be eased by having a beauteous taxgatherer at the window, why not keep it up? It would seem that this might save many a quarrel and cross word. Nothing like making our taxes attractive.

THE BIG THINGS

The Shipping Board is figuring on the creation of the greatest vessels in the world. There is a demand for massive steel greyhounds of 1000 feet in length and 70,000 tons displacement. This would make the Majestic look like a terrier. It is a pity that Uncle Sam cannot take a hammer and tack three or four of the vessels he has together so as to make one big one out of them and thus satisfy this demand for the huge and great. As it is, a lot of boats have been permitted to spoil for lack of service. But there is always business for the biggest ship.

THE ENJOINERS

The labor leaders are now offering to meet the law with law. To this there can be no objections provided they live within the law in the doing. They are seeking to stay the hands of United States marshals who are protecting lives and property under the government-injunction proceedings in the railroad strikes. In other words, they are enjoining the injunction. This sounds like an involved process, but it may at least be attempted. It is said to be the purpose of the unions to bring the merits of the government injunction directly before the Supreme Court. To that there will be no objection. All that is asked is that the unions respect the findings of the court. If they will do that much may be forgiven them. The Attorney-General says he is not trying to destroy the unions. He is acting upon the belief that what he is doing is for their own good. He does say, however, that the principle of the open shop must and shall be maintained. The unions deny this right and here is where the division comes. There is no plot against the unions, but if the unions intend to destroy the open shop the forces of the government will protect the open shop. In that event the nation and the unions would come into direct conflict. God and the government would be more impressive than Gompers and graft.

END OF SEVEN-YEAR WAR

No more welcome news has been received for a long time from San Joaquin Valley than the reported agreement reached at last between the Miller and Lux interests and the Madera Irrigation District.

For seven years an obstinate fight between these opposing property-holders has delayed irrigation projects in this rich country and has retarded its legitimate progress. Ending the long-drawn-out dispute over conflicting water rights and disputed assessments, the two parties to this interminable suit have, according to Attorney Treadwell, at last arrived at an amicable understanding.

A big step forward has thus been taken in the progress of Fresno and Madera counties. The peace pact is one which injures no one and benefits a whole community. For it includes a project for developing storage facilities to cost eventually $10,000,000. This new irrigation will render productive another million acres of land. The agreement thus opens wonderful new farm and orchard prospects in this favored section of Central California.

All these advantages many contented farmers might have been already enjoying but for the seven-year war between the rival factions. And probably there was no time during all that period at which a settlement could not have been reached as readily as it was by the good sense that prevailed at the final session. Litigation can be almost as detrimental to a countryside as war itself.

Everyone, therefore, will welcome the news of this happy climax. Now the engineer can get busy and fresh work will be supplied for many laborers. New crops and new sources of income will before long be available and another ounce of plenty added to the great cornucopia of California prosperity.

THE ATTEMPTED IMPEACHMENT

Attempts on the part of the union-labor bosses to impeach Atty.-Gen. Daugherty because he has dared to do his duty ended yesterday in a miserable fiasco. When the much-bruited resolution of condemnation was moved in the House of Representatives it was tabled by an overwhelming vote. The scheme of the union-labor clique in the lower house to secure the co-operation of the Democrats by making it a party issue proved abortive, for the Democratic members refused to play the part of the tail to a labor-union kite.

In place of an impeachment, the vote on the resolution became in reality an expression of the confidence of the lower house in the ability and the integrity of the Attorney-General. Representative Keller, the mover of the resolution, is himself a member of a labor union and comes from a labor-union district in Minnesota. The resolution in question was drafted by the labor-union bosses who are facing indictment. The charges, if true, would be important; but they are regarded as trivial because they are in flat contradiction to known facts.

The Attorney-General has incurred the enmity of the labor-union chiefs because he has refused to be intimidated by their threats and abuse. He has insisted that the laws shall be enforced without fear or favor, that no man or set of men shall receive immunity from punishment for crimes against society because they are supposed to possess powerful political influence. There has been no flinching before labor-union threats, such as weakened the efficiency and the authority of the last administration.

While the greatest offense committed by the Attorney-General, in the eyes of the union-labor chiefs, is the injunction which prevents violent interference with the operation of the railroads and coal mines, or inflammatory public speeches advocating such interference, no reference is made to this in the charges filed. He is accused, instead, of interfering with free speech and failure to prosecute wealthy malefactors. The falsity of these charges is too well known for them to receive serious consideration, in Congress or elsewhere.

As a test of sentiment the resolution has served a good purpose. The overwhelming vote by which it was tabled proves that the real influence of the labor-union bosses in Congress, as in the country, is so negligible as to be unworthy serious consideration. The 10 per cent represented by organized labor is not to be permitted to dictate to the 90 per cent which represents the great mass of the American people who decline to be intimidated by labor-union threats or influence.

SPARTA TRIED IT ONCE

Painless execution of insane persons for the betterment of the race is not a program that recommends itself even in the country that gave the world Nietzsche and his superman. In fact, a loud, indignant protest has gone up from the German people over a proposed law to eradicate insanity by killing off all the hopelessly insane.

What being or group of beings has the power to decide that any human is "hopeless," however afflicted, however degraded? Science itself cannot determine the dividing line between sanity and insanity. A law such as that proposed by Councillor Borcharhdt in the Reichstag is indefensible, whether regarded scientifically, socially or morally. It will never pass, of course. The wonder is it was ever introduced.

Borcharhdt quoted figures to show that there were 83,400 insane persons in Germany at present and that they were costing the people 115,000,000 marks annually. This argument does not recommend his bill. It degrades the value of human life to that of goods and chattels. It has not even the merit of Nietzsche's ruthless philosophy, for he at least based his demand for the extermination of the weak and useless on the hope it held out for replacing them with a stronger and abler strain of manhood.

Even so, the plan is not novel. Sparta attempted it more than 2000 years ago. It did produce for a time a race physically strong and valiant. But it failed utterly to permanently improve the breed. Sparta passed out of history without leaving one mark on the progress of civilization. She didn't produce a single human being that even approached the Nietzschean superman idea.

COMPETITIVE NIGHT-LIFE

A mighty moan has gone up in San Francisco. Los Angeles, they wail, has completely eclipsed the Bay City in the matter of brilliant cafes and sparkling night life.

Even Tait's, one of the few remaining San Francisco cafes of giddy memory, has just passed into the hands of a Los Angeles syndicate. Most of the others closed, after a brief struggle against prohibition effects.

But in Los Angeles—well, here are we building larger, greater, grander cafes all the time—we have more palaces of gayety and gastronomics now than we ever did before prohibition.

San Francisco says it positively cannot be done—within the law. And San Francisco is jealous. Not that it has been so irreproachably squeamish about the law, at that—if travelers' tales be true. Yet cafe life in San Francisco is dead—excepting only where it is in the hands of Angelenos.

So San Francisco is asking mean questions, doubting our Angel purity—chemical or otherwise—casting suspicions upon our pure and unsullied methods of stimulating citizenry to such hilarity in face of the legal absence of the accepted brand of stimulant.

We say we do it with music and dancing, with epicurean cooking and with service. San Franciscans say, "Tut, tut. It takes a good deal of stimulant to stimulate a fellow to dance. It takes even more stimulant to stimulate him into responding to jazz music, which otherwise drives him mad. And it takes even more stimulant for a fellow to believe he is getting epicurean cooking and good service in a Los Angeles cafe."

But for ourselves we merely point to the evidence. We are rich in bright, dazzling, grand cafes and they are prosperous. And they don't get hauled into court on odious Volstead Act charges.

GAAR WILLIAMS

THE START OF THE FINAL ERA

No longer can we regard the West as a new country. So rapid, so extraordinary, so irresistible has been its development that it has long since passed the barrier where experiment ceases and stability begins.

Cities growing like Jonah's gourd have sprung up at every vantage point beyond the Rocky Mountains. Rural population in the West has made steady gains, while it was falling off at the same time in many Eastern States.

Agriculturally the West now ranks with the abundant granary of our great central valleys. Its fruits have captured the best markets of the populous cities of America and the overplus has crossed two oceans.

In the search for oil, experts who once saw little beyond Pennsylvania and Ohio now turn eagerly to Pacific fields. The white wizard of hydroelectric energy has waved his wand over the Sierra Nevada Mountains. Pleasure seekers have decided that twenty days in California is worth a cycle of Cathay.

The West has come into its own. The old roads have been well traveled. Nothing apparently has been overlooked.

Yet there is one highway the West has so far been unable to essay. It is an important highway. Along this broad thoroughfare have clustered the great industrial enterprises of the nation.

It is indeed the main road to industrial pre-eminence—and it is built of STEEL.

The world passed into the steel era at the end of the last century and it will never pass out again. The country, the community, the city that can command an easy supply of steel is certain of its commercial future.

Coal and iron in proximity is the secret of the steel industry. So far the West has not developed the combination.

But the resourcefulness and the versatility of the West are inexhaustible. Business and science have got together on this problem, whose solution means the start of the final era in its development.

The first fruits of this determination to free the West from dependence on the East for its steel supply have just been manifested in the incorporating of a $20,000,000 concern to supply this Coast with what is the essential ally of all great industries.

Rich deposits of coal and iron in Utah have brought the steel industry to the gates of California. For the first time pig iron will be manufactured west of the Rockies.

The new corporation will be financed with western capital. Its officers are experienced steel manufacturers. It is entirely independent and devoted to the development of the Pacific States.

Time will show how much this will add to the spread of industrial plants and enterprises throughout the Southwest. The incorporation of Pacific steel marks the opening of a new door to opportunity in commercial ventures. It adds steel girders to the great house of western prosperity.

THE CHURCH AND DIVORCE

The church is inclined to amend its attitude toward divorce in order to correspond to altered conditions, but it is said that at the triennial convention of the Protestant Episcopal faith an organized effort will be made to establish still more rigid rules to conserve the sanctity of the marriage relation.

There is said to be a determination on the part of some of the delegates to adopt a canon which would forever forbid the remarriage of all persons, innocent or guilty, who have been divorced for any cause. They quote the words of the Master as the basis for their position and declare that, if the church takes a fixed stand upon the question, it will have an important bearing on the future and place the domestic relations of the Christian citizenship upon a permanent footing.

But it is not thought that this drastic rule can be adopted. It might split up some of the churches. Rev. Dr. Grant of New York, one of the bright lights of the faith, is very outspoken against the iron code. He says that divorce must be accepted as a part of the changed world. He states bluntly that it cannot be expected that the Bible will be made a handbook for present-day lawgivers and that the church cannot organize modern life upon the basis of texts found in the New Testament. He insists that the problem of divorce is the big end of the women's question today. More than two-thirds of the divorces in the courts are applied for by women. The industrial independence of women increases the number of divorces as it expands. The early attitude of the church toward divorce was largely based upon the belief that the separation was sought by bad men to gratify evil passions. According to Dr. Grant the church cannot justly afford to turn a face of granite against the institution of divorce. It must be recognized and accepted as an essential adjunct to existing society.

A ROAD TO FORTUNE

It would appear from the findings of Miss Ethel M. Johnson of the Minimum Wage Commission of Boston that wealth is accessible to almost anyone and that poverty can soon be abolished from the confines of the nation. After looking into working conditions among women Miss Johnson reports that $9 a week is enough for a working girl to live on and that $17 a week will supply her with all the luxuries.

If this is true, any working girl who gets $12 a week can save $3, which, put out at compound interest, will soon become an important accumulation. If she earns $20, as some stenographers do, a fortune will soon be hers.

Working girls eat as much and require as many clothes as other normal human beings. If they can live on $9 a week other people can, and the saving that can be effected by clerks getting $25 will insure opulence.

Of course, if this schedule is adopted there will not be any business for the dry-goods stores except the sale of calico and cheap shoes and stockings, and there won't be any theaters or "movie" shows or automobiles or anything else that makes for prosperity and comfort. But a theory will have been demonstrated, and that is something.—[New York Times.

BREAKFAST AND BRAINS

Shattered is the superstition that there is a casual relationship between the meager French breakfast and Gallic sprightliness. At least so it would seem if doctors assembled from nearly every State in the Union are correct.

These good medicine men have come out strongly in favor of a heavy breakfast. The human engine, they hold, needs fuel in the morning. Brain workers in particular, they say, should start the day with fruit, cereal, eggs, bacon and toast. The stomach thus thoroughly stoked will keep the brain untroubled in hours that follow. For whoever likes one light meal a day luncheon is recommended—a bowl of milk with a few crackers, perhaps, and an orange, with its vitamines. In the evening it is permitted to eat more heartily to keep the engine revolving through the long night hours.—[New York Tribune.

WICKED GOLF, PIOUS BASEBALL

Recently it was suggested in these columns that games like golf and bridge might be benefited by taking on high commissioners, just as baseball and the motion pictures have been helped. The news from Chicago backs up the suggestion. There the Westmoreland Country Club is in a turmoil. Caddies have been exacting bribes from golf players, threatening to accuse them of cheating in their scores unless they "came across" with $5 or so. A Landis of golf could not only send the wicked caddies into exile, as the dishonest White Sox players were sent, but could investigate the players and discover whether or not there is in the whole country a golfer so base that he would turn in a false card.—[New York Herald.

If the Farmer Should Quit

Present strikers are unconcerned that food growers are being robbed of a market in some degree, but there would be a frightful howl were the food growers to strike.—[Pittsburg Gazette-Times.

RIPPLING RHYMES

PERSISTENT

A salesman journeyed to my door, he hoped to sell a choo-choo cart; he came until he was a bore, he talked until he broke my heart. I said, "I am not ready yet to buy a car; I built this shack and am just getting out of debt—I haven't got the needed jack. But if you'll cease to chase me 'round, nor dog my footsteps near and far, some morning fair I will be found in mood to buy a motor car." "I'd rather sell an auto now," I heard the busy salesman rant; "why don't you mortgage yonder cow or borrow money from your aunt?" Oh, nothing could his ardor douse, at every turn he would appear; I often hid beneath the house when I beheld him drawing near. At last arrived the golden morn for which I long have saved and scratched; "and now," I said, "I'll buy a horn that has a motor car attached." I had a package in my belt and in my hat I had a roll, and as I went to town I felt the lust for autos in my soul. And did I seek that anxious gent who talked until his throat was sore? Ah, no, I dodged his shop and went to one I'd never seen before. I always shun those busy guys who hand me yards of smoking breath; I do not think those salesmen wise who talk their customers to death.

WALT MASON

AH, INDEED!

BY ADMA WHITAKER

I protest. That writer in the Pittsburg Post who regards the "ah" pronunciation as "fahncy" speech, as affectation as compared with the short "a" sound and who cites scores of words to illustrate that "ah" is merely a specious highbrow form of meretricious culture is all wrong.

It is that short "a" that is the quintessense of snobby affectation—the sort of democratic snobbery that makes a candidate for office harp upon his "worked-as-a-boy-on-the-farm" lineage, that made Bernard Shaw's chauffeur in "Man and Superman" deliberately drop his "h's" and call himself 'Enry 'Olmes because he didn't want his pals to think he was upstage—although he had had a good high-school education. The sort of democratic snobbery which dreads to pronounce a French word correctly, because the incorrect pronunciation is accepted in his set. That worst of all kinds of affectation—the lowbrow complex which considers itself so infinitely superior to any highbrow, which ridicules and belittles any form of culture outside its own interests.

In England, where, after all, the language was born, it is the height of affection to say "dannce" when one means "dance," to say "batth" when one means "bath," to say "tomayto" when one means "tomato" or to say "haff" when one means "half."

If a nice, little, priggish, suburban young lady wants to put on side in her set in England she always begins by saying "assk" when she means "ask" and "annswer" when she means "answer" and "passt" when she means "past."

Being now a good American and ardently anxious to become Americanized, I have done my level best to use that short "a" sound—and always feel an affected, silly fool for my pains. I simply cannot visualize any vegetable called "tomayto," for instance. And as for asking for a "glayss" of water or putting flowers into a "vayse"—well, there simply could not be any such receptacles.

I will concede that when my American husband and my American children use these curious expressions they sound fairly reasonable. I can detect at once when they are mimicking mother and pronounce the words my way. In fact, I am surrounded on all sides right in my own home with what, in London, would be the most regrettable affectation on their part.

But I don't recognize the long "ah" at all when I hear it in either Bostonese or English; it sounds too utterly right and natural to me.

If, on the other hand, I hand my family a spiel of short "a's" they immediately go into roars of laughter—I mean "laffther"—so it is quite as odd to them as it is to me.

If I suggest that the grass needs mowing—it will get mown without further comment. But, if I talk about the "grayss," I am obviously joking and no particular attention is paid to the matter. And the chances are it won't get mown.

So you can see what would happen to me if I took that Pittsburg fellow seriously. I cannot gain a single advantage with any such dubious speech reform; all the advahntages lie in the other direction for such as me.

Yet here is this fellow assuring the world that the long "ah" never gets anyone anywhere, that it stamps one as a culture-snob, that it is most "exasperating" in a stage actor—all of which is perfectly true of the short "a"—in England or Boston or with me in my family.

I maintain that the most ironical thing about Americans is that funny, affected, little short "a," that taste for the happy namby-pamby sound that doesn't begin to be as authoritative, as vital, as compelling and expressive as the natural, unaffected "ah." It just sounds weak and missy to me, snippy, chattery, pattery, half-baked. It doesn't fit in with the American character at all, which in most other respects is forceful and self-confident.

For instance, if I say I cahnt do a thing—it is an authoritative statement of my intentions in the matter. If I say I cannt do it I mean that I am weak and incapable.

If I talk about Frahnce I am speaking of her as an accredited world nation. If I called her Frannce I should feel that I was insulting. If I talk about slahnder I mean something reprehensible, iniquitous, shameful. But if I called it slannder I should be merely facetious.

When I discuss a rahnch I mean broad acres, virile soil, labor, crops, results. A rannch couldn't possibly be anything but a little pleasure patch with a pathway and a few flowers.

When I say "pahss" I mean onward, forward, progression, animation. The only time I could ever call it "payss" would imply that little slip of paper that gets one into a show as a deadhead.

Or take "commahnd"—a word that just breathes authority and power. But "commannd"—well, how could anybody possibly keep a commanndment?

Cahstle—a magnificent edifice, imposing, fortified, drawbridges, portcullis gates, towers, mullioned windows, granite, marble, built for centuries. But cassel—oh, that kind can be erected on a Hollywood lot for the making of a film.

And a "flahsk"—well, a flask could contain the bonded variety, ten years in bottle. But a flassk—oh, say, you couldn't keep anything stronger than sarsaparilla in a flassk.

Or "prahnce"—alive with the joie de vivre, animated, vivacious, buoyant. But "prannce"—the last efforts of a surfeited mosquito before the baby puts his finger on it.

HIDDEN POWERS

BY JAMES OPPENHEIM

The story is old. Some one told Emerson that Margaret Fuller had said: "I accept the universe." Emerson remarked: "She'd better!"

Yes, it looks that way. A man sitting on a Kansas doorstep and seeing a cyclone making his way doesn't get up and say, "I reject you." He flees. But that is merely because we haven't got that far. Who can say positively that the time won't come when we can prevent cyclones? We once were just as helpless before pestilence and called a plague a "visitation of God." We humbly accepted this "scourge." You know how Jehovah humbles Job. "Where were you," he asks, "when I laid the foundations of the earth and all the morning stars sang together for joy? Who are you, anyway, to set yourself up against me? Can you bind the sweet influence of the Pleiades? Can you catch Leviathan with a fish hook?"

Well we can say: "Lord, not yet. But we can try." You see how our attitude has changed since the days of Job. The marvelous discoveries of the nineteenth century have stiffened our backbone. We have a lusty feeling that we can make enormous changes in the world about us and also in our own nature. In short, we will only accept the universe as "raw material" which we will proceed to convert into something better.

It is only the animal who accepts the universe. What does the cow do when mosquitoes bite her? Swishes her tail. Not so with us. We mantle the stagnant pools with oil or put in minnows which eat the mosquito eggs. We screen our houses.

All very well. But there is another way in which we must accept life. Where there is no help for it, life, as it is, must be accepted if we are to know any genuine happiness and well-being.

If the man or woman you love dies it doesn't help that you keep on complaining and wishing for what is gone. What can you say except "I give him up. I go on by myself"?

If you have failed at something, some task or enterprise, and perhaps covered yourself with shame, it doesn't help to go around with your head bowed and your soul clinging to what is past, thinking: "If I had done this, or not done that, everything would have been different." It is over; it is done. You can only accept your failure and go on to something else.

There are women who rebel all their lives because they were not born men. They spend a great deal of time in helpless revolt, thinking: "I hate being a woman." But suppose they turned about and said: "I am a woman and I will make something out of being a woman?" Is it not a fact that the most powerful women we know are those who are proud of being women?

Once a young negro of talent came to me. He was a poet; but his poetry was a weak imitation of some of the great English poets. I said to him:

"Aren't you missing a great opportunity? There is a music in the negro which is different from all other music. It is an African music, if you want to call it so. Instead of imitating English song, why don't you listen to the music in yourself and give us negro poetry—something surely that every one would love?"

His answer was: "I am an American and write in English. Why shouldn't my poetry be like all English poetry?"

Well, it was true that he was an American and wrote in English, and this was certainly different from an African savage writing in his own language. But what this young man really meant was, that he preferred not to admit that there are differences in races. But there are differences in races and even in nationalities. English poetry isn't like French poetry. Why? A difference in temperament. Hebrew song is unlike the song of Europe. Negro music is not white music.

Suppose this negro had said to himself: "There is something as great in the negro as in the white man. So I will accept that fact in order that I may express that greatness." If he had done this he would have found himself, he would have come down to his own roots and, instead of giving us a weak imitation of white poetry, he would have been the first of the negro poets. He was destroying his own power by rejecting the truth.

You see, if we accept the things that can't be changed, we win our freedom. So long as we don't accept, we are caught and enslaved. It is exactly like a dog tied by a rope to a stake. He keeps pulling against the rope, he refuses it, but finally he gives in. Then his torment passes and he enjoys himself in the space permitted him. A fact that can't be changed is such a rope. Pulling against it only torments us, only keeps torturing us. We can think of little else. We go 'round and' round, gnashing our teeth, weeping, moaning, because the dead are dead, because the past is the past, because we are what we are. But the moment we accept the facts the rope ceases to be a rope.

There was a man of 80 who refused to admit that he had grown old. So he forced himself to the activities of younger men. He got to business early in the morning, he carried the whole responsibility, he made the deals, he entertained, etc. The strain was almost unbearable and he became deeply unhappy. Then the moment came when he said to himself: "I'm a jackass. I'm an old man and I know it." A weight dropped from him. He saw that he need not carry the old responsibilities. He saw that the sunset hour was upon him and he could sit in the warm light and smoke and remember and enjoy himself. He did so. His last years were a joy to all around him. He was "a grand old man."

The winners of the extra gold prizes then stepped forward and were given a "Times" check for the amount due.

Again Mr. Hazzard scored, with $200 as the first prize in the $725 gold offer. E. T. Anderson came next, winning the second prize of $150; the third prize of $100 was won by Ernest Rhoades; the fourth, amounting to $75, by Mrs. Elizabeth McCann; the fifth, for $50, went to W. B. Hockett; and Bradley King won the sixth prize for $40; W. A. Henry drew the seventh, winning $35, the eighth and ninth went to Mrs. O. F. Johnson and Miss Helen Ferguson for $30 and $25 respectively; while Frank Geiger won the tenth prize for $20.

ALL ENTHUSIASTIC

"I was trying for first prize, of course," William B. Hockett admitted, "but to carry off a $4200 Lincoln, the $500 extra gold offer, and the fifth prize for $50 in the $725 extra gold offer, is a pretty fair average for a few weeks' work."

"Of course, there are a great many people to whom $475 a week looks like pretty poor pay, but that's what my winnings stand for me. And I'm perfectly satisfied, at that. I only hope that those who won the other big prizes are as well pleased as I am.

"Every prize winner owes The Times a debt of thanks for offering them the chance to win prizes of such splendid value. I don't know about the others, but I'm for The Times—as every good Californian should be."

ACTRESS IS HAPPY

"I am very glad I entered the campaign," said Miss Ferguson. "It was a new and quite exciting experience. I'd never been in a prize winning campaign before, and found it most interesting. The prizes were so very wonderful one couldn't help wanting to be a candidate and to win one of them."

"It was a joyous experience from beginning to end," she declared. "There was never a morning that did not bring some wonderful opportunity, and every day's end spelled victory. I was so thrilled and excited all the time that I seemed to have danced through these ten weeks.

"I've always believed that creating something out of one's own brain was about the best fun in the world. But I'm not so sure about it now. This Times campaign has all the hair-breadth escapes of my brain-children outclassed, when it comes to thrills.

"Of course, we all went after the $16,500 house. Might as well hitch your wagon to a star while you're hitching, you know. But I had a sneaking notion from the very start that only one person could win that house. So I determined not to cry my eyes out if it didn't happen to carry my number.

"I'm going to get a lot of fun out of the Paige. I'm going to buy $40 worth of gas right away. And more than that, I'm going to be mighty grateful to The Times. I'll say a little prayer to the God of all Good Newspapers every time I step on the gas—" she added with a twinkle, as the beautiful Paige got under way.

GOT LATE START

Mrs. Elizabeth McCann did not enter The Times campaign until July 26—four weeks and a half before the closing date. Friends had urged her repeatedly to enter, and when she finally determined to become a candidate their support was prompt and effective.

"I'll brag about this lovely car from one end of the San Fernando Valley to the other. And I'll boast about my $75 gold prize till my friends will be bored to tears hearing the tale," declared Mrs. McCann, as she stood beside her shining Lexington. "I used to ride horseback when a child, and I loved my pony, but I feel this beautiful car is going to take the same corner of my heart.

"I want to thank every one for helping me—and I want to thank The Times for giving me a chance to find out how many good friends I really had."

Vivienne Morehouse declared she was too happy with her prize to talk about it.

"It was all due to the loyalty of my friends in Whittier," she insisted. "Every friend I had just seemed determined to make me win. They formed an endless chain, and subscriptions came in from people I'd never heard of before.

"Of course, I'm known to a lot of people through my vocal work. That helped me, too, though I never knew I was so popular. I'm very happy to have won anything, and I'm very grateful to The Times for making my winning possible.

JAIL TWO AS PURSE ROBBERS

Detectives Hold Woman Who Says She Has Been Arrested 72 Times

Two women were arrested yesterday by the police as pickpockets.

One of them gave the name of Mrs. Lucille Abel, and said she was 25 years of age and married. She was taken into custody in a department store at Fifth and Broadway by Store Detectives Fountain and Williams. It is said she took a purse containing $1.36 out of the shopping bag of Mrs. J. W. Fitzpatrick of 5519 Buchannon street. She admitted this, the detectives said, when taken to the City Jail and booked on suspicion of petty larceny.

The other woman gave the name of Mrs. Fannie Lipton and said she was 55 years of age. She has been in jail seventy-two times, according to the police. She was arrested on the street at Sixth and Broadway by Mrs. R. B. Rogers, detective for the Merchants' Retail Association, after she had been followed out of a store by the detective.

It was asserted Mrs. Lipton took a purse from a customer, but that believing she had been observed, threw the purse away. She was booked also at the City Jail on suspicion of petty larceny.

Family Can Use New Tickets on Hollywood Line

The 8-cent commutation ticket to Hollywood, which becomes effective the 20th inst., will not be limited to the use of the purchaser alone, this specification being made by the State Railroad Commission in its recent decision. This announcement was made late yesterday by D. W. Pontius, vice-president and general manager of the Pacific Electric Railway in answer to inquiries.

The new books, which are of the sixty-ride class, will be limited for use for forty days. As is the case with present commutation ticket books, the new book must be presented to conductor upon entering car and ticket for or tickets individual or party will be detached by the conductor.

Mr. Pontius stated that the books now are being printed, and that the company hopes to place them on sale at the different agencies in advance of the date they become effective.

Five additional cars for the Hollywood service arrived in Los Angeles yesterday and in a few days will go in service. Five others are en route and the remainder will be shipped at the rate of five each week until order of fifty is completed.

HUMOROUS BANDITS TAKE CAR AND CASH

AUTO RECOVERED AT PLACE ROBBERS PROMISED TO LEAVE IT

Two bandits with revolvers and a sense of humor held up and robbed W. A. Smith of Palo Alto of a $100 watch, $20 and a gun at the intersection of Twenty-fourth street and Maple avenue early yesterday morning.

Mr. Smith reported to the police that he was driving by the intersection of Seventh street and Maple avenue when the two men jumped on the running board of his automobile and, shoving revolvers against his body, ordered him to drive south on Maple avenue. When they reached Twenty-fourth street the bandits made Mr. Smith step out of his car after they had rifled his pockets.

As one of the men slipped behind the wheel of the car he said to Mr. Smith, standing in the street, "All right stranger, much obliged. We want to use your bus for a few minutes. We'll leave it at Ninth and Main streets when we're through with it."

HARBOR SURVEY PASSES SENATE

Los Angeles has barely scratched the surface of its harbor development and that with the increase in industrial development, smelting and steel mills and unlimited supplies of power and fuel the harbor will be the center of the greatest industrial development in the entire West.

Hard-headed business men who have studied the Los Angeles Harbor predict that its development will soon make the city of Los Angeles fourth in population and industrial activity, being exceeded only by New York, Chicago and Philadelphia. With proper Federal support they predict that in twenty years Los Angeles will have surpassed even Philadelphia in population and will combine the industrial activity and distributive powers now possessed by very few cities of the world.

In addition to the survey for Los Angeles-Long Beach Harbor there is provision for a survey of Newport Harbor and Oakland. South San Francisco Harbor and entrance are also to be surveyed as well as Mare Island turning basin and the Sacramento and San Joaquin rivers. As passed by the Senate it is in the form approved by the House and goes to the President for signature.

Burglars Take Plenty of Time During Robbery

Leaving numerous cigarette stubs strewn about the rugs as evidence that they had conducted their work in a leisurely manner, burglars early yesterday morning looted the residence of Mrs. Lee Belden, 333 South Berendo avenue, of furs and clothing valued at $5000.

The thieves gained entrance apparently by the use of a pass key, as Detective Sergt. MacD. Jones, who investigated, reported no window or door jimmied. Every room in the large house, according to the detective, was thoroughly ransacked. Bureau drawers were left upside down on the floors, their contents strewn about. Trunks were broken into and bed mattresses torn open in the search for valuables.

The loot included one mink fur valued at $1500, one fox fur valued at $1500, and gowns and dresses valued at $2000. Mrs. Belden was absent at the time of the burglary.

Both departments of the court will be running from Wednesday on through the remainder of the present week.

KHJ RADIOS TO THOSE AT SEA

New Radio Song Makes Its Debut from "Times"

It is no far stretch of memory to hark back when friends and home folks stood on the wharf and waved farewell, not to be heard from again until the returning steamer brought the passengers back. Last night marked a revision of form. Radio telephony, the newest of scientific discoveries, functioned yesterday to bring vividly back to the hundreds aboard the City of Los Angeles, inaugurating Los Angeles-Honolulu steamship service, thoughts of home and the friends they left ashore when the ship began its epoch-making voyage earlier in the day.

KHJ, The Times radiophone, carried out on the Pacific a program dedicated to those aboard—a program especially arranged to show the Los Angeles spirit and also with the thought in mind of giving to those making the inaugural trip, songs and music in harmony with the occasion.

Soprano, tenor, baritone, violinist and pianist joined to make the occasion memorable. Such songs as "I Love You California," which carried home to those aboard, "Aloha," the famed Hawaiian farewell song, "The Heidelberg Stein Song," and "It's Always Fair Weather When Good Fellows Get Together," carried an intimacy which is always born of good-fellowship gatherings.

Moreover, a song new to radioland and to the public in general, was heard from KHJ during the evening. This is a song in which radio is the theme and which was written and composed by a local musician — Norma B. Dennison, who also played an excellent violin solo on last night's program. The title of the new song is "I'll Broadcast a Song to My Sweetheart," which was ably sung by Ethel M. L. Chestnut, accompanied by Bess D. Cornell. With nut's voice, coupled with Mrs. Cornell's accompaniment, the appeal of the word and music — brainchildren of Miss Dennison — carried out into radioland a song they could call their own, for it was born of radio.

Lawrence M. Tibbett, who has a host of admirers in the Los Angeles musical fraternity, and among all music lovers who have heard his splendid baritone solo work, came again to KHJ last night and by special request sang, "Heidelberg Stein Song," that old favorite which typifies get-together occasions, and also that familiar song which every club of the country has echoed—"It's Always Fair Weather, When Good Fellows Get Together." Mr. Tibbett is leaving shortly for New York, where he will go into concert work and this marked his last radio concert for many months in Los Angeles. He will give a farewell concert at the Gamut Club on Thursday and leave immediately after for New York. He was accompanied by Bess D. Cornell.

Norma B. Dennison, composer-violinist, in addition to contributing the new radio song which KHJ broadcasted last night, also interpreted a violin number, "Kol Nidrei," by Max Bruch. Miss Dennison has the inherent ability to interpret the motif which prompted the composers with true accuracy, and her playing was keenly appreciated by listeners-in generally, judging from the reports which came in by telephone following the concert.

O. D. Goerz, tenor, won a host of admirers last night with his excellent interpretation of three selections, "Invictus," by Bruno Huhn; "Aloha," by Liliuokalani; "There's a Land," by Allitson. Mr. Goerz has a distinctly clear and compelling voice of rich tonal quality.

Bernice Twombley, soprano, accompanied by Lillian Carson, sang three selections, Mussetta's Waltz Song from "La Boheme," in Italian; "I Love You, California," by Schertzinger, and "Sorter Miss You," by Clay Smith. The rich quality of Miss Twombley's voice was evident in all her numbers and she interprets measure in high range with no apparent sense of strain.

Two artists gave the afternoon concert yesterday, one a mature vocal achievement, the other a youthful instrumental soloist.

Francis Lewis, whose dramatic soprano voice has not been heard previously from KHJ, accompanied at the piano by Mrs. Charles Bowes, sang three superb selections. Her voice has that clear quality which can be likened only to the tones of a bell, and the range and force is such that listeners are at once pleased. Coupled with this, her clear enunciation insures every word getting to the listener, and thus none of the beauty of the voice, melody or words is lost through radio transmission. Her numbers were: "Divinites du Styx" from the opera, "Alcespe," by Gluck; "Bird of the Wilderness," by Horsman, and "In Italy," by Boyd.

The youthful instrumentalist heard yesterday during the afternoon concert was little "Cissie," Geschichter, recently arrived from London. Playing through the courtesy of the Barker School of Music, "Cissie," who has been playing in public two and one-half years, or since she was 6, gave exceptional interpretations of difficult scores and exhibited rare talent for one so young. She began studying under Beno Moisevich in London when she was 4 and at 6 appeared in public in London. Since then she has traveled extensively and has come to Los Angeles to make her home. She played yesterday: "Rondo I," by Mozart, and two gavottes by Stephen Heller.

Practically every large radio broadcast and naval radio station in the United States is expected to give a play-by-play report of the world's series baseball games this year. Direct wires from the baseball park will convey information of every play practically the moment it happens to all sections of the country, and this will be relayed by radio the instant it is received. A radio player board about a foot square is being prepared by an Eastern concern, with which the listener-in with his receiving set at home, may follow the game, play by play, just as closely as from an electric player board.

Hearing KZN, the Salt Lake City Deseret News station, appears to be the supreme ambition these evenings of practically every broadcast listener in this region who is out after distance. Allen Turner, 5923½ Willoughby avenue, reports getting the whole of KZN's program Saturday night between 8 and 9 through QRM from local stations. That is pretty good work considering that Salt Lake City is about 600 miles distant, and that the local stations are virtually on the same wave. Every word from KZN comes in as clear as if the station was only a few miles away, according to Mr. Turner.

Reports from Pioche, Nev., and Gaston, Or., seem to indicate that winter radio weather is fast approaching, and that Old Man Static is about to die a natural death for this year at least. Samual M. DeBolt of Pioche, and Mrs. J. E. Margeson of Gaston write to say that KHJ is coming through in fine style. Mrs. Margeson writes she is only using a single tube. Gaston is about thirty-three miles west of Portland. With the lifting of the blanket of static this fall great results are expected. The hearing of distant broadcast stations will be a nightly occurrence, and Seattle, Denver and Kansas City radiophones will probably be listened for as regularly by people in the Southwest as Los Angeles stations.

The color tone and the general appearance of a radio broadcast room has an effect upon the senses and emotions of the musical artists and entertainers, it is declared. And now the Rensselaer Polytechnic Institute, Troy, N. Y., is making a special study of colors and artistic temperments. Experiments are being conducted at the Rensselaer station—WHAZ—where a special suite of rooms have been set aside to permit of an ever-varying study of the problems in connection with broadcasting.

FIGHT AUTO BANDITS

Robbers Compelled to Tie Victims to Telephone Poles

Joe Garcia of Sunset Boulevard and North Sping street and Reerjor Andrada of 121 South San Pedro street put up such a fight when held up by two auto bandits at Sunset Boulevard and North Broadway early yesterday morning that the bandits were compelled to tie both men to telephone poles before they could rob them.

Andrada told the police that one of the men struck him over the head with a revolver, knocking him unconscious. When he regained consciousness, he was tied to a telephone pole and $160 he had had in his pockets was gone.

Former Musical Comedy Star Plays Today

Jack Regan, Saxophonist

U.S.C. VS. CAL. TICKETS SOON

Tickets for the U.S.C. vs. California football game which is to be staged at the Tournament of Roses Park in Pasadena, October 28, were sent to press yesterday, according to Graduate Manager Gwyn Wilson of the Trojan college.

Forty-five thousand tickets are to be printed and letters are to be sent out at once by the two colleges to their alumni, asking them to place their orders on or before October 16 when the tickets will be placed on sale for the general public.

MOLESKINS DUG UP BY PIONEERS

"Now that school's begun, we'll waste no time in preparing for the coming football games, both interscholastic and interclass," Bruce Kirkpatrick, football coach of Los Angeles High, told his gridiron squad yesterday. "I plan to make Los Angeles successful in the pigskin game, and with several of last year's letter men back, everything looks bright."

The football coaches, Herb White, Bruce and Harry Kirkpatrick, have a big advantage for early practice, due to the fact that the field is in the best of condition. Football togs have been issued to many prospects, including such men as Thompson, Dennis, and Phillips. Programs for early practice periods have been so arranged as not to interfere with the students' studies, and today two periods of practice will be held.

"I have nothing to say as to who's going to be picked for the first team, outside of the last year letter men," replied the mentor of the Pioneers, "but I can state this: that it's to be a mighty fine bunch of players from Los Angeles that'll grapple with other schools. I've sized up the candidates, and it looks good."

The physical training department will hold a special class for linemen out at the Pioneer school, and from this, training as well as prospects for the teams can be had.

Jack Sparr is scheduled to mix with "Young" Friedlander in the main event of the Arcadia boxing show tonight in San Francisco. Sparr broke in up north a couple of months ago when he fought Eddie Diggins off his feet. If he gets over the hard-hitting Friedlander, he will very likely be given further ring work.

Kinsey Eliminates Former National Champ

Australian Players Win at Philadelphia

[EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH.]

GERMANTOWN CRICKET CLUB (Philadelphia, Pa.) Sept. 11.—Sixteen men remain in the national singles championship of the United States, now being played at Germantown Cricket Club. Three Australians, one Spaniard, one Japanese and eleven Americans represent the field.

Francis T. Hunter gained a sensational five-set victory from L. B. Rice after trailing two sets to one. This brings the hard-hitting New Rochelle star against G. L. Patterson, the world champion, whom he defeated at Seabright. Hunter and Rice engaged in a driving duel with Hunter slightly more severe and equally steady. In the closing sets Rice lost a shade of his certainty so that Hunter held command to the end. Score, 7-9, 6-3, 3-6, 6-3, 6-3.

Howard O. Kinsey made a great comeback and by so doing eliminated the popular veteran and former national champion, W. J. Clothier. The famous Philadelphian won the first two sets by clever court generalship, but the young Californian wisely ran him as far as possible so that as Clothier tired the offensive passed into Kinsey's hands. He won by the score of 2-6, 8-10, 6-4, 6-4, 6-1.

CARRIES GREAT GALLERY

Manuel Alonzo carried the great gallery by storm by his sensational tennis against S. H. Voshell, whom he defeated, 6-2, 6-1, 6-3. It was championship tennis in every department that the wonderful Spaniard played today. Every shot in the game was at his command while his speed was simply incredible. Voshell played well, but even his game could not stop the speeding Spaniard. Alonzo hit with marvelous abandon off the ground, sharply angling his returns and winning outright off the shots that looked like winners for Voshell. Frankly, I believe Alonzo will be the sensation of the tournament. Such tennis as he played today would extend even Bill Johnston at his best.

Little Bill had a thrill in his first set with Stanley Pearson, when the national squash champion, playing faultless tennis, ran out to a lead of 5-2. Johnson with the customary courage lifted his game to its top flight and crashed through to a win, 9-7, 6-1, 6-2.

ANZACS ADVANCE

The three Australian Davis Cup stars, J. O. Anderson, Gerald L. Patterson and Pat O'Hara Wood, advanced in sequence set victories over L. E. Williams, W. W. Ingraham and W. E. Davis respectively.

Patterson was inclined to take it easy against Young Ingraham, but he soon discovered that if he let up in his speed the youngster was his equal off the ground. Ingraham worked hard and fully earned the games he won. The tremendous speed of Patterson's overhead and famous service held the young American at bay whenever he threatened.

Anderson was in magnificent form against Duke Williams. The intercollegiate champion played well, but the superior forehand of the Australian was the deciding factor.

VARIES HIS DRIVE

Anderson varied his favorite cross-court drive with a fast straight shot that was a consistent winner. Williams always threatened but could not quite gain the offensive. He held a good lead at 3-0 in the third set, but Anderson overhauled him and finally ran out the watch. Pat O'Hara Wood was always too strong for Willis Davis. It was a fine all-court game with no weakness against a great service and net attack and as always the all-court game won. The ease with which Wood handled the tremendous service of Davis, and the skill with which he outgeneraled the California star proved how truly great a player he is.

All three Australians looked particularly good to me today. It will require a hard struggle before any or all of these stars are eliminated.

SHOWS PROMISE

Shimidzu outclassed Young Potter Wear, but the little Philadelphia lad showed great promise by his hard work and earnest effort. He well deserved the three games he won.

Vincent Richards ran away from Carl F. Fischer in three sets, playing well within his abilities and showing a marked return to form. Fischer was far from his best. Seldom have I seen him waste so many easy shots or throw away so many chances. Richards wisely allowed him to make as many errors as he would, never forcing the issue when Fischer was in the throes of a "missing" streak.

Herbert L. Bowman scored a victory over F. T. Anderson in five bitter sets in one of the closest and hardest fought battles of the tournament. It is the third win for Bowman over his young rival.

HAS BAD BREAK

Bob Kinsey, Wallace Johnson and Watty Washburn advanced as expected, only Washburn unexpectedly dropping a set to Charest. The one-armed star had a bad break of luck when, leading at 1 set, 5-4 and 40-30 Washburn's return hit a ball lying in the court and fell

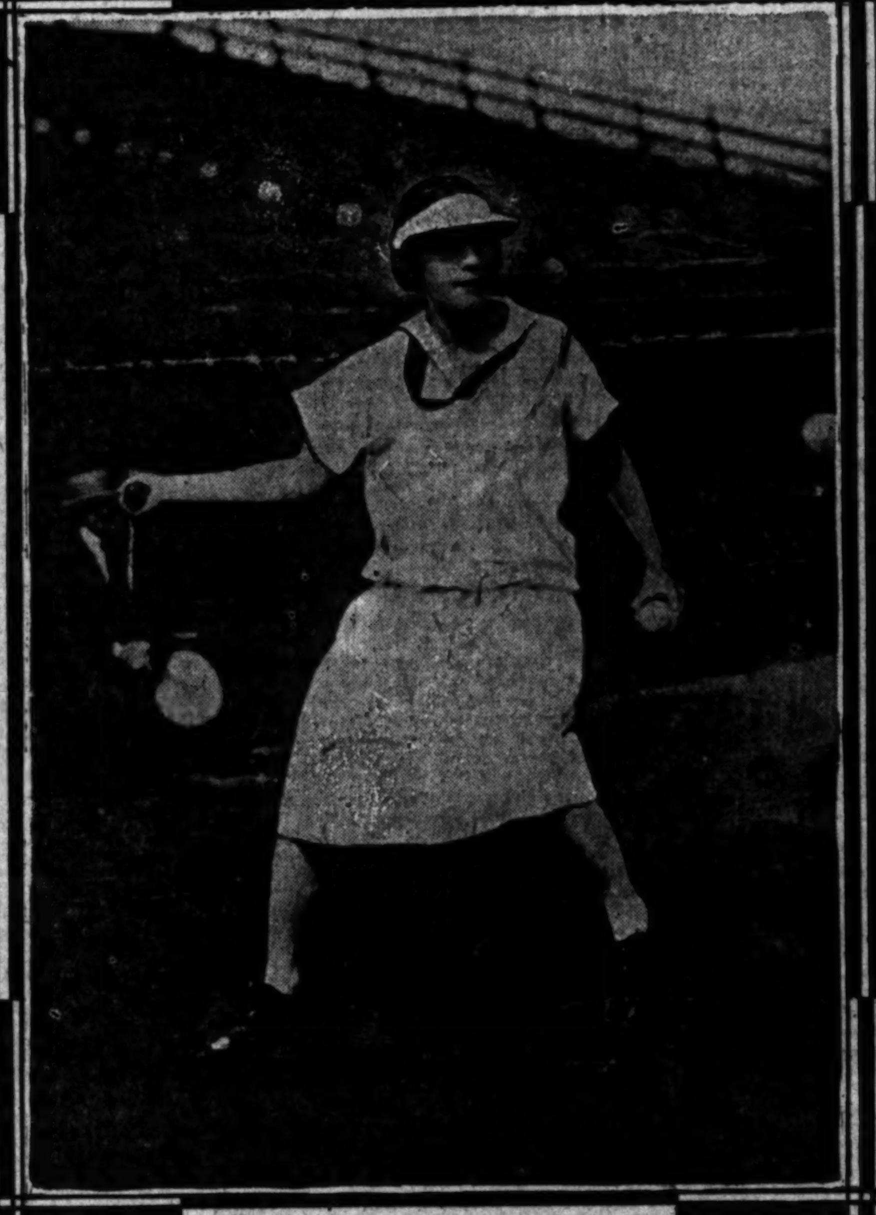
May Reign as Tennis Queen Some Day



Youthful Californian Climbs Rapidly to Fore

Here is shown Helen Wills, the 16-year-old tennis marvel of Berkeley. Although she has been playing but a few years, tennis critics freely predict that she will become world's champion some day. The California lassie won her opening match in the women's lawn-tennis tournament at Philadelphia yesterday and is favorite to annex the championship. She also advanced to the third round in the girls' tourney. [Keystone photo.]

HELEN WILLS TRIUMPHS

Berkeley Girl Wins Matches in Women's Tennis Championships and Girls' Tourney

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE.]

PHILADELPHIA, Sept. 11.—Seven of the eight seeded players entered in the women's Middle States lawn-tennis championship tournament at the Philadelphia Cricket Club won their matches today in easy fashion. The eighth, Miss Claire Cassell of New York, defaulted to Miss Mildred Willard of Merion.

Miss Helen Wills, the Berkeley high school girl, not only won her match in the women's tournament, but advanced to the third round in the girl's national championships. In the Middle States event she defeated Miss Genevieve Fox, Southampton, L. I., 6-0, 6-2, in the girl's tournament she won a first-round match by default and she disposed of Miss Eleanor Calchan, Philadelphia, in the second round without the loss of a game.

Other survivors in the women's tournament included Mrs. Molla Bjurstedt Mallory, national champion; Mrs. Marion Zinderstein Jessup, Wilmington, Del., Miss Sigourney, Boston, Miss Florence Ballin, New York, Miss Molly D. Thayer, Philadelphia, and Miss Leslie Bancroft, Boston.

Mrs. Mallory defeated Mrs. F. Kind, Philadelphia, 6-0, 6-0; Mrs. Jessup eliminated Miss Gertrude Stheimer, Philadelphia, 6-0, 6-0; Miss Sigourney beat Miss Nancy Knowles, Philadelphia, 6-0, 6-0; Miss Ballin beat Miss Vinette Willard, Philadelphia, 6-0, 6-0; Miss Thayer defeated Miss G. Hutchinson, Philadelphia, 6-2, 6-4; Miss Bancroft beat Miss P. Anderson, Richmond, Va., 6-2, 6-1.

MARKS AND GRIFFIN TO TANGLE FRIDAY

Dandy Dick Griffin has been granted a return bout with little Georgie Marks. The Fort Worth boxer seems confident that he can wrest the Coast bantamweight title from Marks in the main event at the American Legion, Hollywood arena next Friday night.

Jimmy Fitten vs. Joe Whitam, 128 pounds.
Jimmy Hackley vs. Young Leopold, 126 pounds.
Danny Martin vs. Les Mason, 118 pounds.
Everett McGowan vs. Tommy Fox, 145 pounds.

Tommy Simpson, the Oakland fistic impresario, stages a rather attractive card at the Oakland Auditorium next Wednesday night. Five boxers who have figured in main events at Vernon and Hollywood have been lined up by Simpson.

ANDY SMITH ON JOB

Andy Smith is in town. The Bruin football coach hit L. A. yesterday on the Owl and beat it in lightning fashion for the Southern Branch, home of the baby Bears, for Andy is to help Trotter whip the Cublets into shape for the conference tilts.

After a short talk in which he emphasized the necessity of team work, Smith put the Branchers through a stiff workout. Most of the afternoon was devoted to scrimmage practice, tackling coming in for its share of attention. In the course of the day's work Andy was able to locate some real football material, and has hopes of helping Harry Trotter produce a humdinger of an eleven to represent the Southern Branch this season.

No information was obtainable from the Bruin coach about his northern team, but from the smile on his face, it was easy to see that Andy is optimistic. With almost the same team he had last season, it is hard to conceive of any cause for worry.

Smith will remain in the Southland about a week. His entire stay will be devoted to the work of producing a winner for the Southern Branch.

GORMAN TO MAKE BOW AT VERNON

Classy Portland Boxer Will Meet Danny Kramer in Main Event Tonight

Little Joe Gorman of Portland will make his first start in Southern California's four-round game tonight when he tackles Southpaw Danny Kramer in the main event of the weekly boxing show at Jack Doyle's Vernon arena. Gorman comes to this section with a dandy reputation. He is said to be one of the hardest punching 130-pounders ever developed around Oregon. Kramer has been stepping along at a fast pace during the past six weeks. He has fought three times, losing but one verdict, it being to Young Brown after the toughest kind of an argument.

A couple of promising 135-pounders are down for the semi-wind-up. They are Ad Mackey and Solly Seaman. The latter has started twice at the old fight shanty, winning both bouts in clean-cut style. In going against Mackey he is meeting a youngster who figures to make the going fairly rough.

Johnny Trambitas and Jimmy Morris are listed for the feature preliminary. It will be Trambitas's first start here in something like a year.

George Sirey and Larry Murphy, 118-pounders, will tangle in a battle that should be one of the bright spots of the evening. Murphy is one of the toughest little fellows to start at Vernon in many moons.

Louie Stegemeyer and Ernest Owens, middleweights, are the heaviest fellows on the program. Other battles scheduled and the order in which they will be staged follow: Eddie Smith vs. Joe Mandot, 118 pounds, and George Stone vs. Charlie Ringler, 145 pounds. The bouts will be refereed by George Blake.

LOUIE AND FARRELL TO MIX AT COVINA

Kid Louie boxes Young Farrell at 118 pounds in the main event of the American Legion boxing program to be held in the Covina stadium Friday night, Matchmaker Bert Mills announced yesterday. Joe Chaney and Kid Layman mix in the semi-wind-up.

Other bouts:

Art Springer vs. Bud Carter, 125 pounds.
Jimmy Gallon vs. Jimmy Butler, 130 pounds.
Art Gayer vs. Bob Howard, 125 pounds.
Young Moreno vs. Pete Martin, 118 pounds.

PREP COACHES TURN GLOOMY

Sid Foster States He is Doomed Again

Loss of Men Hits Artisans Hard Blow

Tommy Davis Also Bumped by Losses

BY JOHN PROCTOR

With the city schools once more swinging along as though there had never been such a thing as vacation, the minds of all good students are turning toward that manly sport known as pigskinning, or football.

All of the works of the school machine are rather gummed up, as the coaches insist that an early start in football practice is much more important than an early start in mathematics, or any of the other subjects that make the head of the youthful tanbark artist ache more than the worst spill on a hard gridiron can.

"The school is going to the dogs," he avows. "I haven't got a real veteran back for the team. Oh! I have seven lettermen but what do they amount to. They don't know anything about football. I called for a turnout of all of the men who wanted to play football yesterday and there were not more than 250 if there were that many. Half of them were little fellows that did not weigh over 150 pounds and couldn't play football with a dummy.

FEW VETERANS BACK

"The only men who can be said to ever have had any experience on a sawdust-covered field, beyond climbing under a circus tent, are Reggie Newman, who played as substitute half last year; Ralph McGarry, Harvy McLean, Cliff Foster, Bobbie Bond, the little lad who played as featherweight quarterback; Max Allen, this season's captain, Eugene Van Dame, Tommy Towle, and Dan Hudleson.

"Of course, these men will be better than nothing, but they do not seem to be the kind of men that we had last year. They ought to improve though. They have to absorb some of the training and practice, it's only natural. However, Manual has little chance of developing a team like the one that the Artisans had last season."

While no one can prove it, the talk of Sid sounds like a mess of Gloomy Gus Henderson's talk. It would not be at all surprising if the Gray and Purple mentor had been hanging around with the Trojan artist.

FOSTER GLOOMY

Foster has stated in the most heartrending of terms that as a team he has nothing but a bunch of half-paralyzed children, as a result of having graduated about a dozen men who were not as much good to the team as the team was

TO CHANGE METHOD IN TOURNEYS

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE.]

DEL MONTE, Sept. 11.—Officers and directors of the California Golf Association today announced that a radical change in the method of conducting State amateur championship tournaments at Del Monte and Pebble Beach would be inaugurated next year as a result of the annually increasing number of entrants. Next year only the sixty-four low scorers in the first day's round of eighteen holes will be qualified for position in the championship flight in which thirty-two will be eliminated. For them the Del Monte Cup flight will be staged and the remainder of the field will play only eighteen holes for places in the lower flights.

There was some talk of limiting the number eligible to championship to players whose handicap ranged from nothing to twelve and barring all others. The new plan, however, will give all players a chance for the championship and at the same time allow the handling of an even greater number than was handled this year as two courses are available and it will not be necessary for the entire field to go thirty-six holes. The number of entrants in 1920 was 180; in 1921, 294 and a total of 370 entered this year, exclusive of the ninety-two in the women's tournament.

CHESS TOURNEY

A. J. Fink of San Francisco took the lead yesterday in the chess tourney now in progress at the Los Angeles Athletic Club, by defeating Shaeder, while Barochow was losing to Miotkowski. Lyons beat Smith, and is tied for second place with Miotkowski and Barachow, a half point behind Fink. Mugridge lost to Whipple, Smyth lost to Grabill and Patterson and Perry broke the monotony by playing a draw.

The adjourned games Saturday afternoon between Miotkowski and Shaeder and Grabill and Lyons were both drawn.

Each player has four more games to play before the tourney closes next Friday night.

Angels Conquer Portland With Much Ease

Rex Baldwin Kept Hopping Hooking High Ones

[EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH.]

PORTLAND, Sept. 11.—The Angels won today's game so easily that they hardly worked up a sweat doing it, though the day was a 98-in-the-shade scorcher without any shade. The score was 7 to 3. The home athletes suffered from acute inability to hit the pellet anywhere but in the air, no fewer than eighteen of their attempts being lofty infield or outfield flies.

The hardest working athlete on the ball field was Red Baldwin, Los Angeles catcher. For some reason the Beavers seemed to figure that if they hit 'em often enough and high enough, Red eventually would drop a foul, so they kept popping them over his head to port and larboard, but the higher they soared the easier Red snached them. He hauled in six skyscrapers.

Another event of note was the fact that the defeat was the 100th of the season for the Beavers. Two clubs in the league, San Francisco and Vernon, have won 100 games this year, but the Beavers are the first to lose that many.

The Killeferites lost no time putting the contest away. In the first inning, with two out, they obtained a two-run lead on a steal, four infield singles and a sacrifice fly. Carroll made the first of the four hits and the steal.

In the third the Angels scored one on another steal by McCabe, sandwiched between two hits. In the fourth they got two more, a single and two doubles by Spencer and Carroll doing it. Score:

SEALS TAKE SEVENTH STRAIGHT FROM SUDS

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE.]

SEATTLE, Sept. 11.—The Seals today continued their progress toward the pennant by winning the seventh straight game from the Indians. The score was 14 to 3. Gregg, pitching for Seattle, received poor support. Scott, who was in the box for San Francisco, was effective at all times. Willie Kamm knocked his third home run of the series. Score:

OLD-TIMERS IN BALL TILT

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE.]

BOSTON, Sept. 11.—Twenty thousand fans saw an all-star American League team of old-timers defeat a similar team recruited from old National League stars, 28 to 7, at Braves Field this afternoon. The game was sponsored by the Boston Post and the net receipts go to the Children's Hospital.

Jimmy Collins, one-time brilliant third baseman for the Red Sox, was captain of the American League team, and Fred Tenney, Boston National first sacker of two decades back, was director of the other team.

Cy Young pitched the first two innings for the Collins team against Charley (Kid) Nichols, and honors were with Young. The play and the hitting of Freddy Parent, shortstop for the winners, was a feature, as was the infielding of Capt. Collins, Bill Bradley and Larry Lajoie. Comedy was supplied by Nick Altrock.

The score by innings:

	1	2	3	4	5	6	7	8	9	R.	H.	E.
Nationals	0	3	1	0	1	0	0	0	2—7		19	2

P. C. L. race is taking on much the florid complexion of a two-club sprint, with Vernon and San Francisco developing most of the speed.

Possibly a flicker of hope for Los Angeles still remains, but way Tigers and Seals have been going the chances of the Angels appear rather remote. These clubs have been traveling at a terrific clip and apparently mean to maintain it down to the wire. While they may get bumped in unexpected places from time to time, there is no apparent sign of a general collapse.

Last season it was a three-club race down to the final fortnight. Two-club races are not desirable, but cannot be helped. They present a bad situation. Tendency of the six other teams, realizing that they are out of it, is to succumb to discouragement or at least become indifferent and drop further behind, while the two contenders mount higher. Also those out of the race generally try out some of their recruits. These things tend to leave a clear field to the two pacemakers and they generally win inordinately or out of all proportion to the normal or balanced strength of the league.

As between Vernon and San Francisco the writer always has regarded the former as the better ball team. This appraisement was based mainly on the exhibitions given here by the Seals. They did not look impressive on the local lot. Essick's team in the past couple of months has played the best consistently good ball seen on the Coast in recent years. The Malermen have overlooked no tricks.

Judging from following paragraph from letter which I have received from Hyatt Daab, formerly a feature writer on the New York Telegram, we are to have a glimpse of the new golf champ next summer.

"It's been nearly two years now since you shook the dust of Broadway off your Wingfoot heels. Yesterday I had lunch with Grantland Rice and Bugs Bear and we all wondered how things are going with you. Ray McCarthy, golfing expert on the Tribune, also spoke of you recently and thought he would see you when he escorts young Gene Sarazen along the Coast on a golfing tour next summer."

That which astounds me is that bright birds like this will continue to exist in New York when there is one place in which a guy can actually live. Write Frank Wiggins for the necessary literature.

Wonder why all of us have been overlooking Spud Murphy. Spud has gone through the season largely unheralded and unsung, and yet there are few better backstops in the minors.

Must be that the heroic shadow of Truck Hannah has tended to obscure him. Murphy is a steady receiver, strong pegger and heavy hitter and unusually fast for a catcher. He's classy. Possibly the ease with which Spud operates tends to make the fans accept his even effectiveness as a matter of course.

* * *

Unfortunate in the extreme that Manager Lewis felt compelled to fine and suspend two of his players for indifferent work. Although the club is hopelessly out of the race, with two or three exceptions the Salt Lake players were fighting hard to win. Doubtless the alleged loafing was due to laziness, or perchance to sheer weariness of the flesh contracted in an overdose of double-headers, but at this stage there are always those who put their own construction on incidents of this sort, and these constructions are not always helpful to the game.

It isn't human for a team out of the race to play with the same spirit as a contender, but mechanical indifference, and it comes easily to a track-sore player, is something which the fans find it difficult to excuse.

SIMON-PURES PREPARE

Vim, vigor and much pep will be the outstanding features of the boxing program to be staged in the gymnasium of the Los Angeles Athletic Club next Thursday night.

George Blake's coterie of fistic luminaries are anxious to get busy in the squared circle again after a two months' layoff and nine of the peppiest fistic tilts held in this city in some time are promised when the mitt slingers set-to their work next Thursday evening.

Two demon middleweights will clash in the main event. They are Fred Zwickey and Ad Allegrini. The latter copped the title in this division in the Southern California tourney. Zwickey did not compete, due to overweight, but since that time he has trained down to the middleweight mark and is anxious to try conclusions with Allegrini.

Al Cleveland and Ed Hawkins, two of the "finds" of the tourney, have also been given a prominent place on next Thursday's bill. They are welterweights and they will appear in the semi-wind-up. Cleveland won the welterweight title, while Hawkins finished second. The latter, however, is confident he can reverse the decision, and a fiery affair is expected.

FRANK MILLER COPS FLAG GOLF TOURNEY

[EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH.]

POMONA, Sept. 11.—Frank M. Miller, managed to dump his golf ball into the eighteenth hole on the last of his allotted number of strokes and was proclaimed winner of the flag golf tournament held yesterday over the course of the Mountain Meadows Country Club. Together with his handicap of eighteen, Miller was given ninety strikes to get around the course. Par for the course is 72 and all entries had their handicaps added onto this figure. Frank Taylor, Bert Harvey, Ralph Gray, A. C. Abbott and Aron Thomas finished in the order named. Eighteen players were entered in the match.

FIGHTING EARL LITTLE WANTS TO START WAR

Fighting Earl Little had a bad attack of fight fever yesterday and instead of being satisfied with challenging one man to a fight issued an open challenge to no less than three.

First he would like a chance to score a good long knockout over Jack Inman, who once was granted a technical kayoe over him. When he finishes Jack off in the approved moving-picture fashion he wants to take Johnnie Lee down the line for the count. He believes firmly that he can put the latter boy to sleep in less than the usual four rounds.

Little would like a chance to finish a good day's work by fighting Victor Alexandra, who once scored a knockout over the Fighting Earl. The boy weighs 150 pounds and is anxious to get a bout at either Vernon or the Hollywood American Legion arena.

CLASSY FIGHT CARD FOR EL RIO ARENA

[EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH.]

EL RIO, Sept. 11.—Ben Whitman has lined up a first-class card for Wednesday night at his boxing arena here and states that as a headliner he is to have a battle royal between five Mexicans.

Judging by the reports drifting in from Lower California, the fans who attend the meeting at the pavillion Wednesday should see some classy scrapping in the main event.

Other bouts on the card are: Young Farrell vs. Billie Kennedy, 118 pounds; Dummy Walsh vs. Red Davis, 133; Herb Ryan vs. Charlie Ringler QRPM Benny Whitman vs. Rufus Jackson, 140.

Ruth made his first circuit drive off Naylor in the fifth and his second of Schilling, a Texas League recruit, in the eighth. Ruth also had a pair of doubles. ST. LOUIS, Sept. 11.—McManus' single in the ninth, with the bases full and two outs, enabled St. Louis to take today's game from Detroit, 5 to 4, thus holding the margin between the Yankees and the locals to one and one-half games. McManus' single followed Sisler's triple and passes to Williams and Jacobson after Sisler had tied the score with a three-base hit to right center.

St. Louis took the lead in the second inning by scoring one run and adding another in the fourth. The visitors, however, jumped ahead in the fifth by adding three runs to their lone tally, made in the fourth inning. The Browns tied the score in the eighth, but the ground rules held their rally to one run.

Sisler got two out of five tries, making thirty-nine consecutive games in which he has hit safely or only one game behind the modern major-league record established by Ty Cobb in 1911. He further increased his lead for the season's batting honors over Cobb, who was held to one hit in five times at the plate. Davis was replaced by Pruett after the fifth, who allowed the Tigers only one hit in the last four innings. Score:

OUTFOOTS RIVAL

The outstanding individual performance in the relays was the cracking half mile of Allan B. Helffrich, national titleholder at the distance, in the two-mile event. Helffrich, running as anchor for his team in this event, started at a disadvantage of ten yards back of Jimmy Connolly, "Boston strong boy." The fleet-footed Mercury footer, however, quickly cut down the distance between himself and his rival and in a brilliant burst of speed over the back stretch outfooted Connolly bringing victory to the New York A. C. by a margin of five yards.

Giants Grab Two Games from Braves, Increasing Lead Over Pirates

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE.]

NEW YORK, Sept. 11.—The New York Nationals increased their lead to five and one-half games today by twice defeating Boston by the same score, 7 to 6. The two games, however, were directly opposite. In the first game Jesse Barnes pitched well for seven innings and had a lead of seven runs when he weakened and was stung for four runs in the eighth. Boston scored two more off Ryan in the ninth, but V. Barnes, New York's third pitcher, retired the side on a double play.

In the second game Boston got off to a six-run lead, but the Giants scored five in their half of the fourth and won out in the seventh when Groh scored the tying run on Meusel's single and Kelly brought in the winning run with a sacrifice fly.

The hitting of Powell and Kelly featured, the former getting a triple, three doubles and two singles and a sacrifice fly. Score:

Stanford Club Holds Luncheon for Grid Mentor; Players and Coaches Optimistic

More than 200 members of the Stanford alumni attended a luncheon given by the members of the Los Angeles Stanford Club at the University Club yesterday noon in honor of the new Cardinal coach, Andy Kerr.

The luncheon was planned in order to introduce the new grid mentor to the large number of Stanford men who live in Southern California, and in order to gain the support of the alumni who live in the south.

Several of the members of the 1922 Card team were present and gave talks on the feeling at the university in regard to the coming football season.

"I believe that the 'f' in Stanford stands for 'fight,'" said Kerr when it came his turn to speak, "and I believe that the alumni as well as the student body are going to get behind this season's team and make the men win their games."

Coach Kerr has had twenty-five years as a football coach and has been assistant coach at Pittsburg University for a number of years under Pop Wagner. He played for several years while he was in college and contrary to the general opinion won a large amount of fame, despite the fact that he is a pocket edition in stature.

Dud DeGroot, captain of the 1922 team gave a talk in which he thanked the alumni for the support which they gave the team last year and asked that they might give it to them again this season. He also asked that they use discretion in the way that they criticised the team when a defeat was suffered.

The general opinion of Kerr was very favorable as may be seen from the exclamation of one of the members of the club after the coach had finished speaking.

"If he can coach like he can talk—Oh, boy," said the enthused rooter, "I'm going to every Stanford game this year if I have to walk."

TOMMY O'BRIEN IS BEATEN BY MITCHELL

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE.]

MILWAUKEE (Wis.) Sept. 11.—Pinkey Mitchell, Milwaukee, was tonight given a decision over Tommy O'Brien of California, by a majority of newspaper critics at the ringside at the end of a ten-round bout. The boxers are lightweights. One paper credited O'Brien with a shade decision.

The bout was not satisfactory from the spectators' point of view. Each boxer caused the other to lose his balance in the third and fourth rounds, but there were no knockdowns. The California boy, while he hung on a great deal, delivered several healthy wallops to the body, but the blows did not appear to slow up the Milwaukee boy. Mitchell was the aggressor throughout and the referee was busy in every round separating the boxers. Mitchell appeared to have the advantage of at least seven rounds, two went to O'Brien and one was even.

EFFORTS TO RESTRAIN JUDGE LANDIS FAIL

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE.]

NEW YORK, Sept. 11.—The efforts of Benny Kauf, formerly of the New York Giants outfield, to restrain Baseball Commissioner Landis from barring him from organized baseball, has been dropped.

The announcement to this effect was made here today when the State Supreme Court signed an order discontinuing the action against Commissioner Landis.

Tomorrow the big battles start. Washburn meets Alonzo with the slight edge to the Spaniard. Bob Kinsey plays J. O. Anderson with the odds almost even. Wallace Johnson plays Shimidzu in their first meeting of this season. Last year the Japanese star beat the Philadelphian twice, but I would not be surprised to see Johnson gain revenge this year. Pat O'Hara Wood and I meet to settle an international dispute. Little Bill Johnston, Gerald Patterson, Dick Williams and Vincent Richards should advance, but only after strenuous efforts.

TIGERS ANNEX CLOSING GAME

Bengals Nose Out Mormon Baseballers

James Deals Superb Game for Essick

Local Team Makes It Seven Out of Nine

BY HARRY A. WILLIAMS

Salt Lake's success didn't improve with the dawn of a new week, and Vernon took the final game of the overflow series, 3 to 2. This gave the Tigers the lion's share, seven games out of nine, and 60 per cent of the receipts.

Game was mainly a well-pitched affair by Bill James. Bill had just one sinking spell. That was in the third, when he felt after effects of blow in stomach in former round. In third, Lewis lifted a homer behind single by Myers. Subsequently as he grew stronger, James allowed only one hit and made Salt Lake batting averages look as thin as the air of their native habitat.

SPEED IS ESSENCE

Speed seemed to be the essence of Monday contract, the pastime being completed in one hour and twelve minutes—one of those pastimes at which you don't pass much time. Hot dog runners had completed only one lap when game was finished.

Ball game still had competition. Another circus has moved in and settled down just across the street. Life is getting to be just one rhinoceros after another.

"By gum, this hain't the circus after all," remarked a stranger to Assistant Secretary Jackson after having surveyed the ball game for three innings. "They said something about monkey suits in here, but I ain't seen none."

So said stranger sadly departed for home, but his six-bits remained in the box office.

A MATINEE IDLER

Johnny Cline and Hen Berry were out to give the boys a Monday once over. Hen doesn't deny the report that he may be engaged to double for Rodolph Valentino in the movies. In fact, he admits the possibility of taking Rodolph's job. Hen has always longed to be a matinee idler, and has the proper temperament. Never was able to hold a job at regular work.

Sacramento ball team arrived here and witnessed combat while huddled in one harmonious group, and seemed to enjoy seeing two rival ball teams suffer.

Tigers mauled Myers with some elan in first, although a misjudged fly was largely responsible for the two runs. Chadbourne opened with right field double. Hughie hit a stiff one to center. Maury Schick seemed to have trouble gauging the smash, and was late starting back for it. Result was that pill cleared his dome by some feet. Ball was pursued to fence so earnestly by Schick that High was held at third. Chad, of course, counted on the rap. Hughie held third while Smith went out, Sand to Strand. Takes sand to make a strand so Heinie made good throw after shooing High back to third. Bodie released him with center-field single, and Hyatt banged into double play.

JENKINS HITS HOMER

Joe Jenkins knocked a home run out of James, although the homer didn't become visible until one inning later when Duffy Lewis slammed ball over left field fence. Two down in second with Wilhoit on first as result of own single, when Jenkins made one of Bill's fast ones faster. It was a line drive which hit James a resounding thud in the stomach. Bill picked up the ball and threw Jenkins out at first, keeping his feet by sheer will power. But with the play completed and his duty for the moment fulfilled he collapsed. Bill curled up out there on the diamond looked like a big proposition. But the players unfolded him as best they could, and fanned a bit of breeze back into his lungs. Thus rejuvenated and inflated Bill staggered to his corner, and answered the bell at start of third round. Apparently his great strength had been temporarily undermined by this dent in his constitution, and Salt Lake immediately tied the score. Myers singled and with two down Lewis landed on the convalescent for a homer.

TIGERS UNTIE KNOT

Game was what is technically known as grudge affair. Vernon claims it did not want to play, but was forced to accept challenge hurled by Salt Lake. Bees wanted the money and needed the practice. Essick said his hired help needed a day of rest, but if compelled to play would knock the block off Bees and kick skids out from under Salt Lake in record time. Lewis gave the tired bugs thrill in the ninth by again knocking ball over left-field fence, but it was foul by four inches. Being a fake thrill, some of the fans wanted a rebate, but of course a thrill is a thrill.

REINSMEN PUT IN A GOOD DAY

Three Drivers Divide Trotting Purses Among 'Em at Syracuse Meeting

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE.]

SYRACUSE (N. Y.) Sept. 11.—With all the leading grand-circuit drivers here except the veteran, Geers, who is exhibiting San Ario in the Middle West, the Syracuse meeting in connection with the State fair got off to an auspicious start today. Honors in the opening program consisting of three class events, each for $1000 purses, were divided by Alonzo McDonald, Murphy and Ray.

McDonald, with Dottie Day, had an easy time in the 2:09 class trot, winning three straight heats and making the best time of the day, 2:05 1-2. Worthy Mary, driven by Harry Fleming, was second in each heat and Edith Worthy third.

STRAIGHT HEATS

Murphy drove Plain Mac to decisive victory in the second event, the 2:15 class trot, winning in straight heats. The Frisco Belle, with Ray driving, took second money, with Walter Coxes Let Fly third.

The third event furnished the most spectacular driving of the day when D. M. Maloney, Ray driving came back strong to win after trailing in the first heat.

A brisk breeze caused postponement of Peter Manning's scheduled attempt to lower the world's trotting record. Peter Manning will be started tomorrow, weather permitting. Nedda, 1:59 1-4, is scheduled to start tomorrow for a new world' record for trotting mares.

Great Britain Takes Second Yacht Contest

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE.]

OYSTER BAY (N. Y.) Sept. 11. Great Britain won the second race today in the contests being held off this place for the British-American cup for six-meter yachts by a score of 20 to 16. Despite the victory of the Great Britain four, which is defending the championship trophy, the United States team, which won the opening race on Saturday, 26 to 10, is still leading in the series by a grand total of 42 to 30.

As on Saturday, J. F. Bermingham's Lea, sailed by Vice-Commodore C. Sherman Hoyt, was the first yacht across the finish line. Then came Jean, Coila and Reg, all British craft. Clytie, the second American yacht to finish, was fifth. Then came L'Esprit, another one of the American team. The seventh yacht was Caryl, with Grebe trailing the fleet across the finish line.

The course was a triangular one, made up of a beat, a run and a reach. Each leg was two miles, sailed twice, making a twelve-mile race. The third race, which will be over a windward and leeward course, will be sailed tomorrow.

to them. Blewett was a wonderful half, but he did not add much to the teamwork of the machine. He added a number of points, but in the event that he had been permanently laid out there would have been no one to take his place. With the new machine that the Artisans are going to have to create it is possible that Foster may find another Blewett, in the event that he does not he will have to rely on the more certain, but in a great many cases, less popular arrangement of a clockwork machine.

Lincoln High is in a worse fix than Manual Arts. Only five of the lettermen are on the return list and not all of them are of the best. Two of them were substitutes, Myron Munyon and Harold Vaughan. Both played well, but lacked experience. This season they will probably develop into a pair of good backfield men.

The letter men who played on the team and who are to come back for another dose are Pete Thompson, star fullback and premier punter; Judson Cornwall, tackle; Ainsley Cornwall, Jud's brother, and one of the best 208-pound guards that the city league was able to produce; Jimmy McCue, the game little captain of the team for this season is to take another whirl at the quarterback position, where he played such a fine game last year.

HE SHOULD WORRY

On the whole Tommy Davis has little to worry his head about even if he did lose a bunch of men. He has the distinction of claiming the same amount of glory for his team that all of the other City League coaches claim for their respective teams, though. Namely, that he has little chance to develop a pennant-grabbing aggregation.

He remarks that he has not yet recovered from the loss of Smutz, McGilland, Gene Morgan, Harold Boles, Tony Parra, Elmer Green and Henry Stapler. However, when he was pinned down to the cold facts he admitted that he was depending on the drop-kicking of certain members of the mythical team that he has in mind, to make most of the points for this season's team.

MISS MARY BROWNE ON HER WAY EAST

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE.]

SAN FRANCISCO, Sept. 11.—Miss Mary K. Browne of Los Angeles, who yesterday won the woman's golf championship of California, departed today for New York, where later in the month she will play Mrs. Molla B. Mallory in the East-West tennis matches. Miss Browne stands second in the national rank of women players. She will pair with William M. Johnston of San Francisco, second ranking player in the country, in the doubles until they will meet Mrs. Mallory and William T. Tilden in the East-West doubles.

THE MASQUERADER

By Katherine Cecil Thurston

Eve was standing by the mantel piece. She wore a beautiful gown, a long string of diamonds was twisted about her neck, and her soft, black hair was coiled high after a foreign fashion, and held in place by a large diamond comb. As he entered she turned hastily, almost nervously, and looked at him with the rapid, searching glance he had learned to expect from her; then, almost directly, her expression changed to one of quick concern. With a faint exclamation of alarm she stepped forward.

"What has happened?" she said. "You look like a ghost."

Loder made no answer. Moving into the room, he paused by the oak table that stood between the fireplace and the door.

They made an unconscious tableau as they stood there—he with his hard, set face, she with her heightened color, her inexplicably bright eyes. They stood completely silent for a space—a space that for Loder held no suggestion of time; then finding the tension unbearable, Eve spoke again.

"Has anything happened?" she asked. "Is anything wrong?"

Had he been less engrossed the intensity of her concern might have struck him; but in a mind so harrassed as his there was only room for one consideration—the consideration of himself. The sense of her question reached him, but its significance left him untouched.

By an effort he raised his eyes. No man, he thought, since the beginning of the world was ever set a task so cruel as his. Painfully and slowly his lips parted.

Again Loder was unobservant. But with the dogged resolution that marked him he forced himself to his task.

"You despise lies," he said, at last. "Tell me what you would think of a man whose whole life was one elaborated lie?" The words were slightly exaggerated, but their utterance, their painfully brusque sincerity, precluded all suggestion of effect. Resolutely holding her gaze he repeated his question.

"Tell me! Answer me! I want to know."

"Tell me!" he said again.

"I cannot," she said. "We—I—I could not set myself to judge—any one."

Loder held himself rigidly in hand.

"Eve," he said, quietly, "I was at the 'Arcadian' tonight. The play was 'Other Men's Shoes.' I suppose you've read the book "Other Men' Shoes?"

She was leaning on the mantel piece and her face was invisible to him. "Yes, I have read it," she said, without looking round.

"It is the story of an extraordinary likeness between two men. Do you believe such a likeness possible? Do you think such a thing could exist?" He spoke with difficulty; his brain and tongue both felt numb.

Loder caught at the words. "You're quite right," he said, quickly. "You're quite right. The thing is possible—I've proved it. I know a man so like me that you, even you, could not tell us apart."

In dire difficulty he labored on. "Eve," he began once more, "such a likeness is a serious thing—a terrible danger—a terrible temptation. Those who have no experience of it cannot possibly gauge its pitfalls—" Again he paused, but again the silent figure by the fireplace gave him no help.

"Eve," he exclaimed, suddenly, "if you only knew, if you only guessed what I'm trying to say—" The perplexity, the whole harassed suffering of his mind showed in the words. Loder, the strong, the resourceful, the self-contained, was palpably, painfully at a loss. There was almost a note of appeal in the vibration of his voice.

And Eve, standing by the fireplace, heard and understood. In that moment of comprehension all that had held her silent, all the conflicting motives that had forbidden speech, melted away before the unconscious demand for help. Quietly and yet quickly she turned, her whole face transfigured by a light that seemed to shine from within—something singularly soft and tender.

It came quietly, as most great revelations come. Her voice was low and free from any excitement, her face beautiful in its complete unconsciousness of self. In that supreme moment all her thought, all her sympathy was for the man—and his suffering.

To Loder there was a space of incredulity; then his brain slowly swung to realization. "You know?" he repeated, blankly. "You know?"

Without answering she walked to a cabinet that stood in the window, unlocked a drawer, and drew out several sheets of flimsy white paper, crumpled in places and closely covered with writing. Without a word she carried them back and held them out.

In a long, worthless pause their eyes met. It was as if each looked speechlessly into the other's heart, seeing the passions, the contradictions, the shortcomings that went to the making of both. In that silence they drew closer together than they could have done through a torrent of words. There was no asking of forgiveness, no elaborate confession on either side; in the deep eloquent pause they mutually saw and mutually understood.

"When I came into the morning room today," Eve said, at last, "and saw Lillian Astrupp reading that telegram, nothing could have seemed further from me than the thought that I should follow her example. It was not until afterwards; not until—he came into the room; until I saw that you, as I believed, had fallen back again from what I respected to what I—despised—that I knew how human I really was. As I watched them laugh and talk I felt suddenly that I was alone again—terribly alone. I—I think—I believe I was jealous in that moment—" She hesitated.

But she broke in quickly on the word. "I felt different in that moment. I didn't care about honor—or things like honor. After they had gone it seemed to me that I had missed something—something that they possessed. Oh, you don't know what a woman feels when she is jealous!" Again she paused. "It was then that the telegram, and the thought of Lillian's amused smile as she had read it, came to my mind. Feeling as I did—acting on what I felt—I crossed to the bureau and picked it up. In one second I had seen enough to make it impossible to draw back. Oh, it may have been dishonorable, it may have been mean, but I wonder if any woman in the world would have done otherwise! I crumpled up the papers just as they were and carried them to my own room."

From the first to the last word of Eve's story Loder's eyes never left her face. Instantly she had finished his voice broke forth in irrepressible question. In that wonderful space of time he had learned many things. All his deductions, all his apprehensions had been scattered and disproved. He had seen the true meaning of Lillian Astrupp's amused indifference—the indifference of a variable, flippant nature that, robber of any real weapon for mischief soon tires of a game that promises to be too arduous. He saw all this and understood it with a rapidity born of the moment; nevertheless when Eve ceased to speak the question that broke from him was not connected with this great discovery—was not even suggestive of it. It was something quite immaterial to any real issue, but something that overshadowed every consideration in the world.

"Eve," he said, "tell me your first thought? Your first thought after the shock and the surprise—when you remembered me?"

There was a fresh pause, but one of very short duration; then Eve met his glance fearlessly and frankly. The same pride and dignity, the same indescribable tenderness that had responded to his first appeal shone in her face.

"My first thought was a great thankfulness," she said simply. "A thankfulness that you—that no man—could ever understand."

Chapter XXXII

As she finished speaking Eve did not lower her eyes. To her there was no suggestion of shame in her thoughts or her words; but to Loder, watching and listening, there was a perilous meaning contained in both.

"Thankfulness?" he repeated, slowly. From his newly stirred sense of responsibility pity and sympathy were gradually rising. He had never seen Eve as he saw her now, and his vision was all the clearer for the long oblivion. With a poignant sense of compassion and remorse, the knowledge of her youth came to him—the youth that some women preserve in the midst of the world, when circumstances have permitted them to see much but to experience little.

"Thankfulness?" he said again, incredulously.

A slight smile touched her lips. "Yes," she answered softly. "Thankfulness that my trust had been rightly placed."

She spoke simply and confidently, but the words struck Loder more sharply than any accusation. With a heavy sense of bitterness and renunciation he moved slowly forward.

"Eve," he said, very gently, "you don't know what you say."

She had lowered her eyes as he came towards her; now again she lifted them in a swift, upward glance.

People and Their Troubles

LABOR'S GREATEST POEM

BY JENNIE VAN ALLEN

Labor had Capital by the throat.

San Francisco was in the throes of a bitter battle between employees and employers, for the men of brawn were beginning to recognize their power. Capital had stood with its back against the sea. It had retreated into the deep waters until the rip-tide was sullenly sucking the heels of men who had taken the oath of stand-patters.

The press and the people were powerless to placate either party.

Edwin Markham was a young man struggling for recognition. He was known as a brilliant, forceful writer, but his heart often brimmed with the bitterness of defeat, as the rock on which he stood was slippery with the ebb and flow of a capricious public.

Throughout his literary life it has been his habit to write whatever stirred his pulses, though it might be years before the notes were put in form for publication. When "The Toilers" was exhibited he had been profoundly moved by the pathos of men and women who, through countless generations, have been bowed by work and lashed by circumstances, and he put his vivid impressions into words that came hot from his heart.

One day he had an order to write a poem for a San Francisco newspaper and he took his notebooks to the editor's office, who outlined his plan:

"I want something to rouse the people and stir their blood. I want to throw a bomb into this awful struggle between the two greatest forces in the business world. But it must have a cohesive power that in the end will amalgamate the interests of the employer and the employed. Our nation cannot endure unless capital and labor are riveted together by their interdependence."

Mr. Markham opened his notebooks and read one skeletonized poem after another.

"Good, but not what I want."

The editor sprang to his feet.

"My God, Markham, you've struck the keynote! Get it into shape for the Sunday paper."

There is nothing spectacular in Mr. Markham's literary methods, for he works out his inspirations with exquisite precision. He balances one word against another like a sum in mathematics.

But finally the poem was finished for the big Sunday edition that was destined to have an extraordinary sale. The 5-cent paper jumped in price to a dime, a quarter, half a dollar and a dollar. The demand increased until the final copies were sold for $25 apiece.

The poem created a tremendous sensation. It was telegraphed and cabled all over the world. It was published in every land and translated into every tongue, and for a brief hour capital and labor realized that they were reciprocally dependent—that the real work of the world cannot be done unless brain and brawn work in conjunction.

Mr. Markham had hit the bull's-eye. His feet were on solid rock, for he had struck the right note in life's great harmony. The East called to the man in the West until he left the land where the sun shines last and went to New York, where he ceased to know the bitterness of a rejected manuscript or the heartaches and disappointments that are the common heritage of men and women who write.

If They Eat the Prophet

Up at Middletown, N. Y. groundhogs ready for roasting are being sold in the public markets. Which reminds us of the Scriptural saying. "A prophet is not without honor save in his own country and in his own house." If they kill off all the groundhogs up that way now how remorseful they will be on February 2 of next year, when there will be no furry prophet to tell them what kind of weather is coming! — [Pittsburg Chronicle-Telegraph.

Hard Luck

"Why, Son," exclaimed Venus, "what's the matter?"

The Dog Show

LOS ANGELES, Sept. 6.—[To the Editor of The Times:] I attended the dog show at the Alhambra Carnival a few days ago, and was very sorry I did so, as I saw several dogs that were suffering with a skin disease, and all of them were suffering from the intense heat. In fact, one dog was prostrated from the heat.

I think it cruel to have dog shows when the weather is so hot. A person who would put their dogs in a show this hot weather (just to get a prize or for anything else) does not love the dog. It is nothing but commercialism.

MRS. MAY BONN.

Natural Law

LOS ANGELES, Sept. 7.—[To the Editor of The Times:] In the first chapter of his great work, The Outline of History, H. G. Wells remarks that for the most part space is emptiness. A question arises as to whether this premise is correct. Nature abhors a vacuum, we are told. Would she, therefore create and maintain what is abhorrent? It would seem, rather, that throughout her boundless realms there is something everywhere.

The most important product, and that to which all other products trend to minister, is life. Nature conserves life, in its lower forms by prolification, and its higher forms of life depends more and more upon intelligence and greater range of adaptability, and finally, in the processes of selection, is able to survive physical dissolution.

Life, from its lowest to its highest manifestation, is continually changing to suit its environment and the urge to better attainment. As Mr. Wells says, "there is no finality in adaptation."

It is believed that our little world is the only planet in our solar system, at least, that is favorable to the sustenance of life at the present time, some of the others being too hot and some too cold to make life, as we know it possible. This no doubt is true, yet life on our earth was begun in a very hot environment, in the water to which it was no doubt compelled to stay for ages, then to swampy land where it existed in and out of the water, finally being able to sustain itself on dry land, in air, etc. And as the physical environment of life is continually being enlarged so also is that of the mind. "No pent-up Utica restricts our powers, but the whole boundless universe is ours." By the aid of science the mind is enabled to make excursions farther and farther into illimitable space, and gain some knowledge of the suns, planets and systems that are constantly being discovered as instruments are being invented or improved. Also knowledge predicated upon what is discoverable in the elements and environments with which we are intimately surrounded.

A direct electric current of 200 to 300 volts low frequency is quite dangerous to life when passed through the body, yet a current of many times the voltage, changed to alternating, high frequency, has been experimented with, causing no injury but rather beneficial effect. It is the theory, we believe, that the vibrations being so much higher than those of the nervous system do not have any violent effect upon it. The sun and some of the planets are in a state of incandescence, metals and other elements exist only in a gaseous state. It is believed that no life could exist on any of them. But may it not be possible that heat vibrations, like those of electricity, (and light vibrations we know) may be so high as not to affect the nerves, and that sentient beings might exist even in such an environment, for "where there's a will there's a way," and we must remember that there is no finality in adaptation. Nature is a great economist, does not hold infinite space in a state of "void" nor countless world's without life, her most precious jewel which she will ever find a way to perpetuate and protect, and to make it ever more abounding and progressive.

Question: What is Augustus Thomas's new job called?

Z. B. O.

Answer: The position which has been created for Mr. Thomas with the Producing Manager's Association has the official title "Executive Chairman." His work in the stage world will be similar to that of Will Hays in filmdom.

Q.: In a golf tournament at match play why can't I waive a rule or the enforcement of a penalty against my opponent if I want to be a "good sport?"

W. W. J.

A.: Not only can you not waive a rule or a penalty, but your opponent can not accept such generosity on your part. The reason for this is that such action might determine the result of the match. Every other player in the tournament is directly affected by the result of your match. For example, to waive a penalty might favor a stronger player, which would be to the disadvantage of the other player in the succeeding match, or it might favor a weaker player, which would be correspondingly to the advantage of the player next to meet him.

Q.: It is more economical to make bread than it is to buy it-

J. L. S.

A.: When material, fuel and labor are considered the price differs very little. If the housewife places no value on her time and if the stove be hot anyway, it is more economical to make bread at home.

Q.: Why was sturgeon known as "Albany beef?" D. H. A.

A.: Seventy-five years ago sturgeon were so plentiful in the Hudson River that they were eaten instead of meat by the poor. After the Civil War this fish rose in favor and popularity. The price advanced from 3 to 4 cents a pound to the present price which is about 75 cents a pound when any is put on the market.

Q.: Are the locks at Sault Ste Marie controlled by the State of Michigan or the United States?

B. F. L.

A.: Only part of the locks are on the American side of St. Mary's River. When the American canal was first opened in 1855 it was controlled by the State of Michigan. In 1881 the control was transferred to the Federal government.

Q.: Has the idea of the Covenant died out among the Scotch?

L. A.

A.: This term denoted association of bands of Scotch people who undertook to support each other in times of danger or to maintain some principle. As lately as 1912 a Covenant was drawn up. This one was a protest of the Scotch Presbyterians of Ulster against the Irish Home Rule Bill introduced by the Liberal government under Mr. Asquith.

A.: The brain of man is usually heavier than that of woman, although at birth and at the age of fourteen the female brain is heavier. The average weight of the adult male's brain is about forty-eight ounces and of the female about forty-three and a half ounces. Weight of brain, however, has no direct relationship with intelligence.

FEWER SPUDS EATEN

Hot Spell Blamed For Glut in Potato Market

The humble potato, the toothsome potato, the indispensable potato, is a glut in the market. It seems that we don't eat so many potatoes in the summer time. And most of us never realized the fact that in hot weather we're satisfied with one potato where in cold weather we devour three or four.

Anyhow, the demand for potatoes in New York took a sudden slump last week and the wholesale price dropped to 1 cent a pound. William H. Stanton, head of the fruits and vegetables division of the United States Market Department, explained the glutted market by the lapse of public appetite for potatoes in August weather, and restaurateurs confirmed his diagnosis.

One restaurant man said that when the weather was very warm he ordered his chef to cook smaller quantities of potatoes. He couldn't explain why the potato was a cold-weather vegetable.

However, it's permissible to guess that some useful little instinct warns us against too many potatoes in summer because a potato is chiefly starch and water, and starch is a fuel food, one that gives us heat and energy, which are the very things we don't want in August. Moreover, starchy foods, like potatoes and bread, can only be digested in the mouth, by much chewing. Without it they just ferment inside a fellow. And who wants to chew in August?—[New York Sun.

WOMEN SMASH FOOTBOARDS

The latest indictment against woman is that she dislocates the driver's footboard of her husband's car while riding on the front seat with him by jamming her small foot down on an imaginary brake every time some obstacle looms ahead. Of course it's because the adorable sex is so intense, so sympathic, so quick in its reactions, so incapable of being a mere looker on when there's anything to be done.

Every fellow who has ever enjoyed the felicity in pre-automobile days of driving some irresistible girl in a runabout or a buggy recalls ruefully some occasion when the fair one thought he needed help and impulsively grabbed the lines.

Careless men have been moved to shocking profanity by that particular feat of helpfulness, friendships have been ruptured and engagements broken. Fortunatey it isn't so easy to grab the wheel of an automobile, and the most emotional of women would hesitate to try; but baffled helpfulness finds an escape valve in a sudden and violent downward pressure of the fair one's foot on the imaginary brake, and after a while the car has to go to the repair shop to have the footboard repaired.

JUST NATURAL

Some youngsters were playing a game which consisted of everybody in the room making a face, the boy making the worst face to receive a prize. Every boy, it appeared, was doing his level best. The boy acting as master of ceremonies finally went up to one of the most diminutive lads present and said:

"Well, Harry Peters, I guess you have won the prize."

WOMAN'S CLUB HEARS DEBATE

Osteopathic Initiative Bill Bone of Contention

Both Sides Represented in Platform Battle

Questions Put from Floor Rouse Discussion

"What we have heard of you—your ability to ask questions and your knowledge of all measures to be voted upon on election day—makes us speakers hold you in awe," said Dr. T. F. Ratledge, chiropractor, speaking at the regular meeting of the Woman's City Club yesterday on the initiative measure concerning chiropractic to appear upon the ballot November 7.

From this opening sentence of the first speaker to the fall of the gavel for adjournment feeling ran higher and higher throughout the session.

Hisses at intervals, laughter both scornful and amused, prolonged applause from one quarter, dissent from others, threats of breaking the law if certain initiative measures were not passed, loud protests against what was termed the "Autocracy of the drug doctors"—all these and other demonstrations interrupted the talks of the guests from the platform and the remarks of members from the floor. So intense was the interest that twice by overwhelming vote the session was prolonged that the questions and answers might continue.

An apparently harmless, innocent-looking question of debate developed into a matter of life and death. The question was the passage of the Chiropractic and Osteopathic initiative measures to come before the people of California at the next election, and the speakers themselves added to the drama of the afternoon. They were: Dr. Ratledge, favoring the intitiative measure in regard to his profession; Dr. H. W. Forbew, Osteopathist, favoring another initiative measure which will if passed, grant the right to Osteopathists to practice without being controlled by a medical board; Dr. Walter V. Brehm, representing the League for the Conservation of Public Health, opposing both measures and Mrs. William P. Cunningham, Christian Scientist, who presided and spoke.

HURLS CHALLENGE

In the midst of the debate Mrs. Alma Kelley Hayes, a long-time member, and well known, stepped forward to the high platform. She clung to the shield of one of the footlights and said with voice full of emotion that for over fifty years she had not seen a well day, that she had tried every sort of remedy and doctor, she had read Mary Baker Eddy and still she was not well.

"Now," she said, "to settle all this I offer myself to any one of you three doctors or all of you to do with me what you want and see which one of you can make me well."

Cries of "question, question" came from all over the house and Mrs. Cunningham said:

"I am sure it is not necessary to repeat her question, but I will tell this audience for her that here is a woman who has been in poor health, as she says, for fifty years. May I not assure her for all of you that she has your sympathy and wishes for her happiness and cure?"

"Why do doctors raise their fee for attendance when a child is born, from $15 to $75 in the last few years and then fight against birth control?" was the question of Mrs. D. Van Dyke from the floor, which Dr. Brehm answered by saying that the rate for doctors' fees was too complicated to explain in the time allotted to him.

"Why don't you allow osteopaths to practice in the hospitals?" was answered by Dr. Brehm with the reminder that only those who had helped build the hospitals and who had had fundamental education to know how to diagnose were safe to practice in hospitals.

"Is it not true that doctors are large shareholders in undertaking parlors throughout California?" was the next shot, which Dr. Brehm met with the laughing reply, "I surely am not and I don't know any who are."

OSTEOPATH SPEAKS

Dr. Forbes with his succinct and direct appeal created a favorable impression for the justice of his cause when he said:

"The one and only issue upon which we ask the people to vote is: Shall the existing good medical law, which requires identically the same education and State examination for the osteopaths and the drug doctors, be administered with equal fairness to them and to us.

"No. 20 does not change the existing standards and law. It changes only the administration of this law. It provides simply and only that the Governor and a self-sustaining board of competent osteopaths selected by him, shall carry out the provisions of the existing, and any future laws, that the Legislature may enact, to regulate osteopathy. All that we ask is a change of venue from a board of drug doctors, to the Governor and a board of osteopaths which must operate without expense to the taxpayers.

"The existing medical practice act is strictly non-partisan. Its administration by the drug doctors is deadly partisan. The osteopathic profession championed the enactment of this law. We left Sacramento in 1913, believing that at last California had a medical law that would govern all systems with impartial justice. The Legislature had written into this law a definite standard, requiring of the graduates of both the osteopathic and the drug school that they must have had the same five years of preliminary and four years of specified professional education before they could take the State examination for licenses, and that they must both pass the same examination for licenses to practice.

HOPED FOR END OF FIGHT

"The Legislature believed, and we fondly hoped that this law would put an end to the biennial medical fight at Sacramento.

"We were quickly disillusioned. We soon discovered to our sorrow, as many other citizens, under the rule of other boards have discovered, that the law is one thing and its administration by a board is an entirely different thing.

"The board appointed to administer this law was composed of eight drug doctors and two osteopaths. Seven votes rule the board. This board refused to even examine our graduates for the license their education entitled them to receive."

Dr. Ratledge said that the bill proposed by his profession would not create a board to add to the taxes but that it would be supported by the examination fees and licenses issued. "The bill," he said, "does not ask any one of you to be treated our way, it only asks that thousands in the State who do want it may have it without resorting to illegal ways of obtaining it. We have no opposition except from the medical profession, who say that we have not the fundamentals of medical knowledge nor can we diagnose. We do more than diagnose, for we think that is not enough. We analyze. We leave out chemistry study of surgery and materia medica, but in every other particular our standards are as high as the M. D.'s and we add more to our retquired study than they do."

Dr. Brehm maintained throughout his talk of rebuttal that those opposing the two measures simply stood for a proper fundamental education for those who had the lives of patients in their hands. When he answered questions and came back to those two words, "fundamental education," he was met by laughter until at last he said calmly:

"I had thought the people were for education, and women particularly. Your laughter shows that you are not. When you are through laughing I will proceed with what I have to say." Then Mrs. Cunningham, with her different sort of calm and decorum, came forward.

"I am sure, Dr. Brehm, the members of this club, who are intelligent citizens, are not laughing at fundamental education, but they laugh because during the last few years there has grown such a wide divergence of opinion as to just what is included in fundamental education," and the president received more applause than anyone else at any time. But the applause was something in the nature of applause for a favorite child, ignoring a guest in the house.

Diet and Health

IS VACCINATION HARMLESS?

In the antivaccination literature not only are facts which show how vaccination has prevented smallpox suppressed, but isolated cases of the harm done by vaccination are given with the inference that these are common occurrences. Thus the danger from vaccination is enormously magnified.

However, vaccination is not always harmless any more than a scratch of any kind is harmless. We have heard of pin pricks and razor scratches and the cutting of corns resulting in death. The danger from the scratch caused in making a vaccination is due to the same reason for such accidents—that unless proper care is taken, the scratch may become infected.

Most of the infections after vaccination occur in those who have neglected the wound and in whom the regard for cleanliness is slight.

Before the government inspection of vaccine was installed and before the extreme care and cleanliness which is now used in the manufacture of vaccine was practiced, sometimes the vaccine itself cause infection. Now, however, a bad sore arm is a rare occurrence and serious complications still rarer. Compared to the benefits given by vaccination the dangers are infinitesimal.

There have been a few cases of tetanus following vaccination. The fact that lack of care is the biggest factor in these few cases is shown by the figures from the United States Army and Navy which show a record of millions of vaccinations without a single case of tetanus.

Special tests for tetanus of every lot of vaccine before it is placed on the market are now required by Federal regulation. If, with the care that is used in preparing the vaccine, there is proper care after vaccination, there is no danger from tetanus.

In more than 5,000,000 consecutive vaccinations in England, Acland says there was but one case of tetanus, and in this one case there was no evidence that it was in the vaccine.

When human vaccine was used it was shown that syphilis and tuberculosis and other disease might be transmitted, but this you do not have to think of at all for the vaccine that is used now is bovine vaccine.

I would not mention these complications at all were they not so grossly exaggerated in the antivaccination literature. However, it is just as well for you to know that there is a danger if you allow the wound to become dirty and infected—just as there is a danger in allowing any wound to become dirty and infected.

Now let me give you some reasons why we know that having cowpox—probably a modified form of smallpox, but one which is very mild and nondangerous—will cause your system to manufacture a defense which will protect you against the dangerous and loathsome and many times fatal form of smallpox.

I gave you the figures in a previous article about the terrible total of deaths in the Philippines. Fifty thousand deaths have occurred there during the last few years. Ninety-three per cent of these were among the unvaccinated and only 7 per cent among the vaccinated. This 7 per cent might not have died had it not been that a very virulent strain of smallpox had developed among the unvaccinated producing an infection which the ordinary immunity was unable to combat. When the effective systematic vaccination was re-established in 1918 smallpox again disappeared.

Here are a few other figures which show how vaccination protects. In Sweden, where there is a compulsory vaccination law, the average death is one per million of population and in Spain, where there is no compulsion, nearly 1000 to the million.

April 8, 1874, Germany passed a general vaccination and revaccination law. In 1897 there were but eight deaths from smallpox in the entire German Empire, population 54,000,000. In 1913 there were only ninety cases, of which thirty-nine were foreigners. During the World War, because of the large number of Russian prisoners, there was a marked increase of smallpox in the civil population. But in the huge German army there were only two deaths from smallpox from 1874—1914. One of these was a reservist who had not been successfully vaccinated. There are many other figures that I could give you of different countries, but these will suffice.

A BECOMING DRESS FOR THE YOUNG MISS.

Two-tone effects are found to be equally as becoming to the growing girl as her elders. EGGS go to school this week

Following are a few suggestions from our EGG Recipe Contest that are particularly suitable for the school lunch box:

DEVILED EGGS
Hard boil as many eggs as needed. Place in cold water to loosen shells. Carefully remove shells. Cut the eggs lengthwise. Place the yolks in a mixing bowl and add a teaspoon of mustard, half a spoon pepper, a little red pepper, a teaspoon salt, 1 tablespoon butter, a teaspoon sugar and 3 tablespoons vinegar. Mash and stir till smooth. Fill the whites. Hold eggs together with toothpicks.
Mrs. W. G. Buffinger, 1444 Norton Ave.

STUFFED EGGS
Boil 4 eggs until hard. When cool, cut piece off top. Remove yolk and rub smooth, adding skinned and boned sardines (2 sardines for 4 eggs.) salt, pepper, butter and a bit of parsley. Replace mixture, dip in egg and cracker crumbs and fry to a light brown in deep lard.
Viola Graf, 1938 Argyle St.

PICKLED EGGS
Boil beets till tender. Clean, slice and place in a stone jar. Cover with vinegar into which has been dissolved 2 tablespoons sugar. Let stand until cold. Boil eggs 15 minutes. Remove shells and place eggs in beet vinegar, making sure that whole of eggs are covered. Let stand over night and they are ready for eating in the morning.
Miss Meda Anderson, 413 W. Seventy-Third St.

HARD BOILED EGGS
"If you desire eggs that are dry, mealy and tender, and that actually melt in your mouth, just drop them carefully into a teakettle of boiling hot water, after turning out the fire. Allow to remain 18 to 20 minutes and you will be delighted with the result."
Mrs. Laura Williams, 1448 Orchard Place.

EGG SANDWICHES
Chop fine 2 hard boiled eggs. Add about 4 tablespoons of olives, chopped fine. Season to taste and add olive oil to moisten. Spread on bread. For variation use minced sardines instead of olives.
Mrs. E. Plath, 225 West Ave. 38.

KIMONA SANDWICHES
Chop 2 sweet green peppers, 2 hard boiled eggs, 1 cream cheese and 1 small onion. Season to taste. Prepare the following dressing: 1 tablespoon sugar, 1 egg, 1 tablespoon butter, 2 tablespoons hot vinegar, ½ cup cream or milk, 1 tablespoon flour. Cook dressing separately and when cool add to first mixture. Spread on bread.

EGG AND HAM SANDWICHES
Mrs. H. A. Matthews, 3343 East First St.

FRIED EGG SANDWICHES
Between 2 slices of bread put 1 thin slice tomato, 1 thin slice cucumber, 2 well-fried strips bacon, 1 well-fried egg and a leaf of lettuce. Add French mustard if desired.
M. Boscha, 137 N. Benton Way.

EGG KISSES

TECHNIC SCHOOL PLANS OPENING

New Building Being Put Up at Pasadena

Grandson of Darwin Will be on Faculty

Registration Will Open on September 22

By a "Times" Staff Correspondent
[EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH.]

PASADENA, Sept. 11.—California Institute of Technology opens its doors September 26, and preparations for that event at the rapidly-growing institution were in full blast today. The faculty is returning from vacation and summer work and the campus is taking on signs of its customary fall activity. Registration begins September 22, and a large opening class is expected.

There are two notable additions to the faculty, who begin work this fall. They are Dr. Richard Chase Tolman, who will take the chair of physical chemistry and mathematical physics, and Dr. Charles G. Darwin, who will be professor of mathematical physics. Dr. Tolman for several years has been director of the Fixed Nitrogen Laboratory of the Department of Agriculture at Washington. Before that he taught at the University of California and at Massachusetts Institute of Technology. He is one of the foremost men of his line.

Dr. Darwin is a grandson of Charles Darwin. His father, George Darwin, was a noted geologist, and Dr. Darwin himself has won fame in England for his work in physics. He comes direct from the staff of Cambridge University. The date of his arrival is uncertain, as he is making the trip by South America. Dr. Tolman will arrive this week.

Two new buildings are under construction. One of them is a high-voltage laboratory, which is being erected jointly by California Technic and the Southern California Edison Company, and will be under their joint operation. Here investigations will be made of methods of high-tension transmission of power and fundamental research in electrical discharges and breaking down of atoms. Transformers which will develop a voltage of 1,000,000 are being built for the laboratory at the Westinghouse plant.

This building will be on the California-street side of the campus, south of the administration building, and directly east of the Norman Bridge laboratory. It will be similar in general appearance to the Norman Bridge laboratory. Excavations for the foundation are nearly completed, and it is hoped to have the building ready for occupancy about the middle of the school year.

The other building is an extension of the Norman Bridge laboratory on the west to house the Norman Bridge library. This building will be completed about the same time, it is expected.

No development will be made this fall of the eight-acre addition to the campus on the east. This will eventually be used for tennis and handball courts and a gymnasium. The building now on it will be converted for use as a faculty club. For major athletics, Caltech will continue to use Tournament Park. A block of about 3000 seats for the use of Caltech was left standing when the main grandstand was torn down this summer and these will supply the present need, it is expected.

This Bird's Car With Tick Tires is Real Puzzler

"The bird didn't pay for the car and the guy took it back, the new tires, also not paid for, on it.

"The geezer who sold the tires wanted to levy an attachment on them. The new tires being on the machine, which was not being levied on, could the constable take the tires off?

"If he levied on the tires, could the owner of the machine bring action against him?

"Couldn't the owner of the car claim the tires as being a part of it?"

Deputy County Counsel Sterry started back to the Stone Age when the first law was chiseled out and is working up through years of statutes to solve the problem.

ADVERTISING CLUB WILL MEET TODAY

IDA McGLONE GIBSON TO BE PRINCIPAL SPEAKER AT GATHERING

The second regular weekly meeting and luncheon of the Los Angeles Advertising Club for the 1922-23 season, will be held at noon today in the ballroom of the Alexandria. Paul S. Armstrong, advertising manager for the Southern California Fruit Growers' Association, will act as chairman.

C. M. C. Raymond, executive secretary for the club, states that a very interesting program has been arranged. The principal speakers will be W. L. Pollard, institutional director of Hamburger's, and Ida McGlone Gibson, publicist. John Claire Monteith of Portland, concert baritone, accompanied by Henry Murtagh, Grauman organist, will provide the music.

ROBBERS RAID MINE OFFICE

CHAPTER II

Blackstone Service

A Specialization

THAT there may be a full measure of mutual confidence and to promote that very necessary feeling of security in relations between store and customer, it should be clearly understood, now and for all time, by everyone, who has or ever expects to have the slightest interest in Blackstone's, that HIGHLY SPECIALIZED SERVICE in the distribution of fine wearing apparel and personal accessories, is the firm and unshakable platform upon which Blackstone's stands in all its dealings with the public. To the faithful, satisfactory and continued performance of this all-important function the Blackstone organization is pledged.

—Entering into the consideration and adoption of a policy of service that would have the unqualified and widespread approval of the community, came first of all, the three great essentials in successful modern merchandising—THE VALUE OF STYLE—THE VALUE OF QUALITY—THE VALUE OF ATTRACTIVE PRICING.

—Our efforts in the solution of these vital problems of retail business, which are of more than ordinary interest to practically all womankind, have materialized in the fact that there need not be, and will not be, any extra charge for expert Blackstone style service—that quality must and shall be the foundation of everything that Blackstone's sells—that a lower price for that which is dependable and desirable in every way is the closing argument in every transaction.

—Nearly every woman, at some time or other, has regretted the purchase of a style after the time period for returning it has elapsed; nearly every woman has known disappointment in the matter of quality and there are few women who cannot recall having paid an exorbitant price for some particular piece of merchandise.

—Blackstone specialty service is so organized that such disagreeable incidents will be conspicuous only through, as near as is humanly possible, their complete elimination.

Throngs Cheer Departure of Great Steamer

ISLAND SERVICE IS INAUGURATED

ISLAND HOPE FULFILLED

The S.S. City of Los Angeles as she passed the ships of all nations in the harbor represented more than an achievement for the Port of Los Angeles. For she is the largest ship under the American flag in the Pacific trade, and the S.S. City of Honolulu is nearly as large. Both ships were North German Lloyd liners in the trans-Atlantic service, interned in the war, used as troop transports and later assigned to the east coast South American trade. But through the united efforts of Los Angeles citizens they were allocated to the Los Angeles Steamship Company, already operating the S.S. Yale and S.S. Harvard in the coastal service.

The service is a fulfillment of a promise made by Chamber of Commerce excursionists to Honolulu in 1917. The Americans of Hawaii are eager for the service, which will mean they will have a more direct outlet for their fruit, that Los Angeles manufacturers will have first shot at Hawaiian trade, and that Los Angeles as a port will get a vast busines from Hawaiian shipments from eastern points.

The S.S. City of Honolulu will sail on the 23rd inst., and each ship thereafter will leave from Los Angeles and Honolulu every second Saturday of the month, with six days of passage and eight in port. The S.S. City of Honolulu is lying in the harbor getting her coat of white paint, which will make her appear as a sister-ship of the S.S. City of Los Angeles. The vessels are being painted white with black smokestacks. They have been overhauled, and their staterooms and cabins are comfortable and handsome. Each vessel has an unusually large refrigerator hold so as to bring Hawaiian pineapples here and take California oranges to the islands.

FRUIT CARGO TAKEN

The S.S. City of Los Angeles left yesterday with thirty-two kinds of California fruit in her hold. While the Hawaiians have plenty of pineapples, bananas and other tropical fruits, they have a tooth for California fruits. The bulk of the cargo was oil, 8000 tons of it, sent by the Standard Oil Company here under a contract with the new service. There also was a large pipe organ from Van Nuys for the Princess Theater of Honolulu.

The S.S. City of Honolulu already has 100 passengers booked and almost a full cargo. The S.S. City of Los Angeles will return with a cargo of fruit.

Just before the big ship sailed this telegram, addressed to Herbert Hanlon, publisher of Pacific Ports, came from A. D. Lasker, chairman of the United States Shipping Board:

"Every tie that binds together the citizens of the United States wherever they may live is a step in better government and an augur of prosperity. The establishment of the direct steamship line between Los Angeles and Honolulu is an achievement worthy of the highest commendation. I send my congratulations to those responsible for the progressive development in sea transportation and my sincere hopes for an even more successful issue than Los Angeles and Honolulu even dream of now."

President Fredericks made this reply:

"The Los Angeles Chamber of Commerce desires to express appreciation of the Shipping Board's co-operation in inaugurating most modern direct connection between Los Angeles and Hawaii. We believe our enterprising citizens backing this project will develop it into one of the important trade arteries of the world. As the leading population center of the Pacific Coast, Los Angeles is winning recognition as trade center of world and we believe our future development in overseas shipping will be source of pride to board as well as ourselves. Many thanks for your kind expression."

The excursionists will be back on October 1. They will arrive on the 17th inst. at Hilo, leave there the next day; arrive at Kahului on the 19th; leave on the next day and then spend five days at Honolulu. Elaborate preparations have been made to entertain the visitors with trips to see Hawaii's wonders, and the Angelenos will do their best to welcome the Hawaiian business men on the S.S. City of Los Angeles, which will be their home throughout the trip. They will sail from Honolulu on the 25th inst.

Fred L. Baker, president, and Ralph Chandler, general manager of the Los Angeles Steamship Company, are making the trip, and the passenger list contains the names of men high in industry and business here and in other cities of the Southland. They want to know their new business associates of Hawaii, and the Hawaii people want to know their new neighbors.

The complete passenger list, to which there were several eleventh-hour additions, follows:

Seeking to Ban Useless Noises on City Streets

George A. Hart headed a delegation of Los Angeles hotel owners that appeared before the Public Safety Committee of the City Council yesterday afternoon. They urged that something be done to subdue, tone down and otherwise soften the shouts of newsboys on the downtown street corners. The hotel men say it is keeping the hotel guests awake and otherwise disturbing the peace and quiet of the city.

Councilmen Allan, Conaway and Mallard, of the committee, agreed with the hotel men and instructed the City Attorney to prepare an ordinance prohibiting, "loud, unnecessary noises" in Los Angeles. The original complaint came from C. H. McIntosh, a guest at the Hotel Alexandria, who said that the newsboys' yells on the street made sleep impossible.

The ordinance, if adopted, will prohibit such unnecessary noises as those made by the automobilist who toots his horn continuously to show his disgust at being held up in traffic jams, to motormen who clang their bells unnecessarily and to other makers of useless and unnecessary city noises.

AWNING SAVES LIFE

Breaks Fall of Workman in Three-Floor Drop

An open awning yesterday perhaps saved the life of Frank Berko, aged 30 years, a window cleaner. Berko was cleaning the outside of windows on the third floor of the Forrester Building at 640 South Broadway when he lost his balance and fell backwards toward the pavement.

As crowds of people stopped in amazement to watch, Berko struck the awning, hung there for a moment then fell to the sidewalk. In the fall from the awning to the sidewalk Berko suffered a broken leg and concussion of the brain. He was given emergency treatment at the Receiving Hospital.

SEATTLE NOT TO BE FLAGSHIP

Reports Confirmed That Pryoon Will Soon Head Pacific Fleet

By a "Times" Staff Correspondent
[EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH.]

LONG BEACH, Sept. 11.—Denial of reports to the effect that the cruiser Seattle, now out of commission at the Puget Sound navy yard, will become the flagship of Rear-Admiral Chase, commander of the Pacific Fleet train at Los Angeles Harbor, was made aboard the Admiral's present flagship, the Connecticut, today. The original plan of the Navy Department to have the Connecticut relieved of flagship duty by the U.S.S. Procyon, now fitting out at Mare Island, will be carried out, it was said. A large number of the officers of the Connecticut, however, will be transferred to the Seattle to fit that vessel out for service as flagship of the Asiatic squadron. The Seattle will relieve the Huron, present American flagship in Asiatic waters, it was reported.

Capt. Stone, his executive officer; Lieut.-Commander John Schelling and a number of the division and engineering officers of the Connecticut will go to the Seattle. When the Procyon arrives at Los Angeles Harbor to relieve the Connecticut she will come with a complement of officers, the majority of them being new to the Pacific Fleet, it was stated.

Since under Navy regulations no ships lighter than dreadnaughts and battle cruisers may carry a marine guard, the present marine guard of the Connecticut will not be transferred to the Procyon, but the officers and men will be distributed among the shore stations and ships of the Pacific.

SALVATION ARMY'S SUMMER CAMP ENDS

THOUSAND MOTHERS AND THEIR CHILDREN GRANTED OUTING THERE

The best year for the Salvation Army's recreation and summer camp at Redondo Beach has just ended, it was announced by Brig. C. R. Boyd yesterday. Brig. Boyd is the Los Angeles commandant of the Salvation Army.

According to reports furnished by Adjt. and Mrs. Rogers, under whose care the beach summer camp became so popular that 1000 poor mothers and their children asked for and were granted an outing during the past season, increased facilities will be needed next summer if the record of the Salvation Army is to be maintained.

About 22,000 meals were served this season at the camp.

BOBBY TELLS IT

SHE OF THE CLIPPED MANE BROADCASTS CRITICISM

By Grace Kingsley

She was about 18, and she had the sauciest bobbed hair in the world. She sat next to me, and her prattle obligato trickled along as the Orpheum bill ran on. She said she'd "broadcast it to the world." So I'm letting her do it.

"If it isn't little Max Fisher, or I'll fletcherize my sombero! So this is Hollywood! Remember how he used to page the tears out on C. B. DeMille's set; And now look at him: Hair combed and everything. Listen! Isn't he the little old Ysaye or Tin Pan Alley? I'll say so. Maybe his music isn't classic, but it's classy. And his band—not a single hitch in their getalong.

"Oh, kid, Theodore Roberts!—Sh!—My bobbed locks are on end! Enter Jennings the villain! Been doing ground and lofty villaining many years, now Attaboy! Soak him, Theodore! Get the good old psychoanalysis to fermenting! Do your stuff, Teddy! Listen to the villun—'For awsa why don't that clock strike? The suspense is killing me. Will the bomb go off? It will not. He's dead of automobile suggestion! Well, well, ain't that the pig's pancakes?—Yest, certainly our Theodore can act!

"Say, I claim exemption on this dancing-talking-singing stuff. Marmein Sisters are regular peaches. They'd make Solomon sit up late. Their dancing—isn't it the parrot's pants? But there's an impediment in the joy. Why sing and talk? Did you know they're going to donate a dancing lesson to a dumb world after the matinee tomorrow? Sure as income tax.

"I'll broadcast it to the world Connie O'Donnell is a cute muchacho. He don't have to do his stuff. He just be's. Frank Hurst is all right, too. Only I can't stand that synthetic singing of his.

"Here are Lloyd and Devoe with the old trade-mark bit about the Queen's bath. Funny enough? I'll say. I haven't been able to laugh it off since I was in kindergarten. I've the giggling blues.

"Regular loving-cup steppers, those Oakes and Delour dancers, neat, dainty, sling in a couple more sweet words. Take the whole dictionary, I should worry. And Lew Dockstader, second run from last week, but always welcome.

MAE MURRAY FIGURES TO ENCIRCLE GLOBE

Planning nothing less than encircling the globe, making pictures as she goes, is the present project of Mae Murray, Metro star, and her husband and director, Robert Leonard, who arrived yesterday from New York.

Miss Murray came west to film "Coronation." That is, the picture will be started here, but it will be finished somewhere in Europe. In fact "Coronation" starts a new series of pictures for the star, most of which will be made abroad.

This is Miss Murray's first visit since she left Universal about four years ago. She says she finds a lot of new landmarks, including the Ambassador Hotel, where she means to stop, with her husband. She has been making her pictures in New York, and expects to remain here only about four months. After that she will go to Florida for a short stay, and thence to Europe, where the final scenes of "Coronation" will be filmed, and where other pictures, as stated above, will be made. Mr. and Mrs. Leonard will visit Italy, France England, and possibly Germany.

A large party of friends was at the Santa Fe station yesterday to greet Miss Murray and Leonard. The minute she stepped from the train she was pelted with roses. Heading the reception delegation were E. A. Bostick, manager of Loew's Theater; Harry Lustig and Ben Rosenberg of Metro Pictures Corporation; Lewis Lewyn and others.

Included in the party which came westward were Rod La Roque, who will play opposite Miss Murray, Robert Ross, assistant director, and several other members of the pair's personal organization.

Last of King Comedies and More Variety

The latest, and positively last, Will King musical goulash at Pantages is better than some and not so good as others, but, on the whole, is not a bad farewell effect for King. The plot is, as usual, entirely negligible, the title, "What's Your Husband Doing?" being really as descriptive as need be. Bessie Hill and other favorites are well to the front.

The vaudeville per se leads off with the three Belmonts, who do clever stunts with hoops, and with an almost forgotten toy which used to be called "diavolo" or something like that.

Etai Lok Hoy, Chinese female impersonator, follows with a fair assortment of songs, one of which he says is in Chinese. It may be or may not be—probably no one in last night's audience was wise enough to tell—but, at any rate, it wasn't English and sounded exotic.

The photoplay feature is another R. N. W. M. P. story, with Buck Jones in the title role, "Trooper O'Neil." It is sufficiently murderous to please the most jaded taste, and the inevitable conflict between love and duty is played up well. Such pictures remind the reviewer of a bit of verse he once encountered—a brief thing, but one that deserves quotation:

"Willie to the movies went
To improve his mind.
He saw a lady kill a gent,
And came away refined."

REVIEWS

"ABRAHAM LINCOLN" DEEP STUDY OF CHARACTER

By Edwin Schallert

A crisis as vital as life and as deep as the world—a personality standing serene and firm in the midst of the storm—simple truth defying and overriding deceit and trickery and intrigue. Such is "Abraham Lincoln," depicting the national hurricane of the Civil War, and painting an idealized portrait of the master of the galleon of State, which played its first performance here last night at the Mason.

Curiously enough it is the work of an Englishman—John Drinkwater. Curiously and logically. Logically, because it really takes perspective to give vision to the creative mind. What the American author might not see in our history and our past, one from across the expanse of blue ocean may view and limn in all its flame of picturesqueness and power.

"Abraham Lincoln" opened the theatrical season here for plays which caravan across the States. Its reputation had preceded it from the East. It drew an audience representative of the city, both in the social and professional sphere. The reception was one of the highest respect for the ideal of character and thought, which any drama dedicated to America's great hero must arouse.

There was more than a fine show of esteem for the actor in the applause which greeted the first entrance of Frank McGlynn as Lincoln. The ovation was significant of the idolship in which a potent and heroic national figure is held, which idolship never, undoubtedly, for any except a few, had previously had visible incarnation.

On the lighter side of the question, it might be mentioned that the presentation of "Abraham Lincoln" started more arguments about history than any other stage performance in local annals. The air was hot between the acts with discussions of the this and that of the leading figure, and the events of the play. Arguments waxed so warm that people who went to the theater friends, in a few cases left the theater sworn enemies. Such is the proximity of Lincoln and his time to the heart of America even to this day.

To classify Mr. Drinkwater's study of Abraham Lincoln as a play is almost sacrilege. A play is something nowadays constructed chiefly to amuse, and while this purpose of entertaining is not absent from Mr. Drinkwater's sketch of history, certainly it is not his main objective. That is rather something ideal, transcending even the time and events it delineates, striving to point to a certain goodness and righteousness, a fidelity to truth, and a countering of evil which is universal in meaning.

I would not accuse Mr. Drinkwater of preaching—no, although his use of a prologue for each scene is virtually that. He does, however, indicate a moral. His moral is more a mood hanging over his entire play composition than preachment. His "Abraham Lincoln" is in no sense obvious in its philosophy or purpose. Its chief appeal is throughout in the refreshing breath of its humanity, at times gaily delicious, again deeply poignant. And this combination of feeling with a fine intellectual process invests the play with the significance of the modern classic. Only one thing perhaps does not sustain this impression, and that is a somewhat vacillating impulse in the drama. It is fragmentary, episodic and inclined at times to weaken to the extent of tediousness.

The play actually begins with Lincoln's accepting of the nomination for Presidency at Springfield, in 1860. It takes us by successive stages through the beginning of the war, the emancipation proclamation and the close of the war, to the assassination of the President in Ford's Theater. The action is comprised in six scenes. The earlier ones are concerned with the struggles of Lincoln with dissension among the members of his Cabinet, and the later with his acclaim and his death.

Each of us, of course, has his own ideal of what Lincoln would be like. Many of us feel inclined to take exception to Mr. McGlynn's portrayal at some point or other. Either he does not bring us the anticipated drawl or awkwardness, or else is too negligibly the statesman and too much the man. The one best compliment that may be paid Mr. McGlynn's portrayal is that it grows on you. The reasons for exception to his idea of the character seem porportionately less as the play proceeds. I feel that he carries conviction gradually and consistently. This, in the instance, of a figure like Lincoln is a remarkable achievement.

Here and there throughout the cast one finds striking portraits of historic characters. None, perhaps, are beyond reproach from the expert, but the efforts merit respect, and sustain the illusion of the time. The impression conveyed by John W. Bennett as Seward, William Brady as Stanton, William Corbett as Burnett Hook seemed to me especially good. I was favorably, although not greatly, taken by Winifred Hanley's acting of Mrs. Lincoln. Deeply appealing was Jennie A. Eustace's work as Mrs. Otherly, the woman suffering from the war. She got the full sympathy from the role. Priscilla Knowles was effective as Mrs. Goliath Blow.

Many others might be mentioned in the cast which is large, even as the play in its force of events and their interpretation rises to greatness.

NEW PRODUCER AND NEW PRODUCTION

One need have no hesitancy in accepting the current Hi Jinks musical comedy, "Main Street Scandals," at the Burbank Theater as a criterion of the entertainment at that theater. In establishing a new producer Mr. Van Horn and in "Main Street Scandals," a travesty upon the doings of our W. K. thoroughfare, Burbank patrons are given a gay and ever moving music show.

"Main Street Scandals" is a revue type of show, along plot lines of the Passing Show or Follies. It has to do with such adventures and happenings as have made "Main Street" talked about during the past season, and incidentally affords each member of the Hi Jinks company an opportunity to shine individually.

CADMAN IS STAR IN GRAUMAN SHOW

There are musical and pictorial reasons why you will be carried at least in spirit to the land of lotus and cherry blossoms this week at Grauman's. Charles Wakefield Cadman is the source of the melodic inspiration, and Sid Grauman furnishes the magic carpet of setting. Mr. Cadman, well-known as the composer of songs and orchestral numbers, is appearing in a stage presentation of attractive quality. He is assisted by Margaret Messer Morris, dramatic soprano, and Jeannette Rogers, flutist. Together they render several selections from Mr. Cadman's song cycle of Nippon, called "Sayonara." To close the act they give "At Dawning" and other favored numbers of the composed. My only exception to the act was the singing of one of Mr. Cadman's American Indian songs in the oriental setting. But then in the picture emporiums one is inclined to make allowances for such fanciful excursions.

Thanks to the snow, the mountains, the cliffs and about 400,000,000 of film, more or less, the "Valley of Silent Men," the picture showing this week, may be set down as a large slice of entertainment. The story wanders all over the northern country, and is also by James Oliver Curwood, but most of it holds a good thrill interest and some of it is vastly exciting.

Most of all, I think, I was impressed with the revision in the personality of Lew Cody, who plays the straight, true and strong-hearted hero of the piece. He is so utterly different from the former creator of the he-vamp type, whatever that may have been. It has done Cody a lot of good to stay away from the screen to overcome that late unpleasantness, and return in a part which has really some bone and muscle. Cody is really a good enough actor to merit something better than cheap ultra-sophisticated pictures such as formery were his lot.

The lusciousness of Alma Ruben's beauty also shines out as one of the attractions of "The Valley of Silent Men." The richness of her dark hair and coally eyes becomes something glowingly tangible and real against the background of the snows.

Outside of the fact that he had celluloiditis, while making the film, and let it run on indefinitely, Frank Borzage, who directed, has captured some rare and wonderful shots of mountain scenery. We view a pageant of glacires, crevasses, snow-capped valleys and glowering cliffs. Remarkable locationing this.

This being the tag end of summer "The Valley of Silent Men" should have a share of popularity for the cool expanses that it brings to the eyes. It is a nature epic.

The plot by Curwood runs true to form for the most part. At least, it is freer from claptrap than some of his adventures in the frosted terrain of the Northwest Mounted Police. Of course, there is hokum—plenty of it. Everything makes so satisfactorily for the happy ending. But there is a touch of mystery here and theer that relives the heavy monotony of revenge, suspicion and final felicity.

Burlesque of Psychic Act Draws Hand

It's harder than usual to pick the star attraction at the Hillstreet this week, but careful record of the applause tendered each act would seem to award the emery-paper kimono to Barclay and Chain, who are back again with their burlesque mind-reading and several other things. That the stunts are really funny is proved by the fact that it is possible to laugh at them during a second seeing and hearing.

The Princess Radjah comes next as a close second. Her dances, not artistically remarkable are unusual enough by reason of a featured bull snake and their athletic quality to go over well. Of course, it is all hokum of a honky-tonky kind, but the Princess works so hard that one would be churlish to find fault with the hand she gets.

Other numbers on this bill are the Cartwright and Daniels miniature dance revues; Snell and Vernon, Heras and Wills and Janis and Chaplow.

The miniature revue is fair, inclined toward better in that part of it in which Peggy Cartwright figures. Her dancing is remarkably expressive for one so young, and her personality attractive. The act, however, needs pulling together, and the dances should be gone over with especial attention to tempo and climax.

Snell and Vernon put on a very fast aerial act. Heras and Wills offer a genuine novelty in acrobatics, which is both thrilling and funny—well worth staying to see. Janis and Chaplow present a good deal of very unfunny comedy.

PREPARE HERE FOR "ZENDA" PREMIERE

Virtually everything is readiness for the re-opening of Loew's State Theater Sunday under the motion-picture-only policy recently decided on by Marcus Loew, affecting his San Francisco and Los Angeles theaters.

E. C. Bostick, manager of Loew's State Theater, is supervising the rehearsals of the large group of players engaged for the elaborate prologue to be staged in conjunction with the premiere local showing of Rex Ingram's "The Prisoner of Zenda," which will be the first picture attraction.

Arrangements have been completed whereby every prominent member of the cast of "The Prisoner of Zenda," except Rex Ingram and Alice Terry, who are in New York, will be present Sunday evening. Lewis Stone, Barbara LaMarr, Robert Edeson, Edward Connelly, Stuart Holmes and others will be there.
